BONDED WAREHOUSE ACCOUNT.

QUANTITIES of the PRINCIPAL ARTICLES IMPORTED (subject to Duty) IN WAREHOUSE on 31st December 1863; RECEIVED INTO, and DELIVERED FROM WAREHOUSE in the Year 1864; and REMAINING IN WAREHOUSE on 31st December 1864, at the PRINCIPAL BONDING PORTS in the UNITED KINGDOM.

IN THE YEAR 1864.

NOTE.—As inaccuracies are sometimes supposed to occur in this Account, because discrepancies appear, if the Stock remaining in Warehouse be compared with the difference between the Total Imports of an Article and the subsequent Exports and Entries for Home Consumption, the following explanations are given to show that this Account is not susceptible of verification in the manner described :

In the compilation of the Bonded Warehouse Account, every document is used which substantiates a receipt or delivery under any circumstances, and this Account therefore presents an accurate view of the Stock in Warehouse both at the commencement and termination of the period which it embraces.

The column headed "Received into the Warehouse during the Year" includes :—

The Articles which, having been warehoused at one Port, were removed and re-warehoused at another ; and under the head of "Wine" it also includes the increase of quantity caused by the addition of Spirits for the purpose of fortifying the Wine in Warehouse.

The column headed "Delivered from the Warehouse during the Year" includes :—

The Articles which, having been warehoused at one Port, were removed and re-warehoused at another.

The Deliveries of the respective Articles for Home Consumption, on payment of Duty.

The Exports of the respective Articles, less the Quantities exported on Drawback or otherwise, subsequently to the payment of Duty.

The Quantities of certain Articles delivered free of Duty for removal to the Victualling Stores of Her Majesty's Dockyards, or for the use of the Officers of Her Majesty's Navy and Army ; and the Quantities delivered free of Duty to be used as Ships' Stores on board Merchant and Passenger Vessels, as shown in the Supplemental Account, p. 446.

The Quantities of Tea, Tobacco, Pepper, and other Articles taken out of Warehouse to be destroyed in cases of damage.

Under the head of "Brandy" the Quantities used in fortifying Wine in Bond.

Under the head of "Rum" the Quantities Mixed in Bond, with other Spirits, either British or Foreign, to be eventually exported under the denomination of "Mixed Spirits."

As regards the Quantities of Articles Entered for Home Consumption, which are shown in the General Import Account, it is to be remembered that they comprise the Quantities charged with Duty, and passed into consumption immediately on their delivery from the Ship, as well as the Quantities taken out of Warehouse for Home Consumption.

RETURNS FOR THE YEAR 1864,

Compiled by Order of Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department,

COMPRISING

1. Police and Constabulary.—STATEMENTS of the POLICE ESTABLISHMENTS and EXPENSES, and of the NUMBER of OFFENCES COMMITTED and OFFENDERS APPREHENDED: Also, STATEMENTS of the NUMBER of INQUESTS held by CORONERS.
2. Criminal Proceedings.—NUMBER of PERSONS COMMITTED for TRIAL at the ASSIZES and SESSIONS, with the RESULT of the PROCEEDINGS.
3. Prisons.—STATE of the PRISONS, NUMBER of PRISONERS, ESTABLISHMENTS, and EXPENSES, with RETURNS of REFORMATORY and INDUSTRIAL SCHOOLS, and of CRIMINAL LUNATICS.

PART I.

INTRODUCTORY AND EXPLANATORY REPORT.

Under each of the three divisions of Police, Criminal Proceedings, and Prisons, the first part of the Judicial Statistics for 1864 will be found to contain the usual information. The arrangement of the Tables is the same as was originally settled with the Approval of the Secretary of State, such variations having been made from time to time only in matters of detail as circumstances seemed to render desirable.

The calculations and comparisons in the preliminary part also are continued as in former years.

The Returns for twelve months are complete under each Division.

With regard to the Convict Prisons the period for which the Returns are made has been changed from the 29th September to the 31st March, the latter date being found more convenient, as the Prison Accounts are made up for the ordinary financial year, and not, as in the case of the local Prisons, to the 29th September.

POLICE AND CONSTABULARY.

POLICE AND CONSTABULARY.

The numbers of each of the different ranks composing the Police and Constabulary Forces in England and Wales, as shown in the returns for the year ended the 29th September 1864, are as follows :

Strength of the Force, (Table,
p. 1.)

Commissioners and Assistant Commissioners	-	-	4
Chief Constables of Counties	-	-	56
Head Constables of Boroughs	-	-	136
Superintendents	-	-	499
Inspectors	-	-	768
Serjeants	-	-	2,302
Constables	-	-	18,669
Additional Constables (appointed for special purposes)	-	-	236
Detective Officers	-	-	179
Total Police and Constabulary	-	-	22,849

As compared with the number for the preceding year the total shows an increase of 227, or 1 per cent. The Commissioner of Police of the Metropolis, the two Assistant Commissioners, the Commissioner of the City of London Police, and the Chief Constables of Counties or Divisions, remain as in preceding years. With respect to the other ranks, as compared with the numbers in 1863, there is an increase of six in Head Constables of Boroughs; a decrease of two in the number of Superintendents; an increase of 27 in the number of Inspectors; of 91 in the number of Serjeants; of 198 in the number of Constables; and of four in the number of Detective Officers. Under the head of Additional Constables a decrease of 97 appears. In explanation of this decrease, it is to be observed that the term Additional Constable properly applies only to Constables appointed for special purposes, pursuant to the 3rd & 4th Vict. c. 88., and placed under the orders of Chief Constables of Counties. In many of the boroughs a practice appears to prevail of employing occasionally in Police duties, men who at other times follow their different occupations; and these men have hitherto been included in the Borough Returns. They cannot, however, be considered as forming a part of the fully appointed and organized Police Force of the country, and are not recognized by Her Majesty's Inspectors, except as in the case of Manchester, where a certain number are constantly employed in special duties. In the City of London, also, 40 men are returned under this designation, being double the number for the previous year.

POLICE AND

By the exclusion of these men from the Returns for the past year, a reduction of 114 is made under the head of Additional Constables for Boroughs; while on comparing the numbers for the Counties, where the appointments are regular and acknowledged, an increase appears in 1864 of 17, leaving the total decrease, as compared with 1863, 97 as above stated.

Composition of the Force.

The following are the numbers composing the different Forces :—

Constables of Boroughs appointed under the Municipal Corporation Act of 1835	-	6,458
County Constables appointed under the Constabulary Acts of 1839 and 1840	-	8,335
Metropolitan Police Constables appointed under the Police Act of 1829	-	6,682
Her Majesty's Dockyard, &c. Police	-	725
Constables for the City of London appointed under the City Local Act of 1839	-	649
Total Police and Constabulary	-	22,849

The number of Borough Constables shown in the Table is less by 13 than the number for the preceding year. But for the exclusion of the Additional Constables the Borough Force would have shown an increase of 101.

The County Constables show an increase of 139, or less than 2 per cent.

The Metropolitan Police shows an increase of 92.

In the numbers of Her Majesty's Dockyard, &c. Police, no change has taken place. Of this Force, 555 are employed in the Dockyards, and 170 at the Military Stations. The number given for the preceding year as belonging to this Force included one Inspector, three serjeants, and 14 constables of the Metropolitan Police, constantly employed at Greenwich Hospital.

In the City of London Force there is an increase of one superintendent and 20 men, under the head of Additional Constables.

Proportion to Population.

In 1861, the total Police Force was in the proportion of one to 937 of the population calculated on the census of that year. Compared with the total number of the Police in that year, the strength of the Force in 1864 shows an increase of 1,436, or 6·7 per cent.; but the estimated increase of the population in 1864 amounts to about 635,000, or upwards of 3 per cent. on the number in 1861, and the total number of the Police Force in 1864 is in the proportion of one to 906 of the estimated population for that year. The increase in the Force therefore appears to have been more than in proportion to the increase of the population.

Costs of the Police,

The following are the total Police Costs for the year, as shown in the Table, under the different headings of,—

	£	s.	d.
Salaries and pay	1,268,713	19	11
Allowances and contingent expenses	36,066	11	10
Clothing and accoutrements	125,703	15	8
Superannuations and gratuities	78,655	1	7
Horses, harness, forage, &c.	33,931	10	2
Station-house charges, printing, stationery, &c.	127,141	3	8
Other miscellaneous charges	30,000	16	2
Total costs	£1,700,212	19	0

The total amount shows an increase of 41,947*l.* or 2·5 per cent. on the total for the preceding year, following an increase of 61,271*l.* 18*s.* 7*d.* in 1863, as compared with 1862, and of 17,771*l.* in the latter year, as compared with the year preceding it. Under salaries and pay there is an increase for the past year as compared with 1863, amounting to 20,395*l.* 10*s.* 6*d.* or 1·6 per cent. Under allowances and contingent expenses, of 100*l.* 2*s.* Under clothing and accoutrements there is a decrease of 6,274*l.* 16*s.* 6*d.*, or about 5 per cent. Under superannuations and gratuities there is an increase shown of 19,908*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.* above the amount stated for the preceding year. This heading appears to have been misunderstood in some instances and erroneous returns were made in former years; the correct amount, it is believed, has been ascertained for 1864. In the amount for horses, harness, forage, &c., there is an increase of 626*l.* 13*s.*, or 1·8 per cent. In the amount for station house charges, &c. there is an increase of 12,559*l.* 2*s.* 8*d.*, or nearly 11 per cent.; under other miscellaneous charges there is a decrease of 5,367*l.* 19*s.* 7*d.* or 17·8 per cent.

The average per man for the total number of the Police and Constabulary in 1864, as shown above, and in each of the five preceding years was as follows, as calculated upon the—

	Total Costs.	Salaries and Pay.	Clothing and Accoutrements.
1864	74 9 11	55 10 6	5 1 0
1863	73 6 0	55 4 6	5 16 8
1862	72 1 3	54 9 7	5 2 10
1861	73 15 0	55 0 11	5 8 3
1860	73 15 0	53 19 9	5 15 10
1859	72 2 0	53 13 0	5 1 0

The costs of each of the distinct Forces for the year ended the 29th September 1864, and the amounts contributed from the Public Revenue for each Force, were as follows:—

	Total Charge.	Contributed from Public Revenue.
Borough Police	435,218 11 9	86,163 19 7
County Constabulary	638,705 0 4	126,271 16 6
Metropolitan Police	527,248 3 8	143,128 19 8
Her Majesty's Dockyards Police	48,239 14 11	48,239 14 11
City of London Police	50,801 8 4	—
Total	£1,700,212 19 0	£403,804 10 8

In the cost of the Borough Police an increase appears, amounting to 17,337*l.* 6*s.* 5*d.*, or upwards of 4 per cent. upon the charge for 1863, there having been an increase in each of the three preceding years.

The cost of the County Constabulary shows an increase of 9,960*l.* or 1·5 per cent. on the amount for 1863, following an increase of 17,767*l.* 11*s.* 11*d.* in 1863 above the amount for the preceding year.

The cost of the Metropolitan Force, as shown in the Table, proves an increase of 14,197*l.* or 2·8 per cent., upon the amount for the preceding year, following an increase of 23,460*l.* in 1863, above the amount for 1862.

The cost of Her Majesty's Dockyard Police is less by 1,122*l.* 15*s.* 7*d.* than the amount for the preceding year.

In the cost of the City of London Police there is an increase of 1,576*l.* 7*s.* 2*d.* as compared with the amount for the preceding year.

In the total amount stated above as contributed from the Public Revenue there is an increase of 9,722*l.*, or about 2·4 per cent., as compared with the amount for the preceding year.

The amount stated for the Borough Police shows an increase of 3,722*l.*, or 4·5 per cent. The amount for the County Constabulary an increase of 4,838*l.*, or 3·9 per cent.; and the amount for the Metropolitan Police an increase of 2,284*l.*, or 1·6 per cent.

Returns of the number of the Criminal Classes at large, so far as known to the police, have been made in the same form for the year ended the 29th September 1864, as for preceding years, under the same restriction as for the last three years with regard to those classed as known thieves or depredators, namely, that persons who, although they may at some previous time have been convicted of Offences, but are

The Criminal Classes, (Table,
p. 5.)

Known thieves
and depredators.

believed to have abandoned evil ways and to be living honestly, are not to be included in the Returns, and further, for the past year, with the definite application of this rule to persons who are known to the Police to have been so conducting themselves for one year. Previously to 1861, all persons known to have been at any time convicted appear generally to have been reckoned by the Police as belonging to the criminal classes; and consequent upon the change made in that year, the numbers shown in the Returns fell to 29,806, from 38,084, the numbers for the preceding year, the average of the three years 1858-9-60 being 39,222. The numbers, which in 1861 and 1862 varied only by 10, showed in 1863 a decrease of 1,751 or nearly 6 per cent. as compared with the numbers for 1862. For 1864, a decrease of 4,747, or 17 per cent., appears, as compared with the number in 1863. As compared with the average of the three years 1858-9-60, the decrease in 1864 is 15,924, or upwards of 40 per cent. As specific instructions have now been given on this point to the Police and Constabulary generally, it may be expected that the Returns will for the future be prepared on an uniform principle, and that a more just estimate may be formed of the actual numbers of habitual thieves and depredators.

Receivers of stolen goods.

The number of receivers of stolen goods is less, as shown in the Returns for 1864, than the number for any of the preceding years, the difference being, as compared with the number for 1863, 423, or nearly 12 per cent., and as compared with the average of the three years 1858-9-60, 1,210, or 27·5 per cent.

Suspected persons.

In the number of prostitutes a decrease appears of 706, as compared with the number in 1863, the number shown in the Returns for the latter year having been less by 1,156 than the number in 1862, and the number in 1862 less by 1,544 than the number in 1861. As compared with the average of the numbers for 1858-9-60, the number for 1864 is less by 2,019 or 6·7 per cent. The number of suspected persons also shows a decrease, amounting to 2,251, or 6·9 per cent., as compared with the number in 1863, following a decrease in each of the preceding years, and amounting to 7,135, or 19 per cent. as compared with the average of the numbers for 1858-9-60.

Vagrants and Tramps.

In the number of vagrants and tramps, for ascertaining which the same method was taken as in 1863, there is a decrease of 1,250 or 3·7 per cent. as compared with the number for the last-mentioned year. The number, however, is considerably in excess of the number for any of the years preceding 1863. The total of all these classes taken together is less than the total for 1863 by 9,390, or 7·4 per cent. and less than the average of the totals for 1858-9-60, by 17,763, or 13·2 per cent.

In the following abstract the numbers of each of the classes above-named are given as shown in the Returns for 1864, in comparison with the numbers for 1863, and with the average of the numbers for the three years, (1858-9-60), preceding the change made with respect to the definition of known thieves and depredators.

The following are the numbers of the Criminal Classes, as shown in the Returns for 1864, and their proportion to the population according to the census of 1861, in the Metropolitan Police District, with the City of London, and in the different groups of towns which have been classed together for comparison in former years.

8. Seats of the Hardware Manufacture .—Birmingham, Sheffield, and Wolverhampton -	4,600, or 1 in 117·8	755, or 1 in 718·0

Compared with the numbers shown in the Returns for 1863 the foregoing abstract proves a decrease of 847, or 6·4 per cent. in the number of the Criminal Classes generally in the Metropolis, inclusive of the City of London, but an increase of 108, or nearly 2·0 per cent., in the number of prostitutes taken separately.

In the pleasure towns an increase appears under both heads, amounting under the first to 65, or 2·7 per cent., and under the second to 63, or 7·2 per cent.

In the towns depending on agricultural districts, on the contrary, there is a decrease under both heads, amounting under the first to 115, or 6·5 per cent., and under the second to 56, or 8·1 per cent.

In the commercial ports there is a decrease of 41 in the total number, but an increase of 57 under the second head.

In the seats of the cotton and linen manufactures there is an increase of 122, or 1·9 per cent., in the total number, but a decrease of 17 under the second head.

In like manner, in the seats of the woollen and worsted manufactures there is an increase of 235, or almost 6 per cent., in the total number, and a decrease of 51, or 6·8 per cent., under the second head.

In the seats of the small and mixed textile fabrics there is a decrease of 153, or 8·0 per cent., in the total number, but an increase of three under the second head.

In the seats of the hardware manufactures there is a decrease under both heads, amounting, for the total number, to 391, or 7·8 per cent., and in the number of prostitutes to 166, or 22·2 per cent.

The proportion borne by these classes to the population, it will be seen, is highest, with regard to the Criminal Classes generally, in the pleasure towns, and lowest in the tricts.

Metropolis. With regard to the number of prostitutes taken separately, it is highest in the commercial ports, and lowest in the seats of the hardware manufactures.

The numbers of each of these classes, as shown in the Returns for 1864, and their proportion to the population in each of the groups of agricultural counties, are as follows :

	Criminal Classes.	Prostitutes separately.
9. Eastern Counties :—
Essex, Norfolk, Suffolk, Lincoln	- 6,092 or 1 in 202·5	662 or 1 in 1,863·8
10. South and South-western Counties :—
Southampton, Wilts, Dorset, Somerset	10,105 or 1 in 107·4	1,203 or 1 in 902·4
11. Midland Counties :—
Cambridge, Bedford, Northampton, Hertford, Oxford, Bucks, Berks	- 5,774 or 1 in 172·4	489 or 1 in 2,035·8

In the Eastern counties the numbers for 1864 show a decrease, as compared with the numbers for the preceding year, amounting, under the first head, to 758, or 11 per cent., and under the second head to 47, or 6·6 per cent.

In the South and South Western counties there is a decrease amounting, under the first head, to 2,480, or 19·7 per cent., and under the second head to 98, or 7·5 per cent.

The numbers for the Midland counties also show a decrease under both heads, amounting for the first to 1,337, or 18·8 per cent., and for the second to 160, or 24·6 per cent.

The excess in the numbers under both heads in proportion to the population in the South and South Western counties as compared with the proportion in the Eastern and Midland counties appears remarkable. It was, however, equally observable in the Returns of the preceding year.

The termination of the period for which the Convict Prison Returns are made being advanced from the 29th September to the 31st March, it will not be possible to give with the same accuracy as formerly an estimate of the total number of the criminal classes in the country, calculated in the same manner as in previous years. Some of the prisoners in custody in local Prisons on the 29th September have, no doubt, been removed to the Convict Prisons previously to the 31st March, and are thus twice reckoned. The following, however, are the numbers shown in the Tables of the present Volume, and, with the foregoing explanation, the total may be taken as the nearest approximation that can be arrived at.

Criminal classes at large (including 31,932 tramps and vagrants)	- 116,749
In local prisons (exclusive of debtors and military prisoners)	- 17,346
In the convict prisons	- 7,975
In reformatories	- 3,186

Total - 145,256

As compared with the number shown in the Returns for 1863, the above total shows a decrease of 10,129 or 6·5 per cent.

At the same time, with the decrease which appears in the numbers of the criminal classes at large, a decrease is shown by the Returns for 1864, as compared with the preceding year, in the number of houses of bad character, the resorts of these classes ; the total number for 1864 is less than the total for the previous year by 976, or 4·3 per cent., and this following a decrease of 594, or 2·6 per cent. in 1863, as compared with the number in 1862. The greatest decrease in 1864 appears in the numbers of houses of receivers of stolen goods, and of houses the resorts of thieves and prostitutes, amounting with regard to the former to 187, or 7·2 per cent. of the number under this head, and with regard to the latter to 348, or 5·2 per cent. of the number under this head. In the numbers of brothels and houses of ill-fame there is also a decrease, with regard to the former, of 112, or 1·5 per cent. of the number under this head, and with regard to the latter, of 329, or 5·3 per cent. of the number under this head.

The first and second Tables of the Police Returns show respectively the strength of the Police Force throughout the country, and the numbers of the criminal classes at large and known to the police. The Returns for the year ended the 29th September 1864, which have now been brought under notice, prove an increase of the force within the year, and at the same time a decrease in the numbers of the criminal classes at large, under each of the heads of known thieves and depredators, receivers of stolen goods, suspected persons, tramps and vagrants, &c., the latter result being no doubt attributable in a great degree to the increased efficiency of the police.

The following Table (No. 3), which shows the number of indictable crimes not summarily disposed of, committed, so far as known to the police, the number of persons apprehended, and the results of the apprehensions, for each Police District, proves a decrease in the number of such offences committed within the year, and also in the number of apprehensions, as compared with the numbers in the preceding year. The following are the numbers of crimes such as above described committed, and of persons apprehended, as given in the Returns, in each of the four quarters of the year commencing with October 1863:—

	Crimes committed.	Persons apprehended.
October, November, and December	14,145	7,812
January, February, and March	13,482	7,321
April, May, and June	11,669	6,737
July, August, and September	11,762	6,864
Total	51,058	28,734

The decrease in the number of crimes committed amounts to 1,153, or 2·2 per cent. In the number of persons apprehended during the same period the decrease is 1,676, or 5·6 per cent. The proportion of the apprehensions to the number of crimes committed is 56·2 per cent., which is higher than in any preceding year except 1863, when it was 58·2 per cent. The Winter quarters show, as usual, a greater number of crimes committed, and a lower proportion of apprehensions.

The following abstract shows the disposal of the whole of the persons apprehended for indictable offences, upon their being brought before the Magistrates:—

Disposal of the persons apprehended.

	Males.	Females.	TOTAL.

In the Forms issued in 1864 to the different Police Forces for the return of indictable offences, a column was inserted with a view of distinguishing the cases in which parties accused were discharged in consequence of the failure of the complainants to appear before the magistrates in support of the charges. But as this distinction does not appear fully to apply in the Metropolitan District, where in such cases the police would generally become prosecutors, the column referred to has not been introduced into the Tables of the Statistics, and the numbers discharged remain under one heading as heretofore. It appeared, however, from the Returns received from the County and Borough Forces, that fully 20 per cent. of the numbers discharged were liberated under the circumstances above stated, and consequently, the want of prosecution not being attributable to any failure of the police in tracing the offenders, such cases cannot be counted against the police as undiscovered crimes.

Of the total number apprehended in 1864, 69 per cent. were sent for trial, 30·8 per cent. were discharged, those committed for want of sureties amounting to 0·2 per cent. of the whole. With reference to the numbers for 1863, these proportions scarcely vary from the foregoing: in 1862, the number sent for trial and the number discharged were respectively 67·5 per cent., and 31·8 per cent. of the total number: in 1861, the proportions were 66·8, and 32·4 per cent. With regard to the males, the numbers sent for trial in 1864 were 72 per cent. of the total number of males; with regard to the females the proportion is 59·6 per cent. In 1863 this proportion varied as to the males by 0·1 per cent. only from the foregoing; as to the females it was the same in both years.

Number and
crimes committed.

The number and nature of the indictable offences committed in each Police District, so far as known to the police, are shown in Table 4.

In the year ended the 29th September 1864, 134 cases of murder were reported, being an increase of 13 above the number in the preceding year; there were 46 attempts to murder, against 47 in 1863; the cases of shooting at, stabbing, wounding, &c. with intent to do bodily harm, were 773, against 710 in 1863; the cases of manslaughter were 214 in 1864, against 241 in the preceding year; the cases of concealment of birth were 235, against 219, showing an increase of 16, and following an increase of 62 in 1863, as compared with the number in 1862; there were 232 cases of rape, against 236 in 1863; and 366 assaults with intent to ravish and abuse, against 316 in 1863; 769 cases of assault were recorded, against 755 in 1863; there were 701 robberies and attempts to rob on the highway, the number in 1863 having been 738; the cases of burglary and housebreaking were 2,591 against 2,950 in 1863, there having been 3,121 of these offences in 1862; there were 1,623 cases of breaking into shops, warehouses, &c., and attempts to commit this offence, against 1,665 in 1863, and 1,976 in 1862; the number of larcenies of all descriptions reported as indictable, and not summarily proceeded against, was 34,829, against 34,494 in 1863, and 35,686 in 1862; the cases of arson were 543, against 525 in 1863, and 407 in 1862; there were 44 indictable offences against the game laws not summarily disposed of, in 1863 there were 46, in 1862, 63; there were 207 cases of horse stealing, against 269 in 1863, and 232 in 1862; 373 cases of sheep stealing; against 505 in 1863, and 701 in 1862; 68 cases of cattle stealing, against 76 in 1863, and 98 in 1862.

In Wales nine cases only were reported, viz.: one in Carmarthenshire, two in Denbigh, three in Glamorgan, including one at Cardiff; three in Montgomery, and one in Pembroke. In 12 English and seven Welch Counties no case of murder was reported, either by the County or Borough Police.

Of the 46 attempts to murder 30 were reported by the County Constabulary; 15 were in Boroughs, and one in the City of London. In 1863 these numbers were respectively 28 and 17 for Counties and Boroughs, with two in the Metropolitan Police District, and none in the City of London.

Of the 214 cases of manslaughter 91 were in the Counties; 76 in Cities, Boroughs, &c.; 43 in the Metropolitan Police District, and four in the City of London. In the preceding year, of 241 cases, 101 were in the Counties; 88 in Boroughs, &c.; 49 in the Metropolitan Police District; and three in the City of London.

The only English County in which no case occurred was Rutland; in four Welch Counties, viz., Anglesea, Cardigan, Carnarvon, and Merioneth, no case was reported. The highest numbers were in Yorkshire, 36, viz.: in the East Riding 21, in the West Riding 13, and in the North Riding 2, with five cases in different Boroughs within the County: in Northamptonshire 26; in Southamptonshire 25, with two in the Borough of Portsmouth; in Devon 23, with one in each of the Boroughs of Devonport and Plymouth; in Oxfordshire 23, with two in the City of Oxford; 22 in Kent, with one at Dover; in Somerset 21; in Cheshire 19, with one in the City of Chester, and one at Birkenhead; in Essex 19; in Lancashire there were eight cases, with 12 in different Boroughs within the County.

CONSTABULARY.

offences against property; forgery and offences against the currency; and offences not included in the foregoing. The numbers of persons apprehended within the year for each description of offence, and for each class of offences, are shown, and the manner in which the persons so apprehended were disposed of.

From a comparison of the numbers under each class of offences the following results may be deduced.

Offences against the person.

The number of offences against the person, as shown in the Table, was 3,091; the number of persons apprehended during the year for offences of this class was 3,238, of whom 662 were discharged by the Magistrates, leaving 2,576 as the number against whom the offences charged may be considered to have been proved. This number is in the proportion of 83·3 per cent. to the number of offences of this class reported. In the preceding year, under this class of offences, this proportion was 83 per cent.; in 1862 it was 84·7 per cent.; in 1861 it was 81·1 per cent.; in 1860, 77·4 per cent.; in 1859, 73·9 per cent.

Against property
with violence.

The number of offences against property, with violence, was 5,022. The number of persons apprehended for offences of this class was 2,973, of whom 724 were discharged by the Magistrates, leaving 2,249 as the number against whom the offences charged may be considered to have been proved. This number is in the proportion of 59·2 per cent. to the number of offences of this class reported. In 1863, under this class of offences, this proportion was 43 per cent.; in 1862 it was 38·8 per cent.; in 1861, 38·3; in 1860, 36·0; in 1859, also 36·0 per cent.

Malicious offences.

The number of malicious offences against property was 774. The number of persons apprehended for offences of this class was 717, of whom 283 were discharged by the Magistrates, leaving 434 as the number against whom the charges were proved. This number is in the proportion of 56·0 per cent. to the number of offences reported under this head. In 1863, under this class of offences, this proportion was 70·4 per cent.; in 1862 it was 54·3; in 1861, 49·4; in 1860, 38·1 per cent.

Other offences.

The offences not enumerated in the foregoing classes, including the class of offences against property without violence, cattle stealing, larcenies, embezzlement, forgery, and offences against the currency, offences against the game laws, riot, and breaches of the peace, keeping disorderly houses, attempts to commit suicide, reckoned together, amounted to 42,171. For all these descriptions of offences 21,806 persons were apprehended, of whom 7,031 were discharged, leaving 14,775 as the number against whom the offences were proved. The latter number is in the proportion of 35·0 per cent. of the total number of these offences taken together. This proportion, under all the offences referred to, was, in 1863, 36·7 per cent.; in 1862, 34·3 per cent.; in 1861, 33·1 per cent.; in 1860, 29·4 per cent.

Total offences.

The total number of indictable offences reported was, as already stated, 51,058; the total number of persons apprehended was 28,734; the total number of persons discharged by the Magistrates was 8,700, leaving 20,034 as the number of persons against whom the charges were proved. This number is in the proportion of 39·2 per cent. of the total number of offences reported. This proportion, calculated on the total numbers, in the preceding year was 40·5 per cent.; in 1862 it was 37·4 per cent.; in 1861, 36·1; in 1860, 32·1 per cent.

Of the 28,734 persons apprehended by the police charged with indictable offences, it has been shown that 19,816 were committed or bailed for trial. Of this number, allowing for the proportion (about 25·0 per cent.) usually found to be discharged, or acquitted on trial, about 14,862 would be convicted.

Summary convictions, (Tables, pp. 21 to 36.)

In addition to these, 300,731, or nearly 20 times the number, were summarily convicted by the Magistrates. The number of persons summarily proceeded against in each Police District, and the result of the proceedings, are shown in Table 6. The offences with which the persons proceeded against in each Police District were charged are shown in Table 7; in Table 8 are shown the number of offences of each description for which persons were summarily proceeded against within the year, and the result of the proceedings under each description of offence.

The total number of persons proceeded against summarily, and the number convicted and discharged respectively during the year, were as follows:—

In the number convicted in 1864 there is an increase of 17,090, or 6·0 per cent. as compared with the number in 1863. The convictions in 1864 are in the proportion of 68·2 per cent. of the total number proceeded against, this proportion having been in the preceding year 67·2 per cent.; in each of the years 1862 and 1861, 66·7 per cent.; in 1860, 66·4 per cent.; and in 1859, 65·6 per cent.

The proportion of males convicted to the total number of males proceeded against is 70·7 per cent.; this proportion having been in the preceding year 69·8 per cent. The proportion of females convicted to the total number of females proceeded against is 58·1 per cent.; in the preceding year, this proportion was 56·9 per cent. The difference in the proportionate numbers, as regards the males and females, which, for 1864, is 12·6 per cent., and for 1863, 12·9 per cent., in former years has been as much as nearly 15 per cent.

The penalties imposed upon those convicted, stated under the same classification as in preceding years, were as follows:—

In 1863 this proportion was 26·6 per cent.; in 1862 it was 26·3 per cent.; in 1861, 23·4 per cent.; in 1860, 20·8 per cent. The numbers sent to Reformatories were the same in each of the years 1864 and 1863. The number fined was greater by 15,922 in 1864 than the number in the preceding year, and higher in proportion to the total number convicted by 1·8 per cent.

The number of persons proceeded against in 1864 for the principal offences summarily dealt with by the justices was as follows, under the same classification of offences as given in former years.

Offences determined, (Table,

Appeals against Justices' Convictions, (Table,
p. 37.)

Returns furnished by the Clerks of the Peace of the different Counties and Boroughs having separate Quarter Sessions show the cases in which appeals have been made against the decisions of Justices in summary proceedings.

In Table 10, the names of the counties and boroughs in which appeals were heard during the year are given, and the nature of the offence in each case in which the right of appeal was exercised is stated.

The number of these appeals in the whole of England and Wales during the year was 103; in 47 of the cases the convictions were affirmed; in 56 they were quashed, being a higher proportion of the reversal of the judgments than in any preceding year of which there is a record.

Of the 103 appeals, 35 were in cases of bastardy orders, in 18 of which the convictions were affirmed, and in 17 quashed. Deducting these, there remain 68 appeals, in 27 of which the convictions were affirmed, and in 39 quashed.

The summary convictions, exclusive of those in cases of bastardy orders, were 296,990. There was therefore one appeal for every 4,367, and one reversal of the judgment for every 7,615 of the convictions. In the preceding year there was one appeal for every 5,478, and one reversal of judgment for every 10,348 of the convictions.

Appeals.

(Tables, pp. 4-6,
Part II.)

Besides the foregoing appeals, there were 18 cases stated for the opinion of the Superior Courts, under the Statute of the 20th & 21st Vict. c. 43.; twelve of these cases were submitted to the Court of Common Pleas; in nine of which the decisions were affirmed, and in three reversed; six cases were submitted to the Court of Exchequer, in two of which the decisions were affirmed, and in four reversed.

Coroners' Returns,

Returns for 1864, prepared in the same form as those for the preceding years, have been furnished by the coroners for all the different jurisdictions, and distinguish, in the cases of infants of seven years of age and under, those of legitimate from those of illegitimate birth. The Returns show the number of the verdicts of murder which were in the cases of infants of one year and under, the total of these being 203, against 166 in 1863.

The following were the inquests held during the year, distinguished under the different verdicts:

In the total number there is an increase, as compared with 1863, amounting to 2,030, or 8·9 per cent., following an increase of 2,166, or 10·5 per cent. in 1863, as compared with the number in 1862. The increase in the number of inquests upon males is 1,429; in those upon females it is 601, the proportionate increase being 9·0 and 8·6 per cent. respectively.

The verdicts of murder show a decrease of 24, or in the proportion of 8·8 per cent. In these verdicts, in each of the two preceding years there was an increase. The decrease in 1864 is with respect to males, and amounts to 31; with respect to females there is an increase of 7.

In the verdicts of manslaughter there is an increase of 8, or in the proportion of 3·9 per cent., the increase being with respect to the males, and amounting to 21, while with respect to the females there is a decrease of 13.

The verdicts of suicide show a decrease of 48, or in the proportion of 3·4 per cent. The decrease is with respect to the males amounting to 70, while with respect to the females there is an increase of 22.

The verdicts of accidental death show an increase of 1,785, or 19·3 per cent. The verdicts of death from excessive drinking show an increase of 94, or 19·3 per cent. following an increase of 112, or 53 per cent., in 1863, as compared with the number in 1862. The verdicts of death from disease aggravated by neglect, and from want, cold, exposure, &c., also show an increase, amounting, with respect to the former, to 13, and with respect to the latter, to 73.

The following are the total numbers under each verdict for each of the last three years, with the average of the six preceding years:

CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS.

CRIMINAL PRO-
CEEDINGS, 1864,
(Table, p. 45.)

The Criminal Returns for 1864 show a decrease in the number of commitments during the year, amounting to 1,312, or 6·3 per cent., as compared with the number for the preceding year. For the three years following 1857 there was a decrease for each year as compared with each preceding year, the lowest number being reached in 1860. For the three years following 1860 there has been an increase in each upon the number for each preceding year, the highest number being for 1863. A reaction having commenced in 1864, it remains to be seen whether, following the same rule, a decrease in the numbers will continue for the two succeeding years.

The following are the commitments for each of the last 20 years:

1863	-	20,818	1858	-	17,855	1853	-	27,057	1848	-	30,349
1862	-	20,001	1857	-	20,269	1852	-	27,510	1847	-	28,833
1861	-	18,326	1856	-	19,437	1851	-	27,960	1846	-	25,107
1860	-	15,999	1855	-	25,972	1850	-	26,813	1845	-	24,303

Commitments in different Counties,

As compared with 1863, the decrease in 1864 extends to 29 Counties in England, and amounts in the aggregate for those Counties, to 1,704. In 11 Counties there was an increase, amounting for the whole to 313, leaving the total decrease for the English counties, 1,391. In seven of the Welch Counties there was an increase amounting in the whole to 112, with a decrease of 33 in the remaining five Counties, leaving an increase of 79 for the whole of Wales above the number for 1863.

The English Counties in which the increase appears are Bedford, Berks, Bucks, Lincoln, Middlesex, Norfolk, Rutland, Stafford, Surrey, Westmoreland, and York, the increase varying from one in Westmoreland to 71 in Middlesex, the highest proportionate increase being in Rutland, where the numbers are 21 in 1864, against 8 in the preceding year. In the other Counties the proportionate increase is, in Bucks 19·7 per cent.; in Bedford 11·4; in Lincoln 9·6; in Stafford 7·7; in Norfolk 6·2; in Surrey 5·1; in Berks 4·5; in Westmoreland 3·8; in Middlesex 2·2; and in York, 1·8 per cent. The greatest proportionate decrease appears in Cornwall, where it amounts to 36 per cent.; in Derbyshire it is 31·1 per cent.; in Cambridgeshire it is 30·1; in Nottingham 24·7; in Huntingdon 24·4; in Southampton 21·7; in Lincoln 20·5; in Kent 15·9; in Lancashire 13·9; in Northumberland 13 per cent.; in the remaining Counties lower. Anglesey the increase is 80 per cent.; in Flint 46·6 per cent.; in Pembrokeshire and in Radnor 25 per cent. each; in Glamorgan 9 per cent. On the other hand, the decrease is, in Cardiganshire 16·1; in Denbigh 15·5; in Brecon 13·3; in Montgomery 9·3; and in Merioneth 3·7 per cent.

CRIMINAL
PROCEEDINGS.

The decrease in the commitments in 1864, as compared with 1863, extends in a greater or less degree to each of the six classes into which the various offences are distributed in the Tables. In the class of offences against the person it amounts to 11 cases only. In the class of offences against property, with violence, it amounts to 145 or 6·6 per cent.; under offences against property, without violence, it is 872, or 6·2 per cent.; under malicious offences against property it is 131, or 25·2 per cent. Under forgery and offences against the currency it is 130, or 18·1 per cent. Under other offences not included in the foregoing it is 22, or 3·4 per cent.

State of each Class of the Commitments, (Table,
p. 45.)

In the number of commitments for murder there is a decrease of 13, or in the proportion of 15·6 per cent.; in attempts to murder there is a decrease of 20, or 37 per cent. For shooting at, stabbing, wounding, &c. with intent to maim, there is an increase of 19, or 13·7 per cent. For manslaughter there is a decrease of 28, or 11·1 per cent. For concealment of the birth of infants there is an increase of 16, or 13·6 per cent. For rape, &c., and assaults with intent, &c., there is an increase of 34, or 8·1 per cent. For unnatural offences there were 42 commitments in 1864, against 61 in the preceding year; for assaults to commit these offences there was an increase of 16 commitments; in the total commitments for assaults there is an increase of 21.

the person.

For burglary, the commitments in 1864 were 481, being a decrease of 41, or 7·8 per cent. as compared with the number in 1863; for housebreaking, breaking within the curtilage of dwelling houses, and breaking into shops, warehouses, &c. and stealing, the commitments were 994, being a decrease of 105, or 9·4 per cent. as compared with the number in 1863; for robbery and assaults to rob by persons armed, the number was 457, being an increase of 21, or 4·8 per cent. upon the number in 1863. In the commitments for all of these offences there was a decrease in 1863, but a large increase in each of the two preceding years.

Offences against
violence.

For cattle-stealing, the commitments in 1864 were 24, against 20 in the preceding year; for horse-stealing 74, against 98; for sheep-stealing 93, against 98. For the different larcenies the commitments were 10,757, being a decrease of 495, or 4·4 per cent. as compared with the number in 1863; for embezzlement the number was 555, against 570 in 1863; for receiving stolen goods the number was 605, showing a decrease of 79, or 11·5 per cent.; for fraud and attempts to defraud the number was 750, showing a decrease of 203, or 21·3 per cent.

Offences against
violence.

For setting fire to dwelling houses or shops, persons being therein, there were six commitments in each of the years 1864 and 1863; for setting fire to houses, warehouses, cornstacks, crops, plantations, heath, and attempts to commit arson, the commitments in 1864 were 231, showing a decrease of 131, or 36·7 per cent. as compared with the number in 1863.; for riot and feloniously demolishing buildings, &c., the number was 27, against 21 in 1863; for killing and maiming cattle 23, against 26 in 1863; for malicious injuries to property exceeding 5*l.* in value 30, against 31; for other malicious offences there were 71 commitments in 1864, against 73 in 1863.

against property.

For forging and uttering forged Bank of England notes there was one commitment in 1864, against two in 1863; for other forged instruments 144, against 184; for counterfeiting gold and silver coin 5, against 4; for having in possession implements for coining 9, against 20; for uttering and having in possession counterfeit gold and silver coin the commitments were 428, being a decrease of 14·7 per cent. as compared with the number in 1863.

Forgery, &c.

Under miscellaneous offences are included offences against the game laws, for which there were 86 commitments, against 93 in 1863; also offences under the Bankruptcy Act, 1861, for which there were 8 commitments against 25 in 1863. There were also in the county of York 35 commitments for conspiracy and assault, for which offence there do not appear to have been any commitments in previous years.

Courts at which offenders tried.

Persons committed or bailed for indictable offences are tried by jury at the different County and Borough Courts of Quarter Sessions, the Circuit Assize Courts, and the Central Criminal Court.

The numbers at each of these courts, and the proportion per cent. of the numbers at each to the total numbers, were as follows in each of the years 1864 and 1863.

The following were the results of the proceedings against those for trial in each of the two years:—

The proportion of those acquitted and discharged to the total number for trial, which had shown a continued decrease for the four years preceding 1863, showed a slight increase in the latter year as compared with 1862, and shows a greater increase for 1864 as compared with 1863. For 1864 the proportion is 24·3 per cent.; for 1863 it was 23·5 per cent.; for 1862 it was 23·3; for 1861, 24·1; for 1860, 24·4; for 1859, 25·0; for 1828, 25·5.

The proportion of those found not guilty on trial is 19·5 per cent. of the total number committed or bailed; in the preceding year this proportion was 18·9; in 1862, 18·6; in 1861, 18·7; in 1860, 19·1; in 1859, 19·6 per cent.

The proportion of the number not prosecuted is little more than 0·1 per cent. of the total number, in the preceding year it was 0·2 per cent. Under no bills found, the proportion is the same as in the preceding year, viz. 4·7 per cent. of the total number.

By the Act passed in the Session of 1864 (27 & 28 Vict. c. 67.), the shortest period for which sentence of penal servitude can now be passed is 5 years, and in cases where there has been a previous conviction for felony, 7 years. The Act came into operation on the 25th July 1864, and its effect is apparent in the reduction by one half, as compared with the numbers for 1863, in the number of the sentences for four and three years, and the increase in the proportion of those for the next longer periods; at the same time it will be observed that the proportion of those for the longest terms, including those for life, is greatly diminished.

In the following Table the sentences in 1864 are shown in detail, and in comparison with the sentences in each of the nine preceding years :—

The sentences to penal servitude in 1864 are in the proportion of 16·6 per cent. of the total number convicted; the sentences to imprisonment (inclusive of those sent to Reformatories) are 81·0 per cent. In 1863 these proportions were 19·4 and 79·0 per cent. respectively.

To the above number of sentences to penal servitude for life may be added 13 capital sentences commuted; of these there were seven in 1863.

The following Table shows the crimes for which the capital convictions took place in each of the last 10 years, murder being since 1862 the only crime subject to capital sentence.

Within the last 33 years the state of the law with regard to capital punishment has undergone great modification. Up to the year 1832 more than 30 different crimes appear to have been subject to sentence of death. By Statutes passed in that year (2 & 3 W. IV. cc. 62 and 123.) the punishment of death was abolished for cattle stealing, horse stealing, sheep stealing, larceny to the value of £5 in a dwelling house, coining, and forgery (except of wills and powers of attorney to transfer stock). It was further abolished in 1833, for housebreaking; in 1834, for returning from transportation; and in 1835, for sacrilege, and for letter stealing by servants of the Post Office. By the Statutes passed in 1837, (1st Vict.), the crimes subject to capital punishment were virtually reduced to the following: murder and attempts to murder, rape, and carnally abusing girls under 10 years of age, unnatural offences, burglary with violence to persons, robbery attended with cutting or wounding, arson of dwelling houses, endangering the lives of persons being therein. It remained also for treason, piracy, where murder was attempted; showing false signals to cause shipwreck, setting fire to Her Majesty's ships of war, riot and feloniously destroying buildings, and embezzlement by servants of the Bank of England; but these latter offences are of rare occurrence. In 1841 (4 & 5 Vict.) it was further abolished for rape, &c., embezzlement, &c., and riot, &c. Under the Acts passed in 1861 treason and murder alone remain subject to capital sentence.

The following statement of the numbers sentenced to death and of the numbers executed, distinguishing the numbers for murder, before and since the modification of the law, with the proportion to the population, will show the effect of the changes. To avoid a lengthened statement of the numbers for each year the average has been taken of the numbers for the ten years preceding 1832, and each of the three succeeding periods of ten years ending with 1861, the numbers for each of the years 1862-1863 and 1864 being added. The proportion of the average numbers to the population has been calculated on the mean numbers for two censuses for each period, 1821 and 1831, 1831 and 1841, 1841 and 1851, and 1851 and 1861. For each of the three years 1862-3 and 1864, the estimated population has been taken.

Criminal Appeals,

To the Court of Criminal Appeal constituted under the Statute 11 & 12 Vict. c. 78. are referred questions of law arising on convictions in the Criminal Courts of Assize and Quarter Sessions, and the Central Criminal Court. This Court is composed of five Judges of the Superior Courts, one of whom is required to be one of the Chief Justices, and is empowered to revise, affirm, or amend the judgments of the Courts in which the cases are tried. In 1864, 24 cases were reserved for the decision of this Court, in one-third of which it will be seen the judgments were reversed. In the following abstract are shown the offences for which the trials took place, the Courts in which the cases were tried, and the judgment of the Court of Appeal in each case.

The usual Return is given of the sums paid by Her Majesty's Treasury on account of criminal prosecutions at assizes and quarter sessions, and at the Central Criminal Court, and for proceedings under the Criminal Justice Act and the Juvenile Offenders Act, showing in detail the costs for each county and borough, at assizes and at sessions, and with respect to the Metropolitan Counties, at the Central Criminal Court, and under the two Acts above-named. The number of prosecutions for each jurisdiction during the year is also shown. This Return is for the year ended 31st December 1863, being, as in former years, one year in arrear of the other matters under the head of Criminal Proceedings. The following are the totals under each head.

CRIMINAL
PROCEEDINGS.

As compared with the preceding year, there is an increase of 513 in the number of cases tried on indictment, and of 4,232*l.* 18*s.* in the costs. On the other hand, there is a decrease of 697 in the number of cases summarily disposed of, and of 181*l.* 18*s.* 1*d.* in the costs of these proceedings. The average cost of the cases tried on indictment was higher by 3*d.* in 1863 than in the preceding year. Under summary proceedings there was an increase of 7*d.* in the average costs for each case.

Government Prosecutions.

The Mint cases, and cases prosecuted on indictment by the Solicitor to the Treasury, and brought to a conclusion within the year, the Returns of which are for the year 1864, were respectively 344, and 62 in number. The costs of the former amounted to 3,135*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*, and of the latter to 3,264*l.* 4*s.* 9*d.* In the preceding year the number of Mint cases was 407; the costs of these cases were 3,677*l.* 17*s.* 8*d.* The number of other cases prosecuted on indictment was 39, and their total costs were 959*l.* 12*s.* 8*d.*

The costs (paid by the Solicitor to the Treasury out of law charges, by direction of the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury) of the prosecution of the "Alexandra," and of proceedings taken by the Board of Customs under the Foreign Enlistment Act, are not included in the above-stated amounts for 1864.

PRISONS.

PRISONS, &c.

The third division of the first part of the statistics, furnishes information with regard to the local prisons, the Government convict establishments, the reformatories and industrial schools, and with regard to the criminal lunatics under detention in different county and other asylums.

The Returns for the local prisons, the reformatories and industrial schools, and the lunatic asylums, are for the year ended 29th September 1864. Those for the convict establishments have been prepared for the year ending 31st March 1865.

In the local prisons no change has been made. The names of the same prisons, 146 in number, will be found in the Tables for 1864 as for the preceding year. The City Gaol and House of Correction at Exeter, it will be seen, however, was closed on the 30th September, and will not appear in the Tables of another year.

Commitments,

In the following abstract the number of commitments of every description during the year is shown, the numbers of each sex being distinguished, with the proportion per cent. of the number of each description of commitment to the total commitments, with regard to each sex.

Commitments.	Males.	Females.	Total.	Proportion per Cent.
				Males.	Females.
For trial and tried at assizes and sessions - -	15,410	4,248	19,658	14·8	12·2
On summary conviction - -	67,890	26,721	94,611	65·0	76·5
For want of sureties - -	2,194	729	2,923	2·1	2·1
On remand and discharged - -	7,089	2,725	9,814	6·8	7·8
For debt and on civil process - -	9,719	490	10,209	9·3	1·4

Total - -	104,373	34,913	139,286	100·0	100·0

The proportion of the females sent for trial, it appears, was less by 2·6 per cent. than the proportion of the males; the proportion committed on summary conviction was 11·5 per cent. higher: 9·3 per cent. of the males, 1·4 per cent. only of the females, were committed for debt or on civil process.

As compared with 1863, the total number of commitments is less by 5,933 or 3·6 per cent.; as compared with 1862 the decrease in 1864 is 2,456, or 1·8 per cent. Under each description of commitment the decrease is found in the numbers for 1864, excepting for want of sureties, under which there is an increase of 228 or 8·4 per cent.

In the commitments under the first head the decrease in 1863 is 1,761, or 8·2 per cent. In the commitments on summary convictions it is only 342, or less than 0·4 per cent. In those on remand it is 247, or 2·3 per cent. The commitments for debt and on civil process were less in 1864 by 2,205, or 9·6 per cent. Those for military and naval offences were less by 507, or 19·6 per cent.

In the following comparative statement, the commitments are shown under each of the foregoing heads for each of the last five years, with the total of those years, and the total of the preceding period of five years.

The number of recommitted prisoners shows an increase of 155 above the number in 1863. Their proportion to the total number committed (exclusive of debtors and military and naval prisoners, and those remanded and discharged,) is, for 1864, 38·5 per cent., which is lower than the proportion for any of the five years preceding 1863: for 1863 this proportion was 37·6 per cent. In 1864, the recommitted males were 35·3 per cent. of the total number of males committed (exclusive of debtors, &c.): the recommitted females were 47·3 per cent. of the total number of females committed (exclusive of debtors and those remanded and discharged). These proportions in 1863 were respectively 34·6 and 46·5 per cent. Compared with the total commitments the recommitted males were 28·9 per cent. of the total number of males committed: the recommitted females were 42·9 per cent. of the total number of females committed. In 1863 these proportions were respectively 27·7, and 41·8 per cent. From the following Table it will be seen that, while of the recommitted males 53·7 per cent. only, of the recommitted females 69·2 per cent., had been more than once previously committed, and that the proportion of the females who had been above ten times previously committed was nearly six times that of the males.

Ages of those committed, (Table, p. 64.)

The classified ages of the total number committed, exclusive of debtors and naval and military prisoners, are shown in the following Table, with the proportion per cent. of the number of males of each age to the total number of males, and of the number of females of each age to the total number of females.

The proportion of males under 16 years of age to the total number of males, it appears, is more than double the proportion of females of that age to the total number of females.

The following Table shows the number of those under 12 years of age, and of those of 12 and under 16, committed in each year since 1856 inclusive, distinguishing the sexes. The total of these classes for the past year exceeds the total for the preceding year, it will be seen, by 398, or 4·7 per cent. The proportion to the total commitments is greater by 0·4 per cent only. There had been a decrease in this proportion in each successive year from 1856 to 1863.

Of those committed during the year, exclusive of debtors and of those committed for military and naval offences, the places of birth are shown in the following abstract, the numbers of each sex born in each country named being distinguished, with the proportion per cent. of the males born in each country to the total number of males, and of the females to the total number of females. The proportion per cent. of the total numbers born in each country to the total number committed scarcely varies from the proportion in the preceding year. It appears remarkable that while the proportion of the males born in England is ten per cent. higher than the proportion of the females, the proportion of the females born in Ireland is ten per cent. higher than the proportion of the males.

The degree of instruction of those committed during the year, with the exception of debtors and of those committed for military and naval offences, is shown in the following abstract, the sexes being distinguished, with the proportion per cent. of the males under each degree of instruction to the total number of males, and of the females to the total number of females.

The proportion of those who could neither read nor write to the total number committed is 35·7 per cent.; this proportion, in the preceding year, was 34·9 per cent. Of those who could read or read and write imperfectly, the proportion is 58·8 per cent.; in the preceding year this proportion was 60·7 per cent. Of those who could read and write well the proportion is 5·2 per cent.; in the preceding year this proportion was 3·5 per cent. only. Of those of superior instruction the proportion was the same in each year, viz., under 0·2 per cent of the whole number committed. The lower degree of instruction among the females is apparent.

In the same Table, with the degree of instruction, is shown, under the following classification, the occupations of those committed during the year, excepting the debtors and those committed for military and naval offences. In the following abstract is added the proportion per cent. of the number of males under each class of occupation to the total number of males, and of the females to the total number of females. In the proportion of the total number under each class of occupation to the total number committed there is little variation for the years 1863 and 1864. The difference in the proportion of the males and of the females classed as of no occupation to the total of each sex is remarkable.

In the first three Tables are shown the number, age, sex, and condition of the prisoners committed to the Local Prisons during the year, their places of birth, and, so far as is known, the number of their previous commitments. In the remaining Tables are shown the number of prisoners under confinement during the year and their disposal; the capacity and state of the prisons, and their sanitary condition; the punishments for offences in prison; the prison establishments; the expenses; and the funds upon which the costs are charged.

The numbers under detention in the Local Prisons, and the removals between those prisons, during the year ended 29th September 1864, were as follows:—

The disposal of the prisoners in custody during the year, and the number remaining in custody at the close of the year ended the 29th September 1864, were as follows:

Debtors - - - -	479	23	502
Total - - - -	14,074	4,056	18,130

The number of commitments during the year ended the 29th September 1864 has been shown to have been less than the number during the preceding year by 5,933, or 3·6 per cent. The number removed, discharged, or otherwise disposed of during the year was also less by 3,300, or 2·3 per cent. In the number remaining in prison at the end of the year, there is a decrease of 770, or 4·1 per cent., as compared with the number remaining at the end of the preceding year. The decrease extends to both Criminals and Debtors, the proportionate decrease being greatest in the latter. In the number of Criminals it is 689, or 3·8 per cent.; in the number of Debtors, 81, or 13·9 per cent.

Additional accommodation appears from the Returns to have been provided during the year for the reception of 209 prisoners, in the aggregate, the increase being for 235 males with a decrease of 26 with regard to females. At the same time the greatest number of prisoners confined at one time was less in 1864 than in the preceding year by 413,—357 males and 56 females. The daily average of prisoners in the year was also less by 295 or 1·6 per cent.

The following are the numbers for 1864 :—

	Males.	Females.	TOTAL.
Prisons constructed to contain - - -	21,538	6,092	27,630
Greatest number of prisoners confined at one time -	17,968	4,912	22,880
TOTAL of both sexes.
Daily average of prisoners in the year - - -			18,511

From the foregoing it appears, that the greatest number of prisoners under confinement at one time was less by 4,750 than the number for which the prisons in the aggregate are constructed, and that there was sufficient accommodation for one third more than the daily average. At the same time, in a considerable number of the prisons, as may be seen on reference to the Tables, the greatest number under confinement at one time exceeded the number for which the prisons were constructed, in some cases with regard to males only, in some with regard to females only, and in some with regard to both sexes; in the Chester City Gaol, at Sandwich, and in the Preston and Salford Houses of Correction, the daily average was greater than the numbers the prisons were intended to accommodate.

The number of deaths and the cases of sickness in each prison are shown in detail in Table 5; in the following summary the totals for all the prisons are given for the year ended the 29th September 1864, with the average of the numbers for each of the two preceding periods of five years.

Sanitary state of the prisons, (Table, p. 73.)

Insanity - - - -	102	38	140	138	132
	Males and Females.
Greatest number of sick at one time	1,757			1,849	2,070

The total number of deaths was greater by 22 than the number in the preceding year. The number among the males exceeded the number in 1863 by 29; the number among the females was less than the number in the preceding year by seven. The infirmary cases show an increase of 114. The cases of slight indisposition show an increase of 1,269. There were also seven more cases of insanity in 1864 than in 1863.

PRISONS.

The deaths were in the proportion of 1 in 659·1 of the number of prisoners under detention during the year. In 1863, this proportion was 1 in 746·6; in 1862, it was 1 in 841·1; in 1861, it was 1 in 822·7. The infirm cases in 1864, were 1 for every 35·6 of the prisoners; the cases of slight indisposition were 1 for every 2·7 of the prisoners. In 1863, the infirm cases were 1 for every 37·6 of the prisoners; the cases of slight indisposition were 1 for every 2·8. In each of the years 1862 and 1861, the infirm cases were 1 for 38·3; in 1860, 1 for 33·9. The cases of slight indisposition, in 1863, were 1 for every 2·8; in 1862, 1 for every 2·7; in 1861, 1 for 3·1. The cases of insanity were, in 1864, 1 in 1,129·9 of the prisoners; in 1863, 1 in 1,223·7; in 1862, 1 in 999·8; in 1861, 1 in 1,167·8; in 1860, 1 in 896·9.

Prison Punish-

The punishments for offences committed in prison are shown in Table 5 under the headings given in the following summary. The details for each prison will be found in the Table. The number of punishments of each description for the whole of the prisons during the year ended the 29th September 1864 is as follows:—

	Males.	Females.	TOTAL.
Whipping - - - - -	120	—	120
Irons or handcuffs - - - - -	68	54	122
Solitary or dark cells - - - - -	14,331	2,190	16,521
Stoppage of diet - - - - -	34,696	2,609	37,305
Other punishments - - - - -	1,392	2,185	3,577
Total - - - - -	50,607	7,038	57,645

The total number shows an increase of 6,635, or 12·7 per cent., upon the number for the preceding year, following an increase of 9,433, or 22·6 per cent., in 1863, upon the number in 1862, and of 3,689, or 9·7 per cent., in the latter year, upon the number in 1861. The total number gives 1 punishment for every 2·7 of the prisoners. This proportion in 1863 was 1 for every 3·1; in each of the three years preceding 1863, it was 1 for 3·8. The cases of whipping were fewer by 19 than in 1863. The cases of irons or handcuffs were more numerous by 17, the increase having been 30 with respect to the females, with a decrease of 13 with respect to the males.

The increase further extends to each of the three remaining descriptions of punishment.

The total number of punishments upon males were 1 for every 2·3 of the male prisoners; the total number upon females were 1 for every 5·5 of the female prisoners.

The calculation of the number of punishments in proportion to the number of prisoners serves for comparison; but it is to be remembered that, as has been remarked in former years, while repeated punishments are found necessary in the cases of some of the prisoners, the greater proportion are not subjected to any punishment for offences in prison.

Prison Establishments, (Table,
p. 82.)

The number of prison officers of every class as shown in the Returns for 1864 is as follows:

Rank of Officers.	Males.	Females.	TOTAL.
Governor and Deputy Governor - - - - -	172	2	174
Chaplain - - - - -	141	—	141
Surgeon - - - - -	140	—	140
Clerks and schoolmasters, &c. - - - - -	140	36	176
Upper warders - - - - -	241	155	396
Under warders - - - - -	811	238	1,049
Other subordinate officers - - - - -	307	22	329
Total - - - - -	1,952	453	2,405

In the total there is an increase of 55, or 2·3 per cent., upon the number in 1863. With some variation, and a decrease of 12 in the superior ranks, the increase is in the under warders and other subordinate officers, an increase in these ranks having taken place also in the preceding year.

The total gives 1 officer to 7·8 of the daily average number of prisoners. In 1863 this proportion was 1 to 8; in 1862, 1 to 7·7; in 1861, 1 to 7; in 1860, 1 to 6·5.

The costs of the prisons are shown under the usual headings of Building and Establishment Charges, Officers, and Prisoners. In the total there is an increase of 2,515*l.* 5*s.* 3*d.* upon the amount for the preceding year. Under extraordinary charges for Building and Establishment expenses there is an increase of 9,026*l.*, or upwards of 8 per cent., the increase for new buildings, &c. amounting to 12,770*l.*, with a decrease of 3,744*l.* in the preceding item. The ordinary annual charges show an increase of 411*l.* In the officers' expenses there is an increase under each item, amounting in the whole to 3,031*l.* The charges for prisoners show a decrease of 9,954*l.*, the cost of diet having been less in 1864 than in the preceding year by 12,395*l.*, with an increase in the items of clothing, earnings, &c.

The foregoing is the average charge per prisoner for the whole of the County and Borough prisons, calculated on the total daily average number of prisoners. The highest average is at Alnwick County Gaol and House of Correction, viz. 88*l.* 15*s.* 11*d.*, with a daily average of one prisoner. At Oakham County Gaol and House of Correction the average charge is 80*l.* 11*s.* 2*d.*, with a daily average number of prisoners of 10; at York County Gaol it is 78*l.* 12*s.* 8*d.*, with a daily average of 58 prisoners; at Lincoln County Gaol it is 65*l.* 16*s.* 7*d.*, with a daily average of 22 prisoners; at Newgate, 50*l.* 11*s.* 0*d.*, with a daily average of 111 prisoners. CONVICT PRISONS,
(Tables, pp. 88,

The period for which the returns for the Convict Prisons have hitherto been made, viz. the year ending the 29th September, having been found inconvenient, and the accounts of the expenditure being made for the ordinary financial year ending the 31st of March, it has been thought advisable to adopt the latter period with regard to these prisons for the purposes of the Judicial Statistics.

Returns have accordingly been furnished in the usual form for the year ended the 31st March 1865, showing the number of convicts confined in the different convict prisons during the year, and their disposal, the numbers remaining in custody at the end of the year, the prison establishments and the costs, with the same details of other matters as have been given in preceding years.

Eleven Government Prisons are now in use for convicts, inclusive of Broadmoor.

Of these Pentonville and Millbank are for convicts undergoing the first stage of discipline in separate confinement; Chatham, Portland, and Portsmouth for convicts employed on public works. Dartmoor and Woking are the invalid establishments, juvenile convicts also being confined in the former. In Broadmoor, which is the prison for insane convicts, a certain number of others are detained while employed in the completion of the prison. Brixton, Fulham, and Parkhurst are used for females who have undergone their probationary term in Millbank.

Further, in certain local prisons which will be named, convicts are confined under contract with the Government.

The following abstract taken from the Returns as given in the tables shows the number of convicts in the eleven prisons above named at the commencement of the year, that is on the 1st April 1864, the number received from county and borough prisons, &c. (including 873 received at the local prisons,) the disposal of those in the Government Prisons, the number remaining in custody, and the daily average.

As compared with the Returns for the year ended the 29th September 1863, there is a decrease in the number received from county or borough prisons, amounting to 270 or 7·8 per cent., and also in the number remaining at the end of the year, and in the daily average, amounting to 777 or 9·7 per cent., and 637, or 7·9 per cent. respectively. In the number removed to the colonies, the return for 1864-5 shows a decrease of 456, or 48·6 per cent. In the number discharged on tickets-of-leave, there is an increase of 967, or 40 per cent.

CONVICT PRISONS.

The state of the different prisons during the year is shown in the following table :—

Cases of Sickness.

The number of deaths among the males (87) is the same as shown in the preceding returns. Among the females there is an increase of 1. In 1864-5, the deaths among the males were 1 in 101·9 of the total number of males; among the females, 1 in 70·4. In the preceding period the proportions were, among the males, 1 in 110; among the females, 1 in 71.

The cases of sickness appear to have been less frequent in proportion to the number of convicts in 1864-5 than in the preceding year.

The cases of insanity were fewer among the females; but more numerous, and consequently the proportion considerably higher, among the males.

Prison Punishments.

There were 57 cases of corporal punishment, against 62 in the preceding period; 2,898 cases of confinement in solitary or dark cells, against 1,421; 4,498 stoppages of diet, against 4,281; and 3,365 other punishments against 3,556.

Establishments of the Prisons.

In the total number of officers, &c., male and female, there is a decrease of eight. There was an addition of two to the number of chaplains, with an increase of four in the number of subordinate officers; but a decrease in each of the other ranks.

The following are the numbers for the whole of the prisons as shown in the return for 1864-5 :—

	Males.	Females.	TOTAL.
Governors and deputy governors - - -	17	5	22

As compared with the year ended the 29th September 1863, the total gross expenditure for the 10 convict prisons (Broadmoor being omitted) for the year ended the 31st March 1865, shows a decrease of 5,273*l.* 14*s.* 1*d.* In the gross annual cost per convict, there is an increase of 5*s.* 6*d.*

Deducting from the gross total expenditure for the year ending 31st March 1865 the amount received for rent of officers' quarters, sale of old stores, &c. viz., 8,464*l.* 5*s.* 5*d.*, and 6,109*l.* 6*s.* 9*d.*, the value of productive labour paid over to the Exchequer, making together 14,573*l.* 12*s.* 2*d.*, the net total expenditure for the ten prisons will be 232,653*l.* 12*s.* 10*d.*, giving 31*l.* 7*s.* 3*d.* as the net annual charge per prisoner. This average per prisoner for the year ended 29th September 1863 was 29*l.* 12*s.* 10*d.*, the net total expenditure for that year having been 238,775*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*

For Wakefield, Leicester, and Leeds, where convicts were in confinement in the preceding year, and for the other prisons named below to which convicts were sent during the year 1864, under contract with Government, Returns have been made for the year ended the 29th September of that year, from which the following particulars are abstracted.

They are subsequently removed to the Public Works Prisons to complete their sentences; or to the invalid establishments where necessary. The Returns show the cases of sickness

From Taunton, where the convicts had only recently been sent, no statement of expenses has been furnished. The earnings of the prisoners and the deductions for officers' quarters are stated to have amounted, at Wakefield, to 1,750*l.* 2*s.* 7*d.*; at Leicester, to 42*l.* 1*s.* 1*d.*; at Leeds, to 7*l.* 15*s.*; at Aylesbury, to 6*l.* 5*s.*; at Northampton, to 129*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.*; making a total of 1,935*l.* 6*s.* 2*d.* in diminution of the gross expenditure at those prisons.

(Tables, pp. 90, 91.)

Detailed information with respect to the convicts in these prisons for the year ended 29th September 1864 will be found in the tables, arranged in the same form as the information with regard to the Convict Prisons. From further Returns received from these Prisons it appears that the number of convicts in confinement in each on the 31st of March 1865 was as follows: Wakefield, 313; Leicester, 143; Leeds, none, the contract being discontinued, and the convicts removed to other prisons; Bedford, 70; Aylesbury, 49; Northampton, 45; Nottingham, 40; Taunton 74; making a total of 734.

These, added to the number already shown as remaining in custody in the convict prisons, will give the following as the total number of convicts undergoing punishment of penal servitude in England on the 31st March 1865, viz.:

Males.	Females.	Total.
6,701	1,274	7,975

To complete the number under sentence of penal servitude at that date, are wanting those not yet removed from local prisons, and this class, immediately after the Assizes in the different counties, must amount to a considerable number.

REFORMATORY SCHOOLS, (Tables, pp. 92, 93.)

In the reformatory schools certified by the Secretary of State pursuant to the statutes 17 & 18 Vict. c. 86. and 19 & 20 Vict. c. 109. no change took place in the year ended 29th September 1864. Returns have been furnished from the same schools for this as for the preceding year, and will be found abstracted in the usual form in the Tables of 1864. From the year 1854, in which, after the passing of the first above-mentioned statute, one school only was certified, the number was increased annually, with the exception of 1860, up to 1862, when it was highest, having been in that year 52. In 1863 the certificate of one school was surrendered, the number for that and the following year having therefore been 51.

The commitments to these schools are made either upon summary conviction before Justices, or after trial in the Criminal Courts, the offenders being sent for a short previous term to prison, and may be for periods of not less than two, and not exceeding five years. The age of those to be committed is limited to under 16 years, and provision is made for their teaching, discipline, and industrial training. The convicted offenders are not required to be separated from the unconvicted inmates of the school, but they are liable to imprisonment for any attempt to escape.

REFORMATORY
SCHOOLS.

Subject to these conditions, since the passing of the Act of 1854, 8,939 youthful offenders, 7,319 males, and 1,620 females, have been committed to the certified reformatories; the largest numbers, 1,237, 1,001 males and 236 females, and 1,119, 960 males and 159 females, having been committed respectively in the years 1861 and 1857. This large number of youths has thus been early withdrawn from the temptation to a continuance in crime, removed from the influence of parents generally criminal and from the company of bad associates, placed rather under the restraints of a school than subjected to the punishment of a prison, and afforded the opportunity of useful instruction, principally at the cost of the Government.

The number committed during the year ended the 29th of September 1864 was 1,007, 797 males and 210 females. This number exceeds by 97 (or 10·6 per cent.), 64 males and 33 females, the number for the preceding year, and by 214, or 26·9 per cent., the average of the numbers for the ten years ending with 1863.

The following were the terms of detention of the 1,007 offenders committed in 1864:—

1,007	1,007

Of the total number, 256 or 25·4 per cent. were committed after conviction on indictment; 751, or 74·6 per cent., on summary conviction; 83·1 per cent. of the commitments were for larcenies and attempts to steal; 4·6 per cent. were for house-breaking or shop-breaking. These proportions in the preceding year were respectively 23·2 per cent. after conviction on indictment; 76·8 per cent. on summary conviction; 88·3 per cent. for larcenies, &c.; 3·7 per cent. for housebreaking, &c.

The disposal of the offenders in custody in the reformatories, or committed during the year, was as follows:—

	Males.	Females.	TOTAL.

The number discharged by order of the Secretary of State is less by 14 than the number in the preceding year. The number discharged on completion of their term exceeds the number in the preceding year by 116, or 31·7 per cent.; the total number discharged during the year was less than the number committed only by three. The proportion borne by the number discharged to the number committed within the year shows an increase from year to year. For the last year it is 99·7 per cent.; for the preceding year it was 99·2 per cent.; in 1862 it was 90·2 per cent.; in 1861, 64·2; in 1860, 51·9; in 1859, 47·8.

Under absconded and not retaken, there is a decrease of 8 as compared with the preceding year; the number committed to prison also, was less by 13. In the number of deaths there was an increase of 12. The number remaining under detention at the close of the year shows a decrease of 82, or 2·5 per cent., as compared with the number at the close of the preceding year.

Previous commitments.

The following are the classified numbers of the previous commitments to prison of the offenders committed to the reformatories in 1864:—

	Males.	Females.	TOTAL.
Once	287	50	337
Twice	130	12	142

Seven times and above five times	1	—	1
Ten times and above seven times	—	—	—
Total	469	63	532

Of the total number sent to the reformatories during the year it appears that upwards of half (52·8 per cent.) had been in prison, more or less frequently, previously to the commission of the offence for which they were sent to the reformatory, 47·2 per cent. being therefore the proportion of those who were sent to the reformatories on their first conviction. In the preceding year these proportions were nearly reversed, having been 47·8 per cent. for those who had been previously in prison, and 52·2 for those who were sent to reformatories on their first conviction. Of those who had been previously in prison, 20 were 10 years of age or under, six of these having been twice, and one three times previously committed: 37 were between 10 and 11 years of age; 52 between 11 and 12; 104 between 12 and 13; 130 between 13 and 14; 106 between 14 and 15: and 51 between 15 and 16.

Ages and Instruction.

The following table shows the ages and the state of instruction when received into the reformatories, of those committed in 1864.

	Aged 10 and under.	11.	12.	13.	14.	15.	16.

Of the males committed during the year, 52·2 per cent. could neither read nor write; 42·7 per cent. could read or read and write imperfectly; and 5·1 per cent. could read and write well. With regard to the females the proportions were 53·8 per cent. who could neither read nor write; 35·2 per cent. who could read or read and write imperfectly; 8·5 per cent. who could read and write well, with a few whose state of instruction was not ascertained.

In the preceding year the proportions were, with regard to the males, 45·9 per cent., 4·67, and 5·4; with regard to the females 50·5, 43·7, and 6·2 per cent., with one male of superior instruction.

The total amount payable by Her Majesty's Treasury for the year on account of the reformatory was 47,307*l.* 6*s.* 11*d.*, being less than the amount for the preceding year by 4,387*l.* 12*s.* 8*d.*, or 8·5 per cent. The sum of 2,256*l.* 6*s.* 7*d.* was recovered from the parents in diminution of the expenses, this sum exceeding the amount recovered in the preceding year by 12*l.* 17*s.* 5*d.*

REFORMATORY
Costs.

The Middlesex Industrial School at Feltham is similar in principle to the reformatories, but is established under a special Act, and differs from them in the particular that offenders may be sent to the school, whether after trial or summarily by the Magistrates, without intervening commitment to prison. The school is provided for males only, and the commitments are limited to periods of not less than one year, and not exceeding three years, and to offenders under 14 years of age.

Middlesex Industrial School,

In 1859, the first year of the opening of the school, from January to the 30th September, 75 boys were committed; in the following twelve months there were 191 commitments; in 1860-1 there were 189; in 1861-2, 208; in 1862-3, 186; and in the following twelve months, to 30th September 1864, 187.

Of the commitments made during the last-mentioned period, 23, or 12·3 per cent., were after trial; 164, or 87·7 per cent., on summary proceedings; three were for two years or under; 184 for the full term of three years.

Of those committed, 76 had lost one parent; 15 had lost both; five had been deserted by one parent; of one, one parent was in prison; two were otherwise uncontrolled by one parent; 78 were under control of one parent; 91 of both; 104 could neither read nor write; 81 could read or read and write imperfectly; two could read and write well; 42 had been once previously in prison; 14, twice; six, three times; 125 had not been previously committed. At the commencement of the year there were 554 boys in custody, and one was received from prison after confinement for refractory conduct, making, with the 187 committed, 742 who were under detention during the year.

During the year, one was discharged by order of the Secretary of State, 182 on completion of their term; three absconded and were not retaken; one was removed to a lunatic asylum; and of one the sentence was revised; making 188 removed from the school, and leaving under detention at the close of the year 554, the same number as at its commencement. In the preceding year the commitments were 186.

Of those committed in 1864, 147, or 78 per cent. of the whole committals were for larcenies; 16 were for vagrancy; and the remainder for various offences.

The number of certified industrial schools in which children committed pursuant to the Act of 1861, or the former Acts, were under detention during the year was 29, as shown in the table. Two of the number, however, have ceased to receive children under the Acts, those under detention in them having been removed, while two others not named last year, to which children have since been sent, are added to the list. The number of schools in which children committed under the Acts remained at the close of the year, that is on the 29th September 1864, was 27, and the number of children remaining under detention at that date was 855,—637 males, and 218 females. Of these, 340, 276 males and 64 females, were committed during the year (ten others being stated in the returns to have been received from other industrial schools), being an increase of 32 in the number of commitments as compared with the number for the preceding year. The total costs of the maintenance of the children as shown in the returns was 14,845*l.* 14*s.* 10*d.*, being an increase of 2,698*l.* 8*s.* 11*d.* on the amount shown for the preceding year. For the York ragged and industrial school the costs are not given, as the manager states that the accounts for the ragged and committed children are not kept distinct. The amount received of parents was 398*l.* 9*s.* 3*d.*; in 1863 the amount was 153*l.* 5*s.* 4*d.*; in 1862 it was 7*l.* 15*s.* 4*d.*

Industrial Schools,

The number of Asylums in which Criminal Lunatics were under detention, as shown in the Returns for the year ended the 29th September 1864, was sixty-three, being an increase of four upon the number for the preceding year. The thirty-seven County Asylums continue without change. The additions are the Hull Borough Asylum; Barnwood House Hospital, near Gloucester; Bethnal House in the Metropolitan District; and Dunston Lodge, a provincial licensed house. The following table shows the number and disposal of the lunatics under detention during the year, in the whole of these Asylums :—

	Males.	Females.	TOTAL.

Remaining under detention - - - -	784	224	1,008

The number under detention at the commencement of the year was greater than the number under detention at the commencement of the preceding year by 56. In the number committed during the year there is an increase of twenty, or nearly 12·0 per cent., as compared with the number for the preceding year. The deaths were fewer by eleven than in the preceding year; the proportion of deaths to the number under detention during the year was considerably lower; in 1863, it was one in 21·6, in 1864, one in 31·2. In the number remaining under detention at the close of the year there is an increase of 79, or 8·5 per cent. upon the number remaining at the close of the preceding year, following an increase of 56, or 6·5 per cent. in 1863, on the number in 1862.

Offences with which charged,

The offences with which the lunatics under detention during the year were charged are shown in the usual detail in the Table. The number of those for murder, attempts to murder, stabbing, and manslaughter, with, in addition, ten cases of concealment of birth and infanticide, is 361, or 36·8 per cent. of the whole number under detention. For larceny and petty thefts, there were 311 under detention, or 30·8 per cent. of the whole. Of the remainder the largest proportion were for various offences of violence.

Judgments under which detained.

The following abstract shows the original judgments or orders under which the lunatics in custody in 1864 were detained, with the proportion per cent. which the numbers under each bear to the whole.

Judgments or Orders.	Number.	Proportion per. cent. to whole Number.
Found insane - - - - -	196	15·0
Acquitted insane - - - - -	224	17·0
Insane, committed by Justices - - - -	88	6·7
Dangerous lunatics, committed by Justices - -	3	0·3
Convicts becoming insane after trial, and removed by order of the Secretary of State - - - -	798	61·0
	1,309	100·0

These proportions vary only in a slight degree in the two years. The two first are respectively 1·9 and 0·6 per cent. higher in 1864 than in 1863, the third and fifth respectively 1·0 and 1·7 per cent. lower.

Periods of Detention.

The table shows also the periods for which those detained for each crime have been under detention, with the number under each period of detention.

The number under each period, and the proportion per cent. borne by each number to the whole, are as follows:—

CRIMINAL
LUNATICS.

	Number of Persons.	Proportion per cent. to whole number.
One year and under	222	16·9
Two years and above one	168	12·8
Three years and above two	167	12·8
Five years and above three	203	15·5
Ten years and above five	272	20·8
Fifteen years and above ten	124	9·5
Twenty years and above fifteen	76	5·8
Above twenty years	77	5·9
	1,309	100·0

In 1863 the proportion of those who had been more than twenty years under detention was 4·0 per cent.; of those twenty years and above fifteen 4·7; of those fifteen years and above ten 8·9; of those under ten years in custody the proportion was highest in 1863, viz. 82·4 per cent., against 78·8 in 1864. For the first and third periods only was the proportion slightly lower in 1863, having been 16·8 for the first, and 12·3 for the third; for each of the three remaining periods it was highest in that year.

The total charges show an increase of 18,962*l.* 16*s.* 5*d.*, or upwards of 63 per cent. on the amount shown in the Returns for 1863. Costs, (Table,
p. 96.)

In the amount chargeable to the county rate there is an increase of 150*l.* 9*s.* 5*d.*, in the amount chargeable to private funds, also, an increase of 395*l.* 16*s.* 5*d.*, in the amounts chargeable on borough rates, and on parish rates there is a decrease respectively of 85*l.* 18*s.*, and 416*l.* 17*s.* 2*d.* It is in the sum chargeable to the public revenue that the great increase has taken place, amounting under this head to 18,919*l.* 6*s.* The Broadmoor Asylum having been only partially brought into use in the year 1863, the Returns for that year contained no information as to the costs of that Asylum; the full charges for 1864 are shown, and amount to 19,070*l.* 18*s.* 9*d.* At Fisherton House also, where the expenses are principally chargeable to the public revenue, the amount under this head shows an increase of 1,538*l.* 12*s.* 11*d.* It will be seen by reference to the Table that Bethlem Hospital, long known as the place of detention for Criminal Lunatics, has been abandoned for this purpose, the whole of this class of lunatics, with one exception, being removed. A reduction of 1,686*l.* 15*s.* 6*d.* appears in consequence, for the past, as compared with the preceding year, in the costs of that establishment chargeable to the public revenue.

The following are the amounts chargeable to each of the different funds from which the costs are defrayed, with the total charge for the year, and the proportion per cent. which each amount bears to the total, for the whole number of criminal lunatics:—

County Rates	4,569	18	1	9·3
Borough Rates or Funds	1,166	5	2	2·4
Parish Rates	5,517	19	7	11·3
Public Revenues	35,179	14	7	71·9
Private Funds	2,476	5	11	5·1
Total	48,910	3	4	100·0

The proportions per cent. vary considerably as compared with the preceding year. In 1863, the amount chargeable to the county rate was 14·8 per cent. of the whole, the amount chargeable to the borough funds was 4·2; the amount chargeable to parish rates, 19·8; the amount chargeable to private funds, 6·9; the amount chargeable to the public revenue 54·3, or 17·6 per cent. less than in 1864.

In the cost per head little change is observable. Among the county asylums Costs per head. Derbyshire and Dorset continue to show respectively the highest and the lowest charges, viz. 29*l.* 12*s.* 8*d.* and 17*l.* 8*s.* 0*d.*, against 29*l.* 11*s.* 1*d.* and 15*l.* 11*s.* 8*d.* in 1863. The tendency generally is to a decrease; for the 37 county asylums the average is 22*l.* 12*s.* 11*d.*, being lower than for preceding years; in 1863 it was 23*l.* 5*s.*; in 1862, 23*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*; in 1861, 23*l.* 17*s.* 9*d.*

Among the licensed metropolitan and provincial houses cases still continue where high charges are paid from private funds. In the Medway Union the one case which has been remarked in former years remains at the charge of 13*l.* per annum.

* The return for this borough is for that portion of the year ended 2nd May 1864, at which date the borough, for Police purposes, was amalgamated with the County of Derby.

Note.—The boroughs of Derby and Liverpool have been certified to Her Majesty's Treasury as entitled to the proportion of their expenses allowed under the Act, but up to the present time, the amounts had not been notified: the sums placed opposite the names of those boroughs are the amounts which were paid for the previous year.

JUDICIAL STATISTICS.

PART II.

ENGLAND AND WALES.

COMMON LAW—EQUITY—CIVIL AND CANON LAW.

RETURNS FOR THE YEAR 1864,

Compiled by Order of Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department,

COMPRISING

The Superior Courts of Common Law, the County Courts, and other Courts for the Recovery of Small Debts.

The Bankruptcy Courts.

The Courts of Equity, the Court of Probate, the Court of Divorce and Matrimonial Causes, the Admiralty Court, and the Ecclesiastical Courts.

The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, and the Judicial Proceedings of the House of Lords.

PART II.

INTRODUCTORY AND EXPLANATORY REMARKS.

For all the Courts of Civil Jurisdiction, the proceedings of which have been included in the Judicial Statistics of preceding years, similar information is given for 1864, in the second part of the present volume.

The tables are arranged in the same order as heretofore, and are preceded by the usual summaries and comparisons in the preliminary Report, the numbers for 1863, and in almost every case, the average of the numbers for the five years 1859 to 1863, inclusive, being shown in comparison with the numbers for 1864.

In the preliminary part is given also (p. ix, after the statement of the Suitor's Fund), a further statement of fees, in respect of the Common Law Courts, and of the office of the Queen's Remembrancer.

An additional statement furnished by the Accountant-General of the Court of Chancery, also, is inserted after the return of the Suitor's Fund and Suitor's Fee Fund of that Court.

And with regard to the High Court of Admiralty, an explanation is given, as made by the Registrar, of the reasons for which it is not possible for him to furnish a return of the Fee Fund of the Court, similar to that made from the annual account presented to Parliament by the Accountant-General, under the Act of the 5th Vict. c. 5, of the Suitor's Fund and the Suitor's Fee Fund of the Court of Chancery.

Returns are given in the tables in the usual form, as furnished by the different officers, showing the proceedings in the three Superior Courts of Common Law, in the same detail for 1864 as for preceding years. The return of certain proceedings under the peculiar jurisdiction of the Court of Queen's Bench on the Crown side, made by the Queen's Coroner and Attorney, and Master of the Crown office, forms the first table. These officers have added to their return, the same explanation as given by them in previous years, to the effect that the casting of the several columns will not give an adequate notion of the total proceedings, inasmuch as the same matters appear more than once in the same column. They state that the real account of total proceedings for 1864, is as given below. The corresponding numbers for 1863, are shown for comparison, with the average of the numbers for the five years from 1859 to 1863 inclusive.

COMMON LAW
COURTS.

The nature of the offences tried on the Crown side of the Court of Queen's Bench is, as stated by the officers of the court, conspiracies, perjuries, assaults, nuisances, and other misdemeanors, and occasionally, but rarely, felonies. It is further explained that, as the trials take place at Nisi Prius in London and Middlesex, and at the assizes for the other counties, there is not any record kept in the Crown office of the number of causes or of the number of persons tried, or of the judgments, except in cases in which judgment is entered up in the Queen's Bench, and except where parties are fined. No record is kept in the Crown office of persons sentenced to be imprisoned, except where the sentences are passed by the Court in Banc, which very seldom occurs now, as sentences are, by virtue of Stat. 11th G. iv. and 1st W. iv., c. 70, almost invariably passed by the judge at Nisi Prius, and not afterwards entered up of record in the Queen's Bench.

In 1864, sentence of "fined" appears to have been recorded in three cases, viz., the Midland Railway Company 300*l.*; John Jones, 50*l.*; and Robert Highat, 50*l.*

Fees in the Crown
office.

The total amount of fees received in the Crown office in 1864, was 578*l.* 9*s.* 9*d.* The amount was 607*l.* 8*s.* 4*d.* in 1863, and higher in each of the four preceding years. No fees are now allowed to be taken for duties performed for any of the Government Departments.

Plea side.

The chief proceedings on the Plea side in each of the three Superior Courts of Common Law, as shown in the returns furnished by the Masters, the form of procedure being similar in the three Courts, are stated in the following summary for 1864. The totals of the matters under each heading are added for 1863, and the average of the totals of the five years 1859 to 1863, inclusive.

Bills of costs taxed.

No statement is given in the returns for the Courts of Queen's Bench or Common Pleas of the number of Bills of Costs taxed in the year 1864. In the Court of Exchequer, the number, exclusive of bills taxed under the statute, was 7,692, being an increase of 192, or 2·5 per cent. upon the number for the preceding year.

Causes for trial, trials, &c.

The number of causes entered for trial, the number of trials, and the number withdrawn, struck out, &c., are shown, with regard to the Courts at Westminster, in the returns furnished by the Associates of each of the three Courts, and with regard to the proceedings at Nisi Prius in the returns made by the Clerks of Assize and Clerks of the Crown.

In the following abstract, the numbers for 1864, are given for each of the three Courts, with the totals. The totals under each head are added for 1863, and the average of the totals for the five years 1859 to 1863, inclusive.

Judgments.

The Returns furnished by the Masters of the three Superior Courts, after stating the number of causes entered for trial, the number of writs of habeas corpus, and the number of appearances entered for each quarter of the year, next show the number of judgments, under the different terms, as given in the following summary, in the causes tried at Westminster, and in those on Circuit, without distinction. It rests with the parties for whom verdicts are given at Nisi Prius to make application for the return of the issues into the Courts at Westminster, and in some cases a compromise is made after the verdict, and no further proceedings appear.

The following are the judgments as shown in the Returns for 1864, with the total numbers for each Court in 1863, and the average of the totals for the five years 1859 to 1863 inclusive.

The increase extends to each of the three Courts, amounting, for the Queen's Bench, to 965, or 9·3 per cent.; for the Common Pleas to 1,017, or 11·3 per cent.; and for the Court of Exchequer to 839, or 5·8 per cent.

The Returns furnished by the Associates show the result of the causes tried in each of the Courts at Westminster, in each description of suit. The Returns made by the Clerks of Assize, and the Clerks of the Crown for the Counties Palatine, show the results in the causes tried on Circuit, in the different descriptions of suits, and account for the whole of the causes entered for trial on Circuit. The following summary shows the results of the suits both at Westminster and on Circuit for 1864, with the total number for 1863, and the average of the totals for 1859 to 1863 inclusive.

The following summary shows the number of each class of amounts recovered in 1864, in each of the three Superior Courts, and at Nisi Prius. The total amount recovered exceeds by 103,118*l.*, or upwards of 39 per cent., the amount shown in the Returns for 1863.

Issue of the proceedings.

It has been shown that in 1864 the number of writs of summons issued, which represent the suits commenced, was 113,158, and the number of appearances entered 30,116, or 26·6 per cent. of the number of writs issued. It would, therefore, appear that 73·4 per cent. of the cases commenced were uncontested, the defendants at once settling the claims, except where judgment was obtained in default of the entry of an appearance. It appears remarkable in how slight a degree the proportion borne by the number of appearances entered to the number of writs of summons issued varies from year to year. In 1863 it was 27·0 per cent.; in 1862, 26·6 per cent., the same as in 1864; in 1861 it was 25·4; in 1860, 26·2 per cent.

Again, of the cases in which appearances were entered, 3,823 only were entered for trial, the suits being thus reduced by 12·7 per cent. Of the number entered for trial, 2,171, or less than 2 per cent. of the suits commenced, were tried; and of these 11·7 per cent. were undefended.

As has been observed in former years, however, the issue of the suits commenced is not fully represented by the causes brought to trial, or by the appearances entered. The judgments obtained are a further test. Of these, as already shown, there were, under the different forms of procedure, 36,564, leaving 76,594, or 67·7 per cent., as the number and proportion of the suits commenced in which no proceedings were taken beyond the issue of the writ of summons. In 1863 this proportion was 66·3 per cent. Of these cases some may have been settled between the parties after the issue of the writ of summons; some may not have been pursued further by the plaintiff; and in either case they are lost from the record; some may have been left pending, the time which may elapse between the proceedings being uncertain.

For the enforcement of the judgments writs were issued, as already shown, in 25,574, or 69·9 per cent. of the cases. In the preceding year the proportion was 70·4 per cent. of the cases. In 1864, 69·1 per cent. of the writs were to levy upon the goods; 28·3 per cent. were against the person; 1·6 per cent. for possession after recovery in ejectment; the remainder under the different forms before shown. In 1863 these proportions were, respectively, 67·9, 27·6, and 1·8 per cent.

Remanets.

Upon the large amount of procedure which has been shown, the number of remanets under the different descriptions was as follows at the end of each term in 1864, as stated in the returns for the respective Courts.

The Returns furnished by the chamber clerks show the business in the chambers of each of the Judges of the three Superior Courts of Common Law. In the following summary, the totals of the proceedings in the chambers of the five Judges of each Court are given under the different headings for 1864, and the totals under each heading, for all the chambers; with the totals for 1863, and the average of the totals for the five years 1859–63. A comparison of the totals shows little variation from year to year in the number of the proceedings under each head, considering the large amount of business.

The sittings in Banco of the Court of Exchequer in the year 1864, relating to business on the revenue side of the Court are shown, as in preceding years, in a Return furnished by the Queen's Remembrancer, and were as follows,—one judgment on a motion for a new trial argued in 1863,—rule discharged; five special cases; in three of which the decision was for the Crown, in one, judgment was for the defendant, and one was adjourned for judgment; four causes in Equity, in three of which decree was for the Crown, and one was adjourned for judgment; five motions in Court, and 76 motions in Court (without argument) touching legacy and

On the 9th of November the customary ceremony takes place of the presentation of the Lord Mayor of London to the Barons of the Court of Exchequer; and on the morrow of Saint Martin (12th November), on the assembling of the Council in the Court of Exchequer, nomination takes place of the Sheriffs for England and Wales.

Suitors' fund.

The statements furnished by the Masters prove an increase in the receipts to the suitors' fund, and in the fees levied in 1864, as compared with the preceding year, amounting with regard to the former to 41·6, and with regard to the latter to 8·1 per cent.

In the amount disbursed for the Court of Common Pleas is included, it is stated, a sum of 284*l.* 13*s.* 0*d.* paid to a tipstaff of the Queen's Bench Prison by direction of the Treasury. The following are the amounts, as shown in the Returns for each of the three Courts, for 1864 with the totals for 1863.

The returns for the year 1864 furnished by the treasurers of County Courts show in the usual form for each of the 59 County Court circuits the proceedings for the recovery of debts, the proceedings under the Charitable Trusts Acts, and the proceedings under the Act of 20 & 21 Vict. for granting protection to wives deserted by their husbands.

The proceedings in these Courts under the Bankruptcy Act, 1861, for the year ending 11th October 1864, will be found in the tables under the head of Bankruptcy, as shown in the returns prepared by the Chief Registrar of the Court of Bankruptcy and presented to Parliament pursuant to the Act. The proceedings in Bankruptcy are also further adverted to at pages xii to xv.

The proceedings under the jurisdiction of the County Courts in contentious cases relating to probates or administrations of wills are given as usual in the returns from the District Courts of Probate.

In the following abstract are shown the number of plaints in the whole of the County Courts and the totals under each heading in the returns, with reference to the recovery of debts, for the year 1864, in comparison with the preceding year, and with the average of the years 1859-63, inclusive.

The number of days the Courts sat in each circuit is shown in the Table, the total number of days for the whole 59 circuits being 7,796, which, calculating on the number of causes determined, gives an average of 51.5 causes for each day of sitting. In 1863 the total number of days was 7,931; but the number of causes determined having been so much greater than in 1864, the average for each day of sitting was 55.6. In each year the number of days of sitting in some of the circuits is greatly higher than the general average.

In 1864 there were ten appeals; 25 orders to stay proceedings; and 88 cases of certiorari to remove proceedings. In 1863 the numbers were respectively 15, 41, and 68; in 1862, 12, 47, and 81.

The number of plaints entered continues to show a considerable decrease. The decrease in 1864 amounts to 60,773, or 7.6 per cent., as compared with 1863; in 1863 there was a decrease of 48,034, or 5.7 per cent., as compared with 1862; and in 1862 a decrease of 56,669, or 6.3 per cent., as compared with 1861. The number in 1864 is less than the average of the five years 1859-63 by 71,020, or 8.7 per cent.

The causes determined in Court were in the proportion of 54.4 per cent. to the total number of plaints entered, leaving 45.6 per cent. as the number of those settled out of Court. In 1863 these proportions were 55.3 and 44.7 per cent. Of the judgments given 95.9 per cent. were for the plaintiff; 2.1 per cent. were non-suits; and 2.2 per cent. were for the defendant; for 1863 these proportions are 95.9:—2.1, and 2.0 per cent. The proportionate number of debtors imprisoned is slightly lower; the proportionate number of executions issued somewhat higher for 1864 than for the preceding year. As compared with the average of five years, the proportionate number of debtors imprisoned is slightly lower; the proportionate number of executions is 6 per cent. higher.

In the amount sought to be recovered as well as in the number of complaints entered a decrease is shown. As compared with 1863, this decrease is 82,365*l.*, or 4·4 per cent., and follows a still larger decrease in each of the two preceding years. As compared with 1861, the decrease in 1864 is 407,953*l.*, or 18·8 per cent. As compared with the average of the five years 1859–63., it is 170,573*l.*, or 8·8 per cent. The total amount gives an average of 2*l.* 7*s.* 8*d.* for each complaint entered: for 1863, this average was 2*l.* 6*s.* 1*d.*: for 1862 it was 2*l.* 7*s.* 4*d.*: for the average of the five years 1859–63, it is 2*l.* 7*s.* 8*d.*

In the amount of debt for which judgments were obtained there is an increase of 41,179*l.*, or 4·3 per cent.: this amount is 55·7 per cent. of the amount for which complaints were entered, which is a higher proportion than in the preceding year.

The amount of costs, and the amount of fees both show a decrease in 1864, following a decrease in each of the two preceding years, and being less than the average of the five years.

The costs and fees together give an average of 14*s.* 1*d.* for each cause determined.

Of the cases in which judgments were obtained, those for 40*s.* and under were 69·1 per cent, which is about the usual proportion.

Fifty-three warrants were issued for the arrest of absconding debtors; in three cases bail was given; in seven the debt and costs were paid; and seven of the warrants were suspended.

Under the Charitable Trusts Act two matters only were heard and two orders made.

Under the 21st & 22nd Vict. c. 85 protection orders to wives deserted by their husbands were registered in 590 cases; in two cases the orders were discharged. In 1863, 501 of these orders were registered; in 1862, 532; in 1861, 631; in 1860, 611; in 1859, 719.

The names of the whole of the Local Civil Courts of ancient jurisdiction, 33 in number, which were included in the statistics of 1863 are given also in the tables of the present year. In nine of these however it will be seen that no proceedings took place, and in several of the remaining 24 the amount of business was inconsiderable. In several of the Courts the cases were numerous, and the amounts sought to be recovered large. In the Sheriff's Court of London 10,989 complaints were entered for 38,292*l.*; of these 10,857 were for amounts not exceeding 20*l.*; 132 were for amounts above that sum. In the Court of Passage at Liverpool there were 3,701 complaints entered, for a total amount of 202,466*l.*; of these 1,795 were for sums not exceeding 20*l.*, 1,906 were for sums above 20*l.* At Manchester, and at Salford, where the proceedings are commenced by writ of summons, there were respectively 3,912 and 2,876 cases, for 46,270*l.* and 31,613*l.*

Borough, Hundred, and Manorial Courts, (Table, p. 12.)

In the total number of proceedings commenced in all these Courts, viz, 28,411, there is a decrease of 640, or 2·2 per cent., as compared with the number in 1863, following a decrease of 1,736, or 5·7 per cent., in the latter mentioned year, as compared with the number in 1862.

In the amount sought to be recovered (exclusive of the amount at Liverpool) viz., 169,414*l.*, there is an increase of 9,929*l.*, or 6·2 per cent., as compared with the amount in 1863.

The Registrar of the High Court of Admiralty of England has furnished a return showing the proceedings of the Court for the year ended the 31st December 1864, in the same form as the return for the preceding year, with a separate statement of the proceedings in the office of the Marshal. It having been suggested that a return of the fee fund of the Court similar to that given for the Court of Chancery might be furnished, the Registrar has explained that, owing to the different arrangements in the two Courts, it is not possible to make such return. In the Court of Chancery, money paid in by suitors remains in the custody of the Court, which invests it, and receives the interest on the investments. On the other hand, in the Court of Admiralty the Registrar is not allowed to retain to the credit of his account at the Bank of England a larger sum at any time than 5,000*l.*, and all monies in excess of that sum are paid over by him to the Paymaster General, who employs the amounts thus received in the public service. In the Court of Chancery, therefore, it is easy to return the amount realized from the investment of Suitor's monies, while in the Court of Admiralty it is not possible to do so. Again, in the Court of Chancery all monies paid on account of court stamps, are received and retained by the Court, and thereout are paid the salaries of the officers and other expenses of the Court. In the Court of Admiralty such monies are paid to the Commissioners of Inland Revenue, and the salaries of the officers and other expenses are annually voted by Parliament.

In 10 of the appeals heard and determined in 1864 no costs were given; in 30 costs were given. These numbers were the same in 1863.

The total amount of costs taxed (in 28 appeals in which the costs on one side only were taxed by the Registrar) was 6,484*l.* 7*s.* 9*d.*, giving an average of 231*l.* 11*s.* 8*d.* in each case. In the preceding year the average was 263*l.* 10*s.* 6*d.* for each case.

In 1864, four applications were lodged for the extension or confirming of Letters Patent, two of which were granted. The total amount of Council Office fees on Patent cases was 38*l.* 5*s.* 0*d.* During the year one matter was specially referred.

The amount of Council Office fees on appeals was 732*l.* 18*s.* 6*d.*; in 1863 the amount was 824*l.* 14*s.* 6*d.*; in 1862 it was 1,381*l.* 11*s.* 0*d.*

In addition to the foregoing business the Lords of the Judicial Committee of Privy Council heard during the year 19 petitions in appeals (interlocutory) argued by counsel.

The return furnished in the usual form by the Clerk of the Parliaments shows the judicial proceedings of the House of Lords during the session of 1864. HOUSE OF LORDS, (Table, p. 28.)

In the following abstract the number of cases from each of the Courts named is stated, in comparison with the number for the preceding year, and with the average of the numbers for the five years 1858 to 1862 inclusive.

JUDICIAL STATISTICS.

PART I.

POLICE—CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS—PRISONS.

PART II.

COMMON LAW—EQUITY—CIVIL AND CANON LAW.

Presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty.

DUBLIN:

PRINTED BY ALEXANDER THOM, 87 & 88, ABBEY-STREET,

FOR HER MAJESTY'S STATIONERY OFFICE.

1865.

Dublin, 30th June, 1865.

SIR,

I have the honour to transmit for the information of His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, the Judicial and Criminal Statistics of Ireland for the year 1864, with explanatory observations on the different Tables.

The Police Returns are more complete than those of last year; the defect which existed in some of the returns for 1863 in classifying the offences of an indictable character disposed of summarily has been obviated by improved forms of return.

The statistics as to the character of the persons charged are also more complete. The Dublin Metropolitan Police have, since last September, collected this information, and their return, for one quarter, is given in addition to the Constabulary Returns for the entire year. The arrangements that have been made will enable the Police Statistics for 1865 to be quite complete.

The Coroners' returns, though more perfect for 1864 than for 1863, are still incomplete in some of the particulars required; and it seems necessary to make some arrangement for having the Coroners supplied with forms for recording, as each inquest is held, the necessary details.

The Statistics of the Juror Sessions have been collected for the first time, and added to the Statistics of the proceedings of the Criminal and other Courts.

Improvements have been introduced in the Prison Statistics. The birth-place and occupation of the prisoners have been ascertained and given for 1864, so as to compare with the English Statistics under these heads. The other Prison Tables, compiled from information collected in the Office of the Inspectors-General of Prisons, have been condensed and re-arranged, with some additional information obtained through this department, so as to correspond more closely and compare more directly with the English Statistics of Prisons.

Improved forms having been adopted for the collection of the Statistics of Criminal Lunatics and Insane Persons confined as Criminals in Gaols and Asylums, the information on this subject is much more satisfactory for 1864 than for the preceding year.

The returns of the business of the Superior Courts of Common Law and of Circuit business, which omitted some details for 1863, are complete for 1864.

From only nine out of the thirty-eight Courts of the Chairmen of Counties and Recorders in Ireland are the returns complete in all the particulars required for comparison with the English Statistics. The making up of these returns has generally devolved on the Deputies of the Clerks of the Peace, there being no officer in Ireland corresponding to the Treasurer of the County Courts in England and Wales.

No returns have been received from the High Court of Admiralty in Ireland.

The return as to the business of the Official Assignees in Bankruptcy and Insolvency is wanting. These officers are required by the Irish Bankrupt and Insolvent Act, 1857, (20 & 21 Vic., c. 60, s. 68), to furnish most elaborate returns, which are presented to Parliament, but being extremely voluminous are not printed. If power were given to the Lord Lieutenant in Council to simplify the forms of return required of the Official Assignees in Bankruptcy and Insolvency, the labour spent upon the unpublished returns might be applied in supplying information in a condensed form for the Judicial Statistics that would compare with the English Statistics on this subject.

I have to represent to His Excellency the promptness with which the returns have, with rare exceptions, been furnished, and the courtesy of the officers making the returns in supplying explanations when required.

I have the honour to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

W. NEILSON HANCOCK.

The Right Hon. SIR ROBERT PEEL, Bart., M.P.,
Chief Secretary for Ireland.

INTRODUCTORY AND EXPLANATORY REPORT.

CONSTABULARY AND POLICE.

CONSTABULARY
AND POLICE.

The police establishments in Ireland are of three kinds: the Constabulary of Ireland, the Dublin Metropolitan Police, and the Local Force in Towns.*

Of these forces, the Constabulary of Ireland extends to towns as well as counties, and so corresponds to the whole County Police and part of the Borough Police Force in England and Wales, and the Police Force in Her Majesty's dockyards; the Dublin Metropolitan Police corresponds to the London Metropolitan Police; and the Local Force in Towns corresponds to the remaining part of the Borough Police Force in England and Wales.

The total Police Force, as shown by the returns, is as follows:—

There has been a slight reduction in the establishment of the Constabulary of Ireland in 1864 as compared with 1863, from 12,337 to 12,146, or of 191, being 1·5 per cent. In the effective strength the reduction has been from 12,141 to 11,812, or 329, being 2·7 per cent. on the effective strength; and in 1864 the number of vacancies in the Force increased from 642 on 1st of January, 1864, to 1,116 on 1st of January, 1865, or of 474, being 3·9 per cent. on the effective strength on 1st January, 1864. The extra Police Force in counties has decreased for the year ended 31st March, 1864, as compared with the year ended 31st March, 1863, from 721 to 685, or 36, being 5 per cent. on the entire number of extra police. This decrease might be expected from the favourable indications of the state of the country as to crime up to March, 1864.

* Some account of the origin of these forces is given in the Judicial Statistics for Ireland, 1863.

† The forms of return for 1863 did not include any reference to Inspectors of Nuisances or Officers of Health, though returns of these officers were made by some towns. The returns for 1864 are consequently more complete under this head.

If the decrease in the establishment and in the effective strength be compared with the probable decrease in the population, we get the following results:—

	Per cent.		Per cent.
Decrease in Establishment, . . .	1·5	Estimated Decrease in Population, . . .	1·2
Decrease in Effective Strength, . . .	2·7

It appears from this comparison that the reduction of the Constabulary has been greater than what would be due to the probable reduction of population.

In the Dublin Metropolitan Police there has been no substantial change in numbers.

In the Local Force there has been an increase from 478, in 1863, to 588, in 1864, amounting to 110, or 23 per cent. Of this increase 40 is due to the formation of a Volunteer Fire Brigade at Ballymena, similar to that existing at Banbridge; 10 arises from an increase in the Dublin Fire Brigade, in preparation for the withdrawal of the parochial fire engines, consequent on the passing of the Vestry Cess Abolition Act of 1864 (27 and 28 Vic., c. 17).

There is an apparent increase of 57 in the number of Officers of Health, Town Sergeants, and Inspectors of Nuisances, from 22 to 79; but this has arisen most probably from the more complete forms of return used for 1864.

Notwithstanding the increase of the Local Police in Ireland and the diminution of the Constabulary, these forces bear very different proportions to the County and Borough Police in England and Wales, as appears from the following summary:—

IRELAND, 1864.
				Number.	Proportion per cent.
Constabulary,	.	.	.	12,146	87·9

Metropolitan and City of London Police,	.	.	.	7,218	31·9
Borough Police,	.	.	.	6,471	28·6
				22,622	100

In order to understand the difference it should be borne in mind that in Ireland the chief towns which are, with one or two exceptions, counties of cities or of towns, and as such have the local tax called county cess, were included in the original Barony Police Force, and are now included in the Irish Constabulary. The only towns which have a purely local force of any extent are Belfast and Londonderry, and these are the only two towns of the same size in Ireland which are not counties of cities or of towns; and in consequence of the Belfast riots in 1864, and the report of the Commissioners to inquire into them, a Bill has been introduced for abolishing the Local Police Force in Belfast, and substituting a new force in connexion with the Constabulary of Ireland.

In instituting a comparison between the Police Forces of Ireland and of England and Wales, the Irish Constabulary and Local Force may be compared with the English Police, in Counties, Boroughs, and Dockyards; and the Dublin Metropolitan Police may be compared with the London Metropolitan Police and the City of London Police added together.

CONSTABULARY
AND POLICE.

The Police Force in 1864 gives for all Ireland the proportion of 1 to every 420 of the population in 1861; for the North Riding of Tipperary, 1 to 202, the highest proportion in Ireland; and for the county of Londonderry, 1 to 974, the lowest proportion.

In the Dublin Metropolitan Police district the Police Force is 1,078, which with 51 Local Force added, makes 1,129 in a population of 335,449, as returned by the Metropolitan Police Commissioners, or 1 to every 297.

The proportion of Police to population in the London district is 1 to 445; in the rest of England and Wales (exclusive of London district), 1 to 1,093; and in all England and Wales, including London district, 1 to 887.

The total cost of the Police Establishments in Ireland, as returned in 1864 and 1863, is as follows:—

It appears from a comparison of these tables that there is a marked difference in the number and division of cost of the Irish and English Police.

The proportions of Police to population in Ireland, 1 to 420 in all Ireland, 1 to 297 in the Dublin Metropolitan Police District, and 1 to 431 in the rest of Ireland, are much larger than 1 to 887, the proportion in all England and Wales, 1 to 445 in the London Metropolitan Police District, and 1 to 1,093 in the rest of England and Wales.

There is an entirely different rule established as to the proportion in which the costs of the Police are paid from the local and general taxes in the two countries. This different rule has arisen in part from the more centralized government of the Irish Constabulary, in part from its semi-military character, and in part from special arrangements made on the repeal of the Corn Laws in 1846.

In connexion with the continuance of this division of contribution the numerous not-strictly-police duties of the Irish Constabulary, stated by Sir Henry Brownrigg, late Inspector-General, in his note to the Judicial Statistics of 1863, are worthy of notice—viz. :—the discharging the duties of the late Revenue Police ; the taking of the Agricultural Statistics annually, and the Census decennially ; the serving and collecting notices and polling papers for the election of poor law guardians ; the escorting convicts and prisoners ; the executing of Loan Fund warrants ; the supervision of convicts on ticket-of-leave ; and the acting as inspectors of weights and measures.

The following table shows the excess in number and in cost of the Irish Police beyond the English proportion of Police to population :—

It appears from this table that the 13,812 Police in Ireland are 8,064 in excess of 5,748, the number in the same proportion to population as in England and Wales in 1863. It also appears that the entire cost of the Irish Police, £770,304 18s. 11d., is £444,643 18s. 11d. in excess of £325,661, the sum which the Police would cost if the force were in the same proportion to population as in England and Wales in 1863.

The following table shows the extent to which the local taxation in Ireland is relieved by the Irish rate of contribution, with regard to the part of the Police that is in the same proportion to population as in England and Wales :—

It appears from these tables that the entire cost of the 8,064 Police in Ireland, which are in excess of the English proportion of Police to population, amounting to £444,643 18s. 11d., is paid for out of the general taxes. It further appears that if the contribution from the local taxes for a force in a similar proportion to population were in the same proportions for the Metropolis and the rest of the country respectively in Ireland as in England the amount of local contribution would be £249,675 13s. instead of 67,325 5s. 5d., showing that the actual relief which Ireland obtains from the general taxes from the Irish rule of contribution for this part of the force is £182,350 7s. 7d. per annum.

The number of the criminal classes is shown by the fourth of the Constabulary and Police Tables, arranged under the same heads as the corresponding English Returns. The information was collected on the same plan, with this slight difference, that the criminal classes in England and Wales were taken in 1863 for the month of September, and the number of vagrants and tramps for a stated night in the month of September; whilst in Ireland, owing to the period when instructions were given for the collection of the Statistics for 1864, it was impossible to have the forms and circulars with the Police in time to make careful observations earlier than November, and the 15th of November was fixed as the night on which to take note of the vagrants and tramps.

Criminal classes
(Table 4, pp. 8-12).

The Irish Returns for 1864 admit of comparison with the English Returns for 1863, and a table is given similar to the one published last year.

In comparing the number of the criminal classes in Ireland in 1864 and 1863, the different method for ascertaining the number of vagrants and tramps is to be borne in mind. In 1863 they were ascertained according to the old method used in England prior to 1863 of taking the average daily number ascertained by the Police in their respective districts during a month; while in 1864 they were ascertained according to the improved method adopted in England in 1863, already explained.

The other criminal classes were ascertained by the same method in Ireland in 1864 as in 1863, save that the month of November was used in 1864, whilst September was used in the Dublin Metropolitan Police district, and December in the rest of Ireland in 1863.

In consequence of the different method adopted, the vagrants and tramps are kept distinct from the other criminal classes in the following comparative table :—

16 years and above,	4,309	3,596	7,905	6,501	1,404	—

It appears from this table that there has been a decrease in all the criminal classes above 16 years of age, except vagrants and tramps, of 725 on 11,528, being 6·3 per cent., or a diminution of 5·1 per cent., allowing for decrease of population.

There has, on the other hand, been an increase in the criminal classes under 16 years of age of 9 prostitutes, 49 known thieves and depredators, and 93 suspected persons. These, deducting the 8 diminution in receivers of stolen goods, make a total increase of juvenile criminal classes of 143 on 862, being 16·6 per cent. As the decrease of population should have led to a falling off of 1·2 per cent., it follows that the real increase of juvenile delinquents has been 17·8 per cent.

In the Judicial Statistics for 1863 the large proportion of juvenile vagrants was noticed ; but from the different way in which the information was collected, as already explained, the results for 1864 and 1863 as to vagrants and tramps are not so directly comparable as the results of the other criminal classes, which were ascertained in both years by exactly the same method.

The comparison of the Irish criminal classes in 1864 with the corresponding classes in England and Wales* in 1863 is shown in the next table.

The lesser number in particular classes of criminals in Ireland is very marked. Thus, suspected persons in Ireland were only 4,155, being 4,625, or 53 per cent. less than the English proportion of 8,780. The known thieves and depredators in Ireland were only 3,125, being 4,452, or 59 per cent. less than the English proportion of 7,579. Prostitutes in Ireland above 16 years of age were 3,391, being 4,017, or 54 per cent. less than the English proportion of 7,408 ; and prostitutes under 16 in Ireland were 55, being 321, or 85 per cent. less than the English proportion of 376.

The unfavourable results of the statistics of the Irish criminal classes as compared with those of England and Wales are—First, the excess of 104, or 11 per cent., by which the 1,082 receivers of stolen goods exceed the English proportion of 978 ; secondly, the excess of 911, or 13 per cent., by which the 7,905 vagrants and tramps above 16 years exceed the English proportion of 6,994 ; and thirdly, the excess of 1,076, or 54 per cent., by which the 3,051 juvenile vagrants and tramps exceed the English proportion of 1,975.

* As this volume was prepared for publication as nearly as possible simultaneously with the English volume, the English volume of Statistics for 1864 was not used for comparison.

The following table shows the total number of criminal classes in Ireland for the year 1864, compared with the corresponding classes in England and Wales for 1863.*

Total of all ages,	22,764	126,136	34,090	—	11,326

It appears from this table that the Irish criminal classes in 1864 were 22,764, being 11,326, or 33 per cent. below 34,090, the number ascertained to be in 1863 in a portion of the population of England and Wales equal to that of Ireland.

The excess of vagrants and tramps of all ages in Ireland, amounting to 1,987, is very small when the difference between the proportion of the poor in receipt of Poor Law Relief in Ireland and in England and Wales is taken into consideration. The average number in receipt of relief in 1864–65, was 55,808 in Workhouses, and 8,748 out-door, or 64,556 in all, being 227,168 less than 291,724†, the number in receipt of relief in 1863 in a portion of the population of England and Wales equal to that of Ireland.‡ The number of juvenile vagrants and tramps may naturally be expected to be greater where there are no industrial schools under the sanction of Parliament, as in Ireland, than where there are 1,231 children in such schools, as, on 29th September, 1863, in England and Wales.

The houses of bad character, as ascertained by the Police in 1864 and 1863, are compared in the following table :—

Houses of bad

Tramps' lodging-houses,	3,627	3,149	478	—
Total houses of bad character,	6,639	6,462	177	—

* The proportion between the reduced population in Ireland in 1863 and increased population in England and Wales in 1863 was 3·67 ; and between the further reduced population in Ireland in 1864 and England and Wales in 1863, 3·72. The proportion 3·7 has been used in both calculations.

pared with those in England and Wales.

The only unfavourable feature in this table is the increase of tramps' lodging-houses, consequent on the increased number of vagrants and tramps already noticed. The other houses of bad character were less numerous in 1864 than in 1863 by 9 per cent.

The following table gives the result of a comparison of the number of houses of bad character in Ireland in 1864 with those in England and Wales in 1863.

Total houses of bad character,	6,639	22,710	6,137	502	—

Ireland appears by this table to have an excess of tramps' lodging-houses and houses of receivers of stolen goods, but to be more favourably circumstanced than England and Wales in respect of houses the resort of thieves and prostitutes, and of brothels and houses of ill-fame.

The following summary gives a comparison of the criminal classes to population on the same plan as in the Statistics for 1863 :—

	Criminal Classes (including Prostitutes).	Prostitutes separately.
Dublin Metropolitan Police district,	2,859 or 1 in 117	1,092 or 1 in 307
Counties of Armagh, Antrim, Down (linen trade and agriculture),	2,307 or 1 in 376	673 or 1 in 1,289
Provinces of Munster and Connaught (agriculture),	8,942 or 1 in 271	886 or 1 in 2,738
Ireland,	22,764 or 1 in 254	3,446 or 1 in 1,682

To judge whether these proportions are satisfactory or not, I add the corresponding proportions for England and Wales :—

	Criminal Classes (including Prostitutes).	Prostitutes separately.
The Metropolis,	1 in 243	1 in 576
Pleasure towns,	1 in 80	1 in 247

Total Criminal Classes.

In order to ascertain the entire number of the criminal classes, it is necessary to add to those at large at any time those in confinement.

The following tables exhibit an estimate of the Irish criminal classes in 1864, as compared with 1863, and with the corresponding estimate in the English statistics for 1863.

It appears from this table that the number of the criminal classes in Ireland in prison and at large (27,926), are less numerous by 14,069, or 34 per cent. than 41,995, the number of the corresponding classes in an equal population in England and Wales.

The number of crimes committed and the number of persons apprehended in Ireland were as follow :—

hensions (Tables

The apprehensions were in the proportion of 62·5 per cent. to the number of crimes committed. In England and Wales in 1863, the apprehensions were in the proportion of 58·2 to the number of crimes committed, which is stated to have been a higher proportion than in any preceding year; and the apprehensions in Ireland were higher than this high proportion.

The statistics of crimes and apprehensions are compared with the corresponding statistics of England and Wales for 1863 in the following tables :—

* In this table the number in Bridewells in Ireland is not included: the number, however, is small, and is more than counterbalanced by the omission of the numbers in Industrial Schools in England and Wales, and the number of military prisoners and debtors in the local prisons in England and Wales.

It has been observed for many years in England that the maximum of crime occurs in the winter three months, October, November, and December. It suggests a matter of inquiry why the same three months should be the minimum in Ireland, and July, August, and September the maximum.

Effect of Belfast Riots.

The indictable offences not disposed of summarily, committed in Ireland in July, August, and September, in 1863, were not a maximum as in 1864, and the increase in these months in 1864, appears to have arisen from the Belfast riots in July and August, 1864. The crimes committed in the Belfast district of the County of Antrim, in the four quarters of each year, were as follows :—

The number of crimes committed so far as known to the police, the number of persons apprehended, and the disposal of them, are all complete this year, and strictly comparable with the English tables.

The want of completeness in the Irish tables for 1863 arose from an ambiguity in the forms of return, in consequence of the forms for indictable offences including as well those indictable offences which were, as those which were not, disposed of summarily. This has been obviated in the returns for 1864.

The following summary gives the number of indictable offences in Ireland not disposed of summarily as compared with the corresponding statistics for England and Wales in 1863:—

Total of 6 classes,	10,865	52,211	14,111	—	3,246

The characteristics of Irish crime indicated by this summary correspond with those observed last year, the most unfavourable features being malicious offences against property, riots, assaults inflicting bodily harm, and other assaults.

In offences against property there is a much smaller number than in a corresponding portion of the population in England and Wales. This arises in part, no doubt, from the much larger quantity of property to tempt thieves in England and Wales, and the much less proportion of police to population, there being only 1 policeman to every 887 in the population, instead of 1 to every 420, as in Ireland.

In the offences of attempts to murder, shooting at, wounding, stabbing, &c., to do bodily harm, the Irish Statistics are more favourable than the English; as also in manslaughter, unnatural offences, rape and immoral offences, in perjury, and in attempts to commit suicide.

The Police Statistics as to murder show 42 in Ireland, as compared with 32 in a corresponding population in England and Wales in 1863. But the Police Statistics as to murder do not in either country correspond with the statistics disclosed by the Coroners' Returns. Some of the Police Returns in Ireland expressly include infanticide under the head of murder, and the difference may have arisen from others omitting infanticide.

The Coroners' Forms in both countries are expressly framed to ascertain the number of cases of infanticide; and by having the Police Forms similarly constructed, the Police Statistics of murder for future years can be made complete.

The Coroners return 71 verdicts of wilful murder, viz., 41 cases of infanticide, and 30 of other murders. As 7 out of 97 Coroners' Returns are wanting or defective, if 8 per cent. be added for these, the verdicts of murder would be increased to 76, those of infanticide to 44, and those of other murders to 32.

In England and Wales, in 1863, the Coroners return 270 verdicts of wilful murder, viz., 166 cases of infanticide and 104 of other murders.

The following summary gives the number of infanticides and other murders in Ireland, according to the Coroners' Returns, as compared with the corresponding statistics in England and Wales.

MURDER, ACCORDING TO CORONERS' RETURNS.	Ireland, 1864. Estimate from Returns of 90 out of 97 Districts.*	ENGLAND AND WALES, 1863.		Murders in Ireland in 1864 in excess of those in equal population in England and Wales in 1863.	Murders in Ireland in 1864 less than those in equal population in England and Wales in 1863.
		Total.	Number in a portion of the population of England and Wales equal to that of Ireland.
Murder of children under the age of 1 year, .	44	166	45	—	1
Murder of persons above the age of 1 year, .	32	104	28	4	—
Total Murders,	76	270	73	3	—

It appears from this summary that there is a slight excess of infanticide in England and Wales, and a slight excess of other murders in Ireland; and that there is an excess in the total of murders in Ireland, according to the Coroners' Returns, as well as the Police Statistics.

In both countries the number of infanticides is excessive.

The Census Commissioners ascertained that the number under one year of age in Ireland to the rest of the population was, in 1861, as 2·4 to 97·6, or in other words, that in every 200 of the population, about 5 are infants under one year of age. It follows from this that the number of murders of infants under one year of age which would correspond to the 32 murders appearing to have taken place by the Coroners' Returns amongst the rest of the population, would be less than one a year; being only ·77, or about 3 in four years. The number of infanticides (44), is therefore about 55 times the number of murders occurring amongst the same amount of the population at other periods of life on an average.

In England and Wales the proportion of those under 1 year to those above 1 year of age is 3 to 97; it follows, therefore, that the number of infanticides which would correspond to the number of murders of persons above 1 year of age would be 3 in one year. The actual number (166) is therefore also about 55 times the number occurring amongst the same amount of population in England and Wales at other periods of life on an average.

* 8 per cent. added for districts wanting, as explained in preceding paragraph of Report.

The tables of offences determined summarily give the following result:—

Other offences not included in above,	18,948	3,726	15,222	—
Total offences determined summarily,	232,363	114,018	118,345	—

The first four classes in the preceding table are the only classes therein that are certain to include offences which might be made the subject of indictment, and it appears that these minor cases of Indictable Offences (determined summarily) indicate the same characteristics as the table of graver cases (not determined summarily)—the number of such offences is 22,571, being 2,109, or about 9 per cent. less than the number in an equal population in England and Wales in 1863; there is also less of theft and of crimes of the low moral tone, indicated by aggravated assaults on women and children than in England and Wales; on the other hand there is a great prevalence of malicious offences in Ireland.

In the less serious offences the chief excess is in the following heads—drunkenness, offences against Ways Acts, Pawnbrokers' Act, Revenue Laws, Local Acts, and Nuisances Acts and common assaults. Thus if the excess in offences not classed, 15,222, be deducted from the entire excess, 118,345, the difference, 103,123, is more than accounted for by the excess of offences under the four following heads, viz. :—

Drunkenness,	52,811
Offences against Acts of Parliament, such as Ways Acts, Pawnbrokers' Act, Revenue Laws, &c.,	37,492
Offences against Local Acts and Nuisances Acts,	4,431
Common Assaults,	12,378
Total,	107,112

With respect to offences against the above Acts of Parliament, the Irish Police acting as Inspectors of weights and measures, and as a Revenue Police, would naturally lead to greater vigilance in enforcing these Acts, and the much larger proportion of police in Ireland would also lead to greater activity in the detection and punishment of minor offences.

CONSTABULARY
AND POLICE.

Offences determined summarily
—continued.

This inevitable effect of the large proportion of Police in Ireland is illustrated by the statistics as to Prostitutes. Thus, whilst it appears from the Police Tables* that the number of Prostitutes known to the Police in Ireland in 1864 was 3,446, as compared with 7,784 in an equal population in England and Wales in 1863, there were 3,768 charges against Prostitutes under the Vagrant Acts in Ireland in 1864, as compared with 2,179 in an equal population in England and Wales in 1863.

The number of offences against the Poor Law Acts in Ireland in 1864 for deserting families and disorderly conduct in Workhouses is only 857, as compared with 2,011 in a corresponding population in England and Wales in 1863.

Result of proceedings.

The following summary exhibits the result of the proceedings in cases determined summarily :—

	Males.	Females.	Total.
Total number proceeded against,	188,483	43,880	232,363
„ convicted,	157,738	33,891	191,629

Thus it appears that in the case of offences determined summarily, the convictions were 82·4 per cent. of the persons proceeded against. This is a higher proportion of convictions than in England and Wales in 1863, where the per-centage of convictions is 67·2; whilst in the case of indictable offences not determined summarily, the convictions in Ireland, 41·01 per cent., bear a less proportion to the persons proceeded against than in England and Wales,† where 75·8 per cent. of those committed were convicted.

Punishments.

The penalties imposed on those convicted are stated under the same classification as in the English statistics, and the proportions of the different punishments are compared with the corresponding proportions in England and Wales in the following summary :—

PUNISHMENTS FOR OFFENCES DETERMINED SUMMARILY COMPARED WITH THOSE IN ENGLAND AND WALES.	Number of Cases.	Proportion per cent. Ireland, 1864.	Correspond- ing propor- tion per cent. for England and Wales, 1863.

Other Punishments,	17,290	9·03	8·06
Total convicted,	191,629	100·	100·

It appears from this summary that the punishments of a trifling character bear a higher proportion in Ireland to the total punishments than in England and Wales, whilst the proportional number of serious punishments is much less in Ireland, indicating that a large part of the excess in the case of offences determined summarily in Ireland is to be found amongst the offences of a less serious character.

The character of the persons proceeded against is compared with the English statistics in the following summary :—

Total of Ireland (exclusive of Dublin Metropolitan Police District),	187,324	452,273	115,967	71,357	—

It appears from this summary that only 9·9 per cent. of the persons proceeded against were of characters unknown to the police, whilst in England and Wales 33·9 per cent. of those proceeded against were unknown. This arises in part from the much higher number of police in proportion to the population in Ireland than in England and Wales, already noticed, and in part from the greater number of foreigners, and greater aggregation of the people in cities and towns in England than in Ireland.

In Ireland 76·2 per cent. of those proceeded against were of previous good character, whilst in England and Wales only 35 per cent. were of this class. It appears that whilst the total excess of persons proceeded against in Ireland, exclusive of the Dublin Metropolitan Police District, over those proceeded against in an equal population in England and Wales, was 71,357, the excess of persons of previous good character proceeded against was 102,112. These figures afford further indications of the less serious character of a large part of the offences disposed of summarily in Ireland.

The returns which have been obtained from the Coroners show the number of inquests to have been 3,155—2,105 males, and 1,050 females. In England and Wales, in 1863, the number was 22,757—15,770 males, and 6,987 females. This would give the proportion to be expected in Ireland as 6,150, showing that the inquests in Ireland are about one-half the number held in an equal population in England and Wales.

Coroners' Returns

Some of the Coroners' returns are incomplete as to the ages of the deceased, and as to the finding of the jury, and the totals of these particulars have therefore not been given.

It appears however that of 71 verdicts of murder returned by 90 out of 97 Coroners, 41 were of children under the age of one year, and 30 were other murders, showing a great excess of infanticide as already noticed in connexion with the Police statistics as to murder.*

The returns show the cost of the inquests to be £8,164 0s. 5d., and the average cost of each inquest to be £2 11s. 9½d., whilst in England and Wales it is £3 2s. 4¾d.

CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS.

An account of the sums paid by Her Majesty's Treasury for criminal prosecutions at Assizes and Quarter Sessions, and at the Dublin Commission Court, and proceedings at Petty Sessions, Inquests, and Police Courts, has been made up from returns received from the Crown Solicitors in Ireland, and from the County and City Treasurers. The Crown Solicitors' returns show the number of prosecutions conducted by the Crown Counsel and Crown Solicitors at Assizes and at the Dublin Commission Court, and the costs, exclusive of prosecutors' and witnesses' expenses paid through the County and City Treasurers. The latter expense and the number of prosecutors and witnesses paid have been ascertained from the County and City Treasurers, but these payments are not confined to prosecutions in which the Crown Counsel and Solicitors are engaged.

The following table gives a summary of the number and costs of criminal prosecutions complete as regards the Assizes and the Commission Court in Dublin, and complete for the Quarter Sessions in Counties on four of the six Circuits, and in the County and City of Dublin:—

COSTS OF CRIMINAL PROSECUTIONS COMPARED WITH THOSE IN 1863.	Number of Crown Prosecu- tions, 1864.	Number of Crown Prosecu- tions, 1863.	Increase.	Decrease.	Costs of Criminal Prosecutions, 1864.	Costs of Criminal Prosecutions, 1863.	Increase.	Decrease.

This table shows a diminution in the number of Crown prosecutions, and also a diminution in the costs.

The criminal prosecutions in Ireland are managed differently from those in England and Wales. The Executive Government, by the Law Officers and Crown Solicitors, takes charge of all the serious cases at Assizes in Ireland and at the Dublin Commission Court. In England and Wales the Treasury Solicitor in 1863 prosecuted in 407 Mint cases, and in 39 other cases; while the prosecutions at the Circuit Assize Courts, in 1862, were 3,231, and at the Central Criminal Court, 945. At the Quarter Sessions in Ireland a Sessional Crown Solicitor attends, but Barristers are scarcely ever employed. From these differences the expenses of Crown prosecutions in Ireland should be higher at Assizes than in England and Wales, and less at Quarter Sessions.

As the English Returns appear to include the cases where witnesses were paid as well as where professional assistance was employed, the average cost founded upon such numbers will not compare with the average cost in Ireland, calculated on the cases where the Crown Solicitor intervenes, and so no comparison of average cost is given.

* Supra, p. xviii.

The tables of Criminal Proceedings at Assizes, at the Dublin Commission Court, and at Quarter Sessions, have been compiled so as to give in a condensed form information similar to that contained in the "Irish Criminal Tables,"* which were annually presented to Parliament for many years previous to the compilation of the Irish Judicial and Criminal Statistics for 1863.

CRIMINAL
PROCEEDINGS
Assizes, Quarter
Sessions, &c.
(Tables 1-8, pp.
40-60).

The forms of return used for the Irish Criminal Tables have been preserved, so as to allow of an accurate comparison with the statistics of this class of criminal proceedings in Ireland for past years, and by this means the defect is obviated which the Irish Judicial Statistics, from being only compiled for two years, would otherwise be subject to.

In this comparison it was necessary to mark the large addition to the number of the offences treated as distinct, inserted by the advice of the Law Adviser to the Irish Government in the tables of 1862, after the Consolidated Criminal Statutes had come into operation. This has been done on Table 6, and the figures before and after the new classification of offences are distinguished by a broad line. The change, however, does not affect the total number of offences of all classes. Table 6, pp. 54-57.

The number of persons for trial at Assizes, the Dublin Commission Court, and at Quarter Sessions, since 1855, is as follows:—

				Increase.	Decrease.
1855,	.	.	9,012	—	—
1856,	.	.	7,099	—	1,913
1857,	.	.	7,210	111	—
1858,	.	.	6,308	—	902
1859,	.	.	5,865	—	443
1860,	.	.	5,386	—	479
1861,	.	.	5,586	200	—
1862,	.	.	6,666	1,080	—
1863,	.	.	6,078	—	588
1864,	.	.	5,086	—	992
Decrease in ten years,				3,926

The decrease during 1864 in the number of persons sent for trial, as compared with the year immediately preceding, by so large a number as 992 or upwards of 16 per cent., is highly satisfactory, following as it does upon a decrease in 1863, the sum of the two decreases being greater than the temporary increases in 1861 and 1862 (consequent on the exceptional distress in those years), so that 1864 presents a smaller number of persons for trial than any year during the last ten, and shows a reduction of 3,926, from 9,012 in 1855, to 5,086 in 1864, being upwards of 43 per cent. Allowing 12 per cent. for reduction of population, the diminution of serious crime in Ireland in ten years would amount to at least 31 per cent. or nearly one-third.

The differences in the classes of offences of which those for trial in 1864 and 1863 were convicted or charged are indicated by the following summary:—

Classes of Offences

1863 (Table 1,

against the currency of 11 over the number for 1863, being 13 per cent. In each of the other classes of offences there has been a large decrease.

The largest proportional decrease is in malicious offences against property, from 148 to 58 or nearly 61 per cent. This is highly satisfactory; offences of this class had increased from 54 in 1861 to 136 in 1862, and to 148 in 1863. They have now decreased in one year to 58, or very nearly to their amount in 1861, thus showing that the increase in 1862 and 1863 must have arisen from temporary causes which have now subsided.

In offences against the person there was a reduction in the number of those for trial in 1864, as compared with those in 1863, not only in the entire number as already noticed, but also in the offences of murder, attempts at murder, and manslaughter, which decreased from 234 to 202, being a diminution of 32, or 13 per cent. There are, however, some unfavourable features in this class, amongst which may be noticed that of bigamy, which increased from 8 to 15, and abduction from 8 to 21.

In offences against property there was a reduction in nearly every class.

In connexion with the efforts to extend manufactures in Ireland, it is interesting to observe that, whilst there was only one person for trial for destroying machines or goods in process of manufacture in 1863, there was not one for trial for this offence in 1864. The number for trial for riot and feloniously demolishing buildings, machinery, &c., were 10 in 1863, and only 5 in 1864. For offences connected with conspiracies or combinations to raise the rate of wages, there was not a single person for trial in either 1863 or 1864, a result highly creditable to the tradesmen and labouring classes engaged in manufactures.

Result of Proceedings (Table 3, p. 44).

The following are the results of the proceedings at assizes and quarter sessions in each of the two years:—

The proportion of acquitted and discharged in 1864 to those placed on trial, 41·01 per cent., is still at a much higher rate than in England and Wales, where the proportion of the acquitted and discharged in 1863 amounted to but 23·5 per cent. It is, however, lower than the rate in Ireland in 1863, or in any of the preceding nine years.

The sentences in 1864 are shown in the following table in detail, and in comparison with the sentences for each of the nine preceding years.

Of the 7 persons sentenced to death in 1864, two were executed, and in the other 5 cases the sentences were commuted to penal servitude for life. Capital Convictions.

The following are the particulars of the cases of those who were executed in 1864 :—

Cavan County.—Bernard Cangle, aged 27, a returned convict; murder of a farmer who had been his master in former years—from revenge.

Waterford County.—Thomas Walsh, aged 60; murder of his son's father-in-law—from a family dispute.

In addition to the information in the English Tables of Criminal Proceedings, the Irish Criminal Tables contain details as to the ages and state of instruction of the persons for trial.

The result of the systematic education of the poorer classes in Ireland is shown by this table. Whilst the proportion the state of whose education has not been ascertained is nearly the same in 1864 as in 1855, the proportion who can read and write has increased from 23·14 to 34·51 per cent.

The sexes of those for trial in 1863 and 1864, and the state of instruction of those committed of each sex, are given in the following summary :—

It appears from this summary that while the proportion of males who were ascertained to be incapable on their commitment of either reading or writing was 27·87 per cent., the proportion of females in this state of ignorance was 45·48 per cent.

The number of persons for trial being less than in 1863, it is of importance to trace whether this diminution was general or local. For this purpose the following summary has been compiled.

It appears that the improvement in 1864, as shown by the smaller number of persons for trial, extended to 25 out of the 32 counties, and to every province, being greatest in Connaught and least in Munster, the largest decrease occurring in the counties of Tyrone, Galway, and Monaghan. The only counties in which an increase took place were Tipperary, Wexford, Queen's county, Fermanagh, and Carlow. There was also an increase in the cities of Limerick and Waterford, and in the town of Drogheda.

The statistics of the Petty Sessions Courts in Ireland have been included in the present volume as in the volume for 1863, though the corresponding information is not given in the English volume.

The statistics have been collected for many years through the quarterly returns made by the Clerks of the Petty Sessions to the Office of the Chief Secretary of the Lord Lieutenant, and the tables given are only compilations from these returns.

The importance of the Courts appears from the circumstance that a very large proportion of the criminal cases in Ireland is disposed of by Magistrates at Petty Sessions and Police Courts under the several Summary Jurisdiction Acts. It appears from the Police Tables* that whilst 4,751 persons were proceeded against by indictment in all Ireland, except the Dublin Metropolitan Police District, no less than 182,573 were proceeded against summarily.

The Petty Sessions Courts, too, exercise civil jurisdiction in certain cases—a jurisdiction of more importance since the abolition of manor courts in Ireland.

In connexion with the expenditure of public money the statistics of these Courts are also important, as there are 72 Resident or Stipendiary Magistrates appointed under Stat. 6 Wm. IV., c. 13, part of whose duty is to attend the Courts of Petty Sessions.

The returns from which the tables are compiled do not include the Dublin Metropolitan Police District, and of the 604 Petty Sessions Courts in the rest of Ireland 45 Courts are omitted for imperfect returns.

The following summaries give the proceedings at Petty Sessions :—

The different districts present great diversity as to the number of Jurors possessed of each kind of qualification; but as it appears from the returns that in no less than twenty-nine districts the exact classification according to the statutable qualifications is not observed, it is impossible to present a safe or satisfactory summary of the total number of Jurors really entitled under each of the existing statutable qualifications.

PRISONS.

PRISONS.

Under the head of Prisons are included the statistics of gaols in counties, and counties of cities or of towns, and of bridewells, convict prisons, and reformatories, as also the statistics of criminal lunatics confined in gaols and lunatic asylums. The prisoners in the Four Courts Marshalsea* at Dublin have not been included, the numbers in it not having been hitherto included in the General Tables of the Inspectors-General of Prisons.

Gaols for Counties, &c.
(Tables 1-9, pp. 75-89).

The tables of gaol statistics have been compiled from information collected by the Inspectors-General of Prisons, and annexed to their report, and from returns from the Local Inspectors of gaols, specially made for the Criminal Statistics.

The gaol statistics in the tables in this volume have been confined to what would correspond with the tables in the English volume for 1863, whilst the statistics annexed by the Inspectors-General to their report are confined to such information as forms a continuation of the tables published by them in previous years.

As it is desirable that the state of the gaols should be subjected to a two-fold comparison—with the past state of Irish gaols, and with the present state of the corresponding prisons in England and Wales, it was impossible to avoid, to a certain extent, a duplicate use of the same information.

The gaols included in these tables are 39 in number. They are not divided into county, borough, and liberty prisons as in England and Wales. The towns in Ireland that have distinct taxation for gaols are those which are counties of cities or counties of towns, being only 8 out of the 33 boroughs in Ireland; of these 8 towns with distinct taxation only

* The Inspectors-General of Prisons though not including the Four Courts Marshalsea in their General Report, add in an Appendix a special Report on this institution, from which it appears that there were 31 prisoners in custody on the 27th December, 1864, the maximum at any time in the year having been 51, and that the total commitments in the year were 244.

5 have actually distinct gaols, there being only one gaol for the county and city of Kilkenny, one for the county and city of Waterford, and one for the county of Antrim and the county of the town of Carrickfergus.

The number of commitments, inclusive of debtors, or commitments on civil process, was as follows :—

	1864.	1863.	Decrease in 1864.
Males,	19,567	20,380	813

PRISONS.
Gaols for Counties, &c.
Commitments.

The number of commitments to gaols in Ireland during 1864, classified by sexes and classes of convictions, with the proportion per cent. of each, as compared with the corresponding proportion per cent. in England and Wales in 1863, is shown in the following summary :—

COMMITMENTS COMPARED WITH THOSE IN ENGLAND AND WALES.	IRELAND, 1864.				England and Wales, 1863. Proportion per cent.
	Males.	Females.	Total.	Proportion per cent.
Convicted at Assizes, Quarter Sessions, &c.	1,649	680	2,329	6·89	14·8
Summary convictions,	14,147	12,464	26,611	78·70	65·7
Not convicted,	2,585	1,034	3,619	10·71	9·1
Debtors and persons committed on civil process,	875	66	941	2·78	8·6
Convicted by courts martial, and deserters,	311	—	311	·92	1·8
Total Commitments,	19,567	14,244	33,811	100·	100·

It appears from this summary that the proportion of persons convicted at Assizes and Quarter Sessions, of debtors and of military and naval prisoners, is greater in England and Wales than in Ireland, whilst the proportion summarily convicted, and those unconvicted, is greater in Ireland than in England and Wales.

The tables distinguish the number of individuals, exclusive of debtors, committed to gaols from the number of commitments of the same classes, with the following result :—

INDIVIDUALS, EXCLUSIVE OF DEBTORS, COMMITTED COMPARED WITH TOTAL COMMITMENTS OF THE SAME CLASSES.	Commitments.	Individuals Committed.	Excess of Commitments arising from Re-commitments.
Males,	18,692	16,330	2,362
Females,	14,178	8,711	5,467
Total,	32,870	25,041	7,829

The much larger number of males than females committed verifies the well-known social law that women are in general less criminal than men, whilst the fact that recommitments of women are much more frequent than in the case of men is in strict accordance with another social law, that when women once enter into the paths of crime they become more criminal than men.*

The way in which the previous commitments have been made up in the Irish tables, by taking the individuals committed and recording the number of times of their being in gaol from their first commitment in any year till their last commitment in 1864, does not correspond exactly with the method adopted in the English statistics, where the total commitments seem to be taken. The Irish tables also exclude debtors whilst the English tables include them.

* The extent to which depraved women are recommitted is shown by the Inspectors-General of Prisons in their Report for 1864. It appears from that Report, p. xiv, that of the 201 persons committed between 20 and 30 times, 162 were females; of the 143 between 30 and 50 times, 127 were females; and that of the 90 committed more than 50 times, 84 were females, one woman having been committed so often as 194 times; and of the total number who had undergone more than 20 commitments 373 were women and but 61 were men.

These differences do not, however, prevent an approximate comparison being made, and allowing for these circumstances and for the slightly different character of the offences for which imprisonment takes place in Ireland, the statistics show the same social law in both countries as to recommitments, as appears from the following summary :—

of Education.

I have not included a summary of ages, or of the state of education of persons committed, to compare with the English tables. The classification of ages adopted by the Inspectors-General of Prisons in Ireland in their statistics being different from the English classification, and “not exceeding certain ages” being used instead of “under certain ages” as in the English statistics, and the state of instruction being recorded differently in the two countries, it was impossible to institute an exact comparison in these respects with the corresponding statistics in England and Wales.

The state of education and the classification of ages in Ireland, so far as prisoners for trial are concerned, are given fully under the head of Criminal Proceedings, and are there compared with the corresponding statistics for the preceding nine years.

Birthplace of Prisoners.

The birthplace of the prisoners committed to gaols has been specially ascertained for the present volume of Criminal Statistics, not having been included in the returns previously required by the Inspectors-General of Prisons.

BIRTHPLACE.	COMMITMENTS.			Per-centage.

Total,	18,381	14,178	32,559	100·

If the proportions be compared with those ascertained for England and Wales, we get the following results :—

BIRTHPLACE OF PRISONERS COMPARED WITH SIMILAR STATISTICS AS TO ENGLAND AND WALES.	Ireland, 1864. Proportion per cent.	England and Wales, 1863. Proportion per cent.

A comparison of the preceding summaries shows the very small proportion of any but Irish-born criminals in Ireland, and the very large proportion of commitments among the persons of Irish birth in England and Wales. The number of persons of Irish birth in England and Wales may be estimated as not exceeding 651,385,* and it appears that amongst these 19,501 commitments took place in 1863 to the different county and borough prisons in England and Wales (without including debtors or military and naval prisoners). This number is 15,854 in excess of 3,647, the total commitments amongst the same classes of persons of Irish birth to gaols in Ireland in a portion of the population of Ireland equal to the number of Irish birth in England and Wales. Even if 2,310 be added for a proportional amount of commitments to bridewells, the commitments in Ireland will amount to only 5,957, leaving an excess of 13,544 of commitments amongst the same number of persons of Irish birth in England and Wales, showing that there is from three to five times the amount of crime amongst those of Irish birth in England and Wales that there is amongst the same number in Ireland.

The occupations of persons committed to gaols in Ireland have been ascertained for this volume, the information not having been included in the returns made to the Inspectors-General of Prisons since 1852.

The following table shows a comparison between Ireland in 1864 and England and Wales in 1863, as regards the proportion per cent. of the prisoners in the various occupations.

OCCUPATIONS OF PRISONERS COMPARED WITH THOSE IN ENGLAND AND WALES.	IRELAND, 1864.				England and Wales, 1863. Proportion per cent.

Occupations not ascertained,	2,186	383	2,569	7·9	0·7
Total,	18,381	14,178	32,559	100·	100·

It appears from this table that prisoners in gaols returned as of no occupation and those whose occupation was not ascertained are in a greater proportion to the total number of prisoners in Ireland than in England and Wales, whilst “labourers, charwomen, needlewomen,” “factory workers,” and “mechanics and skilled workers,” are all in a considerably less proportion to the total prisoners in Ireland than in England.

To make the comparison between the two countries complete, it would be necessary to ascertain the proportion of prisoners in each occupation to the total number of persons following that occupation in each country, but as the Census tables and the gaol returns do not adopt the same classification, such proportions cannot be accurately set forth.

* The maximum number of persons of Irish birth in England and Wales in 1863, may be estimated thus—the number in 1851 was 519,957, and in 1861 it was 601,634. Allowing a corresponding increase to July, 1863, this would give 622,620, and if the harvest labourers, ascertained in 1862 to be 28,695, be added, this would give 651,385 as the estimated maximum number of persons of Irish birth in England and Wales in 1864.

prisoners.

The disposal of the prisoners during the year and the number remaining in custody at the end of the year were as follows :—

Number of prisoners gaols capable of accommodating.

The aggregate amount of accommodation in the gaols in Ireland, except that for the county of Limerick which is in process of alteration, is shown by the following summary :

	Males.	Females.	Total.
Number of debtors gaols can accommodate,	556	99	655
" criminals " " 	4,547	1,888	6,435
Total,	5,103	1,987	7,090

The daily average number of prisoners, including debtors and omitting those of the county of Limerick, was 2,918, showing that the aggregate accommodation was more than double what was required. But in the gaol for the county of Donegal the average daily number was 2 in excess of the accommodation ; and in Grangegorman Female Penitentiary the numbers were in excess of the existing accommodation, the daily average number of prisoners being 213 and the existing accommodation only 141. The present limited accommodation arises from the old Penitentiary having been partially pulled down for the purpose of enlargement, and the accommodation contemplated for 300 will be quite sufficient.

In the gaol for Waterford county and city, the greatest number of males at one time was 80, and the greatest number of females was 52, whilst it is only capable of accommodating 73 males and 30 females, respectively ; and in four gaols, viz., those for the Town of Drogheda and for the South Riding of Tipperary, and for the counties of Kerry and Londonderry, the greatest number of females in each, viz., 13, 43, 24, and 38, exceeded the respective accommodation for females of 11, 40, 15, and 34.

In England and Wales, in 1863, there were 6 prisons in which the daily average number exceeded the accommodation, and the greatest number at one time of one or other sex exceeded the accommodation in no less than 41 out of 146 gaols.

Gaols for Counties, &c.

The returns have been compiled to show the sanitary state of the gaols in Ireland in a form admitting of comparison with the corresponding English statistics, and the result appears below:—

Sanitary state.

SANITARY STATE OF GAOLS.	Irish Gaols, 1864.	English and Welsh Prisons, 1863.	English proportion for same daily average number as in Irish Gaols in 1864.*	Irish proportion in excess of English proportion.	Irish proportion less than English proportion.

{ Amongst other Prisoners, .	22
Greatest number sick at one time, .	459	1,864	294	165	—

The number of cases of sickness, as compared with the number in English and Welsh prisons in 1863, was as follows:—

SICKNESS IN GAOLS,	CASES OF SICKNESS IN IRISH GAOLS, 1864.			Total Cases of Sickness in English and Welsh Prisons, 1863.	English pro- portion for same daily average number as in Irish Gaols in 1864.*	Number of Cases of Sickness in Irish Gaols in excess of English proportion.

Insanity,	737	423	1,160	133	21	1,139

It appears from these summaries that the rate of mortality is nearly double the rate of mortality in the English and Welsh prisons, and that the rate of sickness as indicated by the greater number sick at one time, was much higher. It appears, too, that the number of cases of sickness in the year was also much higher.

But from the extraordinary number of insane persons in Irish gaols, 1,160, as compared with 21, the number in the portion of prisoners in the English and Welsh prisons in 1863 equal to the daily average number in Irish prisons in 1864, and from 43 of the 65† deaths in Irish gaols having taken place amongst dangerous lunatics further statistics are necessary to determine how far the excess in the number of sick in Irish gaols arises from the greater number of lunatics as the excess of mortality undoubtedly does.

The punishments for prison offences in Irish gaols are compared in the following table with the punishments in English and Welsh prisons in 1863:—

officers.

It appears from this summary that the total punishments for prison offences in the Irish gaols were 2,076, as compared with 8,071 for the same daily average number of prisoners in England and Wales in 1863. It appears, too, that discipline is maintained in the Irish gaols without the punishment of whipping; the Boards of Superintendence in Ireland having no authority to order whipping for prison offences, whilst the Visiting Justices in England and Wales have a statutable power to that effect.

The following summary shows the number of officers in gaols in Ireland in 1864, divided into two classes:—1st. Those that correspond to the staff employed in the County and Borough prisons in England and Wales; and 2nd. Those that are differently arranged in Ireland.

I. Officers corresponding to staff employed in County and Borough prisons in England and Wales:—

	Males.	Females.	Total.
Medical Officers,	59	—	59
Governors,	39	—	39
Clerks,	22	—	22
Deputy Governors and Head Turnkeys,	34	—	34

School Masters and Mistresses,	27	2	29

Deputy and Assistant Matrons,	—	54	54
Hospital Nurses,	—	32	32
Other Officers,	47	20	67
Total of this class,	474	147	621

II. Officers differently arranged from the staff in England and Wales:—

	Males.	Females.	Total.
Local Inspectors,	38	—	38
Chaplains:—
Established Church,	93	—	93
Presbyterian,	14	—	14
Roman Catholic,	39	—	39
Total of this class,	130	—	130

The number of officers in the 39 gaols in Ireland in 1864 corresponding to the staff employed in the County and Borough prisons in England and Wales was 621, or at the rate of 16 to each gaol, or 1 officer to every 5 prisoners. In England and Wales for 146 prisons in 1863, there were 2,211 officers of the corresponding class, or 15 to each prison, or 1 to every 8 prisoners. In connexion with the higher proportion of officers to prisoners in Irish gaols the much larger number of lunatics confined in Irish prisons already referred to should be borne in mind.

As to Class 2.—Officers differently arranged from the staff in England and Wales:—There are no officers returned in the English prisons corresponding to the Local Inspectors in the Irish gaols, and the Chaplains are differently arranged in the two countries. Whilst there were only 139 Chaplains in the 146 County and Borough prisons in England and Wales, in 1863, there were in each of the 39 Irish gaols two Chaplains, one of the Established Church and one Roman Catholic, and in 14 of the 39 gaols there was also a Presbyterian Chaplain.*

Cost of prisoners. For the cost of prisoners, in addition to the statistics collected by the Inspectors-General of Prisons, returns of the extraordinary expenses were obtained and compiled for this volume, and the entire expenses arranged in a form to compare as nearly as possible with the corresponding English statistics for 1863.

* In connexion with this difference the religion of those committed should be noticed. It appears from the Inspectors-General of Prisons' Report, that of the 32,870 commitments, no less than 28,266 were of Roman Catholics, 3,312 were of members of the Established Church, and 1,094 were of Presbyterian prisoners, which were distributed over only a certain number of gaols.—Forty-third Report, 1865, p. 18.

The costs are shown in the following summaries :—

Cost of prisoners.

The following summary shows the yearly average charge per prisoner under each division of cost, contrasted with the corresponding average for England and Wales in 1863:—

	Ireland, 1864.			England and Wales, 1863.

Total,	29	5	9	29	2	1
Or omitting extraordinary charges and fittings,†	26	19	2	23	7	5

It appears from this comparison that the total cost of a prisoner is nearly the same in Ireland as in England and Wales.

The average for the extraordinary cost for buildings is only £2 6s. 7d. per head in Ireland as compared with £5 14s. 8d. in England and Wales; on the other hand, the average charge for cost of officers is £15 5s. 8d. per head in Ireland, whilst the corresponding cost in England and Wales is £10 1s. 7d., arising chiefly from the larger average number of prisoners in the English prisons. The average cost of the Irish prisoners is £5 15s. 3d. per head, whilst in England and Wales the cost is £7 19s. 11d.

The different sources from which the gaol expenses were defrayed and the amount received from each are as follows :—

Total,	£87,101 0 9	100

* The average cost of ordinary diet is calculated by the Inspectors-General of Prisons in Ireland for their Report by the division of the daily number of prisoners in receipt of such, i.e., exclusive of hospital patients, master debtors, &c., viz., 2,652.95 into the cost of this class of diet, which gives £3 17s. 7d. as the average, whilst the calculations of the daily and annual net average cost are made on the daily average number of prisoners confined during the year, viz., 2,973.69; the latter is the method adopted in the English Prison Statistics, and has accordingly been adopted in the tables in this volume, making the average annual cost of the ordinary diet only £3 9s. 2d., whilst the English and Welsh amount is £5 1s. 4d.

† In this average of £26 19s. 2d. no allowance is made for the profit from the sale of work by prisoners, as none is made in the English average with which it is compared. The Inspectors-General of Prisons in Ireland, making allowance for this profit, estimate the average annual cost of a prisoner at £26 4s. 4d.

PRISONS:

Gaols for Counties, &c.Sources from which expenses paid.

The corresponding figures showing the sources from which the expenses of English and Welsh prisoners were defrayed in 1863 are as follows:—

England and Wales, 1863.		Proportion.
Prison Receipts	£37,885 13 8	6·9
Local Rates and Funds,	400,082 13 4	73·1
Public Revenues,	109,446 9 10	20·
Total,	£547,414 16 10	100·

The larger proportional contribution from the public revenue in England and Wales appears to arise from the circumstances noticed in the Report on the English Judicial Statistics for 1863. "The want of room in the Government prisons for the increased number of convicts to be provided renders necessary a still further extension of the system of renting accommodation in local gaols."

Bridewells.

The returns as to bridewells compared with those for 1863 give the following results:—

BRIDEWELLS.	Males.	Females.	Total, 1864.	Total, 1863.	Increase.	Decrease.
Number of Commitments, . . .	14,522	6,041	20,563	21,053	—	490

Total Cost, . . .			£ 6,141 6 5	£ 6,142 18 7	£ 1 12 2	—

It appears from this table that commitments for drunkenness to bridewells increased in 1864. The great excess of convictions for being drunk and disorderly over the English proportion has been already noticed.* Complaints as to the prevalence of drunkenness, especially from Dublin, led to the passing of the Beer-houses (Ireland) Act, 1864 (Stat. 27 & 28 Vic., c. 35).

It appears from this summary that there was a diminution of 102 in the number of convicts received during the year, from 540 in 1863 to 438 in 1864, being at the rate of 19 per cent., indicating a diminution to that extent in the more serious offences for which severe punishments were inflicted during the year.

There was an increase in the number let out on tickets-of-leave from 217 in 1863 to 305 in 1864. The number of tickets-of-leave granted in England amongst an equal number of convicts disposed of in 1863 was 237.

There was a falling off in the number of those discharged on the termination of their sentence, from 93 in 1863 to 75 in 1864, but this number is higher than 39, the number discharged on the termination of their sentence in England amongst an equal number of convicts disposed of in 1863.

The state of the different convict establishments during the year 1864 is shown in the following table :—

Reformatory
Schools.(Tables 1-3, pp.
91-2).

The Inspector of Reformatory Schools has made returns in forms somewhat similar to those in the English Judicial Statistics.

There are 4 reformatory schools for boys, and 5 for girls in Ireland. Of these, 3 are for Protestants—2 for boys and 1 for girls; and 6 for Roman Catholics—2 for boys and 4 for girls. The total number committed in 1864 was 184. Of these, 148 were boys and 36 girls; 160 were Roman Catholics, and 24 Protestants.

The terms of detention of the offenders committed in 1864 were as follows:—

Terms of detention in reformatories.	Previous imprisonment—	Subsequent detention in reformatories—
	14 days, 112	2 years, 1
	1 month and above 14 days, 52	3 years, 18
	2 months and above 1 month, 10	4 years, 38
	4 months and above 2 months, 10	5 years, 127

The number committed on indictment before Judges of the Superior Courts, the Recorder of Dublin, and the Chairmen of Quarter Sessions, was 59, or 32 per cent. of the entire number; and 125, or 68 per cent., were committed on summary conviction before Justices. These numbers show an increase upon the numbers in 1863 of 35 boys, and a decrease of 4 girls, giving a total increase of 31, of whom 3 were Protestants and 28 Roman Catholics.

As only 26 per cent. were committed on indictments in 1863, it appears that an increased proportion has been committed from the higher tribunals in 1864. In England and Wales in 1863, 23 per cent. were committed on indictment.

Position as regards parental control of boys and girls in reformatories.

The position of those committed to reformatories in Ireland, as to parental control, is shown by the following table:—

	One only.	Both.	Total.
Parents dead,	48	31	79
Deserted by parents,	22	14	36
Parents in prison,	18	10	28
Otherwise uncontrolled by parents,	7	4	11
Total not under parental control,	95	59	154
Under parental control,	19	11	30
Total,	114	70	184

It appears from this table that of the entire number of boys and girls in reformatory schools, 184, only 11, or 6 per cent., were under the control of both parents, and only 30, or 16 per cent., under the control of one or both parents, showing that reformatories are really supplying to their inmates the want of parental control and support, which may be taken as the chief cause of the crimes of those committed to reformatories.

This want of parental control and support is further shown in the state of education as indicated in the following table :—

AGES AND STATE OF INSTRUCTION OF BOYS AND GIRLS IN REFORMATORIES.	Aged 10 and under.	Aged 11, and above 10.	Aged 12, and above 11.	Aged 13, and above 12.	Aged 14, and above 13.	Aged 15, and above 14.	Under 16, and above 15.	Total.

It appears from this summary that of the entire number, 184, only 13, or 7 per cent., could read and write well, leaving 93 per cent. with a neglected education. It also appears that 103 of the entire number of 184, or 56 per cent., were entirely ignorant, being unable to read or write.

In Ireland there are no Industrial Schools, the Statutes establishing them in England not having been yet extended to this country. Industrial Schools.

It appears from the police returns that the class for whose benefit Industrial Schools are intended is proportionally more numerous in Ireland than in England and Wales, the 3,051 vagrants and tramps in Ireland under 16 years of age being 1,076 in excess of 1,975, the number to be found in 1863 in an equal population in England and Wales.

The large number of criminal lunatics in gaols in Ireland rendered it necessary to obtain two sets of returns, one as to gaols and one as to asylums. Criminal Lunatics.

The information as to lunatics in gaols, instead of being obtained as last year through the Inspectors of Lunatic Asylums from the Governors of Gaols, was obtained through the Inspectors-General of Prisons from the Local Inspectors of Gaols.

The returns, after some correspondence with the Local Inspectors, have been compiled in the Judicial Statistics Office, and now present complete information, which can be compared with the English statistics.

The returns from the Medical Resident Superintendents of Asylums were, after some correspondence with these officers, also revised and compiled in the Judicial Statistics Office. Some of these returns are still, however, imperfect in omitting to classify the offences with which the criminal lunatics were charged, the original judgment or order under which they were detained, and the period of detention in the asylums.

The number of criminal lunatics in gaols and asylums and their disposal are shown by (Tables, pp. 92-5.) the following summary :—

Criminal Lunatics. If the numbers of criminal lunatics be compared with those in an equal population in England and Wales in 1863, we get the following result:—

CRIMINAL LUNATICS IN IRELAND COMPARED WITH THOSE IN ENGLAND AND WALES.	IRELAND, 1864.	ENGLAND AND WALES, 1863.		Irish Criminal Lunatics in 1864 in excess of those in equal Population in England and Wales in 1863.	Irish Criminal Lunatics in 1864 less than those in equal Population in England and Wales in 1863.
		Total.	Number in a portion of the Population of England and Wales equal to that of Ireland.
Criminal lunatics committed,	807	177	48	759	—
Remaining under detention at end of year,	2,280	929	251	2,029	—

It appears from this comparison that there were nearly 17 times as many criminal lunatics in proportion to population committed during the year, as in England and Wales in 1863, and about 9 times as many in permanent confinement.

The cause of this difference forms an important subject of inquiry, whether it arises from the larger proportion of police in Ireland, or from the smaller number of private asylums and smaller number of dangerous lunatics supported by their friends as mere lunatics, or from the apparently greater prevalence of drunkenness indicated by the Police Statistics, or from any other difference in the circumstances of the two countries.

As indicative of the character of the lunacy for which criminal lunatics are committed in Ireland as compared with England and Wales, the different proportion of those discharged as sane becomes important. Out of 2,966 criminal lunatics under detention at the commencement of the year, or committed during the year in Ireland, 438, or nearly 15 per cent., were discharged on becoming sane; whilst in England and Wales, out of 1,042 criminal lunatics under detention at the commencement of 1863 or committed during the year, only 38, or 3·6 per cent., were discharged on becoming sane.

The number of criminal lunatics under detention at the end of the year, 2,280, as compared with 2,159, the number under detention at the commencement of the year, shows an increase of 121, or 5 per cent., during the year.

The offences with which the criminal lunatics under detention were charged are completely returned as to those in gaols, but in the case of about one-half the asylums, imperfect returns were obtained under this head, giving 650 out of 2,210 offences unclassified.

As, however, in Ireland, out of 807 committals in the year no less than 780 were to the gaols, the character of the offences may be accurately enough judged of by the returns from the gaols.

The offences of the 1,160 criminal lunatics in gaols in Ireland are compared with the offences of the 1,148 criminal lunatics in asylums in England and Wales in 1863, in the following summary:—

OFFENCES OF CRIMINAL LUNATICS IN GAOLS COMPARED WITH ENGLAND AND WALES.	Ireland, 1864.	England and Wales, 1863.	Offences in Ireland in excess of those in England and Wales.	Offences in England and Wales in excess of those in Ireland.

Total,	1,160	1,148	12	—

The most remarkable feature in this summary is the much larger number of persons in Ireland committed for the less serious offences of assault and riot. In connexion with this it is right to observe the apparently greater amount of personal safety indicated by the much less number of criminal lunatics committed in Ireland than in England and Wales for murder, attempts to murder, and manslaughter.

The character of the commitments of criminal lunatics in Ireland as precautionary, in contrast with commitments in England and Wales after crimes have been committed, is indicated by the judgments or orders under which the criminal lunatics were committed, as shown in the following summary :—

JUDGMENTS UNDER WHICH CRIMINAL LUNATICS DETAINED COMPARED WITH THOSE IN ENGLAND AND WALES.	Ireland, 1864.	Ireland, 1864. Proportion per cent. to whole number.	England and Wales, 1863. Proportion per cent. to whole number.
Found or declared insane,	22	1.9	13.3
Acquitted as insane,	21	1.8	16.4
Insane, committed by Justices,	22	94.7	8.0
Dangerous lunatics committed as insane,	1,077
Persons who became insane after trial,	16	1.4	62.3
Persons who became insane after commitment and before trial,	2	0.2	—
Total,	1,160	100.0	100.0

It appears from this table that 94.7 per cent. in Ireland were committed by Justices as insane or dangerous, whilst only 8 per cent. were so committed in England and Wales.

The statutable provisions as to Justices dealing with dangerous lunatics are different in Ireland from what they are in England and Wales.

In England and Wales Justices were so far back as 1800 by Stat. 39 and 40 Geo. III., c. 94, empowered to commit dangerous lunatics to gaols, not to be bailed except by two Justices.

In 1838 by Stat. 1 and 2 Vic., c. 14, the power of committing to gaols was repealed, and Justices are now authorized to commit to county asylums, and where there is no asylum to some public hospital or house duly licensed for the reception of insane persons, to ascertain the settlement of the lunatic and charge the local rates with his support, or if the settlement be not ascertained to charge the Treasurer of the county or place where he is apprehended. Relatives are enabled to take lunatics after committal under their own care on giving sufficient recognizance for their good behaviour and safe custody.

In the same year that the power of committing dangerous lunatics to gaols was taken away in England and Wales Justices were for the first time enabled to commit to gaols in Ireland by Stat. 1 and 2 Vic., c. 27, and all dangerous lunatics committed under that Act have to be committed to gaols in Ireland in the first instance, and are removed from thence to County Lunatic Asylums by order of the Lord Lieutenant. There appears to be no provision as in England enabling Justices to send the lunatics to licensed private asylums when the county asylums are full.

The effect of this difference of legislation appears in the tables; whilst no criminal lunatics could be committed to gaols under Stat. 1 and 2 Vic., c. 14, in England and Wales, there were 1,077 committed to gaols in Ireland under Stat. 1 and 2 Vic., c. 27, thus raising the number of criminal lunatics in gaols in Ireland to 1,160, or one-third of the entire number of prisoners under detention. Of these 2 had been upwards of ten years in gaol, 34 above five years or less than ten, 47 above three or less than five, 59 above two years or less than three, and 119 above one year.

In the course of the year, whilst 402 were sent from gaols to asylums, no less than 266 were discharged on becoming sane from the gaols, having been never sent to an asylum at all.

PRISONS. The number of criminal lunatics under each period of detention is shown in the following summary :—

Period of Detention.

PERIOD OF DETENTION OF CRIMINAL LUNATICS.	GAOLS.		ASYLUMS.
	Number of Persons.	Proportion per cent. to whole number.	Number of Persons.	Proportion per cent. to whole number.
One year and under, . . .	899	77.5	437	19.8
Two years and above one, . .	119	10.3	238	10.8
Three years and above two, .	59	5.1	213	9.7
Five years and above three, .	47	4.0	219	9.9
Ten years and above five, . .	34	2.9	398	18.0

Not stated,	—	—	369	16.7
Total,	1,160	100.0	2,210	100.0

As so large a proportion of the criminal lunatics in Ireland are transferred from gaols to asylums, the period of detention will not compare accurately with the period of detention in England and Wales.

Costs of Criminal Lunatics.

The costs of criminal lunatics in Ireland for the year, were—

	£	s.	d.
In Gaols,	11,930	0	3
In Asylums,	38,914	19	9
Total,	50,845	0	0

This total, taking an average number from those under detention at the beginning and the end of the year as 2,219, gives an average cost of £22 18s. 3d. per head.

In England and Wales in 1863 the costs were £29,947 6s. 11d., giving for an average number similarly calculated of 897, an average cost of £33 7s. 8d. per head.

The sources from which the costs were paid, as compared with England and Wales in 1863, are given in the following summary :—

SOURCES FROM WHICH COSTS OF CRIMINAL LUNATICS PAID.	Ireland, 1864.	Proportion per cent.	England and Wales, 1863.	Proportion per cent.
Local taxes,	47,257 15 2	93.0	11,606 8 10	38.8

Total,	50,845 0 0	100.0	29,947 6 11	100.0

It appears from this that 93 per cent. of the cost of criminal lunatics is paid out of the local taxes in Ireland, and only 38 per cent. in England and Wales, and that only 6 per cent. is paid out of the general taxes in Ireland, whilst 54 per cent. is paid out of the general taxes in England and Wales.

CONCLUSION.

Police Establishments and Costs.
Rep. p. vii.

The following is a summary of some of the principal results of the Irish Criminal Statistics for 1864, noticed in the preceding part of the Report :—

1. The establishment of the Irish Constabulary, 12,146 men, shows a reduction of 191 on the numbers in the preceding year; the effective strength, consisting of 11,812 men, shows a reduction of 329, and the vacancies in the Force increased from 642 in 1863 to 1,116 in 1864.

2. The Local Police Force is 588, which is an increase of 110, caused by the formation of a Volunteer Fire Brigade in Ballymena, and by an increase in the Dublin Fire Brigade. It is also partly due to more complete returns as to the number of Inspectors of Nuisances and Officers of Health.

3. The proportion of police to population is as follows :—North Riding of Tipperary,

1 to 202 ; Dublin Metropolitan Police District, 1 to 297 ; County of Londonderry, 1 to 974 ; and in Ireland, outside of Dublin Metropolitan Police District, 1 to 431 ; and in all Ireland, 1 to 420. In England and Wales, outside of Metropolitan District, the proportion is 1 to 1,093 ; in the London Metropolitan Police District, 1 to 445 ; and in all England and Wales, 1 to 887.

4. The cost of police in the Dublin Metropolitan Police District is divided thus :—£37,374, or 46 per cent., is paid out of local taxes, and £43,838, or 54 per cent., out of general taxes. The cost of the police in the London District is divided thus :—£421,431, or 75 per cent., is paid out of local taxes, and £140,844, or 25 per cent., out of general taxes.

5. In the rest of Ireland, outside the Dublin Metropolitan Police District, the cost of police is thus divided :—£29,950, or 4 per cent., is paid out of local taxes, and £659,141, or 96 per cent., out of general taxes.

6. The 13,812 police of all kinds in Ireland exceeds 5,748, the number corresponding to the proportion of police to population in England and Wales, by 8,064, and the extra cost of this excess, £444,643, is paid out of the general taxes.

7. Ireland pays out of local taxes for the 5,748 police which are in the same proportion to population as the force in England and Wales, £67,325. If the Irish local taxes were charged for these 5,748 men in the same proportion as the English local taxes are charged for police, the contribution would be £249,675, showing that under the Irish rule of assessment the Irish local taxes are relieved by £182,350.

8. The criminal classes in Ireland known to the police, other than vagrants and tramps, appear to be 11,808, being 582 less than in 1863. The vagrants and tramps were 10,956, but being ascertained by a different method from that adopted in 1863, though showing an increase, cannot be accurately compared with the numbers for 1863.

9. The vagrants and tramps were ascertained in Ireland in 1864 by the same method as that adopted in England and Wales in 1863 ; and the criminal classes in Ireland, including vagrants and tramps, and amounting to 22,764, were less by 11,326 than 34,090, the number to be found in a portion of the population of England and Wales equal to that of Ireland.

10. The favourable results of the statistics of the criminal classes as compared with those of England and Wales are—first, suspected persons in Ireland were only 4,155, being 4,625, or 53 per cent. less than the English proportion of 8,780 ; secondly, the known thieves and depredators were only 3,125, being 4,454, or 59 per cent. less than the English proportion of 7,579 ; and thirdly, prostitutes above 16 years of age were 3,391, being 4,017, or 54 per cent. less than the English proportion of 7,408, and prostitutes under 16 were 55, being 321, or 85 per cent., less than the English proportion of 376.

11. The unfavourable results of the statistics of the Irish criminal classes as compared with those of England and Wales are—first, the excess of 104, or 11 per cent., by which the 1,082 receivers of stolen goods exceed the English proportion of 978 ; secondly, the excess of 911, or 13 per cent., by which the 7,905 vagrants and tramps above 16 years exceed the English proportion of 6,994 ; and thirdly, the excess of 1,076, or 54 per cent., by which the 3,051 juvenile vagrants and tramps exceed the English proportion of 1,975.

12. In connexion with the excess of juvenile vagrants and tramps in Ireland, the non-extension of the Industrial Schools Acts to Ireland, and the 1,231 children in the English Industrial Schools, should be noticed. The excess of vagrants and tramps of all ages in Ireland, amounting to 1,987, is very small when the difference between the proportion of the poor in receipt of Poor Law relief in Ireland and in England and Wales is taken into consideration ; the average number in receipt of relief in Ireland, 64,556, being 227,168, or 77 per cent., less than 291,724, the average number in receipt of relief in the year 1863 in a portion of the population of England and Wales equal to that of Ireland.

13. The houses of bad character were ascertained to be 6,639, showing an increase of 177 on the number in 1863. This excess arose from an increase in the number of tramps' lodging-houses of 478, more than counterbalancing a decrease of 131 in houses for the receipt of stolen goods, of 146 houses the resort of thieves and prostitutes, and of 24 brothels and houses of ill-fame.

14. The houses of receivers of stolen goods exceeded the proportion in England and Wales by 288, and the tramps' lodging-houses exceeded the English proportion by 1,949; but houses the resort of thieves and prostitutes were less than the English proportion by 421, and the brothels and houses of ill-fame were less by 1,314.

Crimes and Apprehensions.
Rep. p. xv.

15. The number of indictable offences not disposed of summarily amounted to 10,865, being 3,246 less than the number in a portion of the population of England and Wales in 1863 equal to that of Ireland.

16. The persons apprehended for the 10,865 offences were 6,779, giving a proportion of apprehensions of 62·5 per cent., being higher than 58·2 per cent., the English proportion in 1863, which is stated to have been higher than in any preceding year.

17. The maximum of crime in England is in the winter months, October, November, and December; but in Ireland the Belfast riots raised the summer months of July, August, and September, 1864, to a maximum; there were 385 indictable offences not disposed of summarily committed in the Belfast police district in 1864, whilst there were only 23 offences in the same district in the corresponding months in 1863.

18. The characteristics of Irish crime, as indicated by the table of indictable offences not disposed of summarily, correspond with those observed last year, the most unfavourable feature being malicious offences against property, and the other unfavourable features being riots, assaults inflicting bodily harm, and other assaults.

19. In the offences of attempts to murder, shooting at, wounding, stabbing, &c., to do bodily harm, when added together, the Irish statistics are more favourable than the English; as also in manslaughter, in unnatural offences, rape, and immoral offences, in perjury, and in attempts to commit suicide. There is a slight excess of infanticide in England and Wales, and a slight excess of other murders in Ireland. Infanticide is excessive in both countries, the murders of infants under 1 year being 55 times the number of murders occurring amongst the same amount of population at other periods of life on an average.

20. The offences determined summarily, 232,363, show an excess of 118,345 above the summary convictions in an equal portion of the population in England and Wales in 1863. If 15,222, the excess of offences unclassified, be deducted, the residue of the excess, 103,123, is accounted for by the 52,811 cases of drunkenness, 37,492 offences against revenue laws, Ways Acts, &c., 4,431 offences against Local Acts and Nuisances Acts, and 12,378 common assaults in excess of the English proportion.

21. The police acting as revenue police and inspectors of weight and measures, and being so much more numerous in proportion to population in Ireland than in England and Wales leads to an increased conviction for minor offences. It appears that only 11 per cent. of summary convictions involved imprisonment, whilst 27 per cent. were punished with imprisonment in England and Wales.

22. It appears that 76 per cent. of those proceeded against in Ireland were of previous good character, whilst there were only 35 per cent. in England and Wales, and only 10 per cent. in Ireland were of character not previously known to the police, whilst there were 34 per cent. in England and Wales.

Coroners' Inquests.
Rep. p. xxi.

23. The number of inquests in Ireland was 3,155, being about one-half the number in an equal population in England and Wales, and the average cost of an Irish inquest to the local taxes is £2 11s. 9½d., whilst that of an English inquest is £3 2s. 4¾d.

Criminal Proceedings at Assizes, &c.
Rep. p. xxii.

24. The number of Crown prosecutions in Ireland at assizes and the Dublin Commission Court was 910, being 101 less than in 1863. The cost was £41,783 19s. 6½d., being £4,897 17s. 1d. less than in 1863.

25. The decrease in the number of persons for trial at Assizes, Dublin Commission, and Quarter Sessions in 1864, 5,086, being less than the numbers in 1863 by 992, or upwards of 16 per cent., is highly satisfactory, following as it does upon a decrease in 1863, the sum of the two decreases being greater than the temporary increase in 1861 and 1862, consequent on the exceptional distress in those years, so that 1864 presents a smaller number of persons for trial than any year in the last ten, and shows a reduction of 3,926 from 9,012 in 1855 to 5,086 in 1864, being upwards of 43 per cent. Allowing 12 per cent. for reduction of population, this gives 31 per cent. for the diminution of serious crime in Ireland in ten years.

26. There was only one person for trial for destroying machines or goods in process of manufacture in 1863; there was not one for trial for this offence in 1864. Those for trial for riot and feloniously demolishing buildings, machinery, &c., were 10 in 1863, and only 5 in 1864. For offences connected with conspiracies or combinations to raise the rate of wages there was not a single person for trial either in 1863 or 1864, a result highly creditable to the tradesmen and labouring classes engaged in manufactures.

27. Only 7 persons were sentenced to death and only 2 were executed in 1864.

28. The improvement in 1864, as shown by the smaller number of persons for trial, extended to 25 out of the 32 counties, and to every province, being greatest in Connaught and least in Munster, the largest decrease occurring in the counties of Monaghan, Tyrone, and Galway. The only counties in which the number of persons for trial at assizes and quarter sessions increased in 1864 were the North Riding of Tipperary, Wexford, Queen's county, Fermanagh, and Carlow. There was also an increase in the cities of Limerick and Waterford and in the town of Drogheda.

29. In the 559 out of 604 petty sessions courts in Ireland from which complete returns were received, not including the Dublin Metropolitan Police District, there were 166,721 informations submitted to Magistrates, and 105,544 civil cases. The days on which petty sessions were not held for non-attendance of Magistrates were 6 per cent. in Munster, 6 per cent. in Ulster, 8 per cent. in Leinster (not including Dublin Metropolitan Police District), and 13 per cent. in Connaught.

30. At quarter sessions there were 681 appeals from Magistrates, being 30 less than in 1863; 2,661 applications for spirit licences, being 200 less than in 1863; and 3,640 bills of indictment disposed of, being 854 less than in 1863.

31. There were only 4 cases heard in the Court for the consideration of Crown cases reserved.

32. The number of jurors in Ireland is nearly 4 times as many in proportion to population in some counties as in others, viz., 1 to 61 in Carlow, and 1 to 225 in Roscommon. In counties of cities and of towns the number also varies, being 1 to 30 in Carrickfergus, and 1 to 85 in Limerick. In 29 jurors' districts, the exact classification, according to the statutable qualifications, appears not to be observed.

33. Only 2 per cent. of the persons committed to gaols in Ireland were born out of Ireland, whilst 20 per cent. of those committed to English prisons in 1863 were born out of England and Wales, and of this 20 per cent. no less than 15 per cent. were of Irish birth.

34. The 19,501 commitments of persons of Irish birth to English prisons are 13,544, or 69 per cent., in excess of 5,957, the number of commitments to gaols and bridewells amongst a portion of the population of Ireland equal to the estimated number of persons of Irish birth in England and Wales, showing that the commitments amongst the Irish in England are at least three times as great as among the Irish at home.

35. The punishments for prison offences in Irish gaols was 2,076; whilst for the same daily average number in English and Welsh prisons in 1863 it was 8,071, showing four times the amount of punishments for prison offences in England and Wales. This difference arises partly, no doubt, from the larger number of convicts kept in local prisons in England and Wales.

36. The cost of each prisoner in Ireland was £29 5s. 9d., as compared with £29 2s. 1d., the cost in England and Wales in 1863.

37. The total cost of £87,100 was defrayed as follows :—£75,670, or 87 per cent., was paid out of the local taxes; £9,027, or 10 per cent., out of the general taxes, and 3 per cent. out of prison receipts.

38. In England and Wales, owing to the large number of convicts in local prisons, 20 per cent. of the cost is paid out of the general taxes, and only 73 per cent. out of local taxes, and 7 per cent. from prison receipts.

Bridewells.
Rep. p. xxxviii.

39. The number of commitments for drunkenness to bridewells in Ireland was 9,513, showing an increase on the number in 1863 of 1,404. This circumstance in connexion with the excess of commitments for drunkenness above the English proportion, and representations as to the prevalence of drunkenness, especially in Dublin, led to the passing of the "Beer-houses (Ireland) Act, 1864."

Convict Prisons.
Ibid.

40. The number of convicts committed to convict prisons during the year 1864 was 438, being 102 less than in 1863, showing a decrease of about 19 per cent. in the offences considered to require a severe class of punishment.

41. The number of convicts liberated on tickets-of-leave was 305, being 88 more than 217, the number in 1863, and being 68 more than 237, the number of tickets-of-leave granted in England and Wales amongst an equal number of convicts disposed of in 1863.

Reformatories.
Rep. p. xl.

42. The total number committed to reformatories in 1864 was 184, being 31 more than in 1863. There were 148 boys and 36 girls; 160 were Roman Catholics, and 24 were Protestants.

43. Of the young persons sent to reformatories 32 per cent. were committed by Judges of the Superior Courts, the Recorder of Dublin, and the Chairmen of Counties at quarter sessions. This proportion was higher than 26 per cent. the proportion in 1863, and than 23 per cent. the proportion committed on indictment in England and Wales in 1863.

44. Of the 184 boys and girls committed to reformatories only 11, or 6 per cent., were under the control of both parents, and only 30, or 16 per cent., were under the control of one or both parents.

45. Of the 184 boys and girls committed to reformatories only 13, or 7 per cent., could read and write well, and 103, or 58 per cent., were entirely ignorant.

Criminal Lunatics.
Rep. p. xlii.

46. The number of criminal lunatics under detention at the end of the year, 2,280, shows an increase of 121, or 5 per cent., above the number under detention at the commencement of the year.

47. The number so remaining was 9 times as many as 251, the number of criminal lunatics in a portion of the population of England and Wales equal to that of Ireland.

48. The number of criminal lunatics committed during the year was 807, being nearly 17 times as many in proportion to population in Ireland as in an equal portion of the population in England and Wales in 1863.

49. Out of 2,966 criminal lunatics under detention, or committed during the year, 15 per cent. were discharged on becoming sane, whilst in England and Wales less than 4 per cent. were discharged on becoming sane.

50. In Ireland 52 lunatics had been committed for murder, attempts at murder, maiming, stabbing, and manslaughter, whilst 306 had been committed for the same offences in England and Wales in 1863.

51. Only 12 criminal lunatics had been committed for burglary, thefts, and criminal frauds, whilst 404 had been committed in England and Wales in 1863 for these offences.

52. On the other hand, 711 had been committed for assaults, riots, and breach of the peace, whilst 211 had been committed for being dangerous persons at large, making 922 in all, whilst in England and Wales in 1863 only 214 had been so committed for the same offences.

53. The smaller number of the graver offences amongst criminal lunatics in Ireland than in England and Wales seems to indicate that the more frequent commitments in Ireland for the less serious offences tends to produce greater personal safety to the public, indicated by the smaller number of lunatics committed in Ireland for murder, manslaughter, &c.

54. The character of the commitments in Ireland as precautionary in contrast with commitments in England and Wales, after crimes have been committed, is shown by the fact, that 94 per cent. were committed under orders of Justices, whilst only 8 per cent. were so committed in England and Wales in 1863.

55. In England and Wales Justices commit dangerous lunatics to county asylums or licensed private asylums and not to gaols.

56. In Ireland Justices must commit dangerous lunatics to gaols, who are thence transferred to public lunatic asylums by order of the Lord Lieutenant, but there is no power of sending them to licensed private asylums; there were 1,077 criminal lunatics under detention in Irish gaols of a class that cannot be committed to gaols in England and Wales.

57. Some lunatics had been in gaols in Ireland for upwards of 10 years, and 266 were discharged on becoming sane, having never been sent to an asylum at all.

58. Of the sum of £50,845, the cost of criminal lunatics in Ireland, 93 per cent. is paid out of local taxes, 6·6 per cent. out of the general taxes, and 0·4 per cent. from private and other sources. In England and Wales in 1863 38·8 per cent. is paid out of local taxes, 54·3 per cent. out of general taxes, and 6·9 per cent. from private and other sources.

59. The large part of expenses paid out of the general taxes in England arises from the greater proportion of persons becoming insane after conviction, which was 62·3 per cent. of the entire number, whilst in Ireland, of the entire number of criminal lunatics in confinement, only 1·4 per cent. became insane after trial.

JUDICIAL STATISTICS.

PART II.

IRELAND.

COMMON LAW—EQUITY—CIVIL AND CANON LAW.

RETURNS FOR THE YEAR 1864,

Compiled by Order of His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland,

COMPRISING

The Superior Courts of Common Law, the Courts of the Chairmen of Counties and Recorders, and other Courts for the Recovery of Small Debts.

The High Court of Chancery, the Landed Estates Court, the Court of Probate, the Ecclesiastical Courts, the High Court of Admiralty, the Court of Bankruptcy and Insolvency.

The Supreme Courts of Appeal, viz.—the House of Lords, the Privy Council, Ireland, the Court of Appeal in Chancery, the Exchequer Chamber, and the High Court of Delegates.

PART II.

INTRODUCTORY AND EXPLANATORY REPORT.

THE Court of Queen's Bench in Ireland has, at the Crown side, a jurisdiction corresponding to the jurisdiction of the Court of Queen's Bench in England, and has also a jurisdiction peculiar to the Irish Court of fiatting the Presentments made by the Grand Jury of the County of Dublin for the expenditure of the local tax called county cess, and of fiatting the Presentments of the Town Council of the City of Dublin, so far as it exercises the powers formerly vested in the Grand Jury of the City of Dublin in respect of county cess.

COURT OF QUEEN'S BENCH.
(Crown Side).
(Table 1, p. 123).

In connexion with these fiscal powers the Court has jurisdiction with respect to the Traverses of Presentments and Claims for Malicious Injuries.

The Court has also a jurisdiction, peculiar to Ireland, in the case of Railway Traverses under the Railways (Ireland) Act, 1851 (14 & 15 Vic., c. 70).

The ordinary business at the Crown side of the Court of Queen's Bench as compared with the business in the preceding year, may be judged of by the following summary of the principal business :—

	1864.	1863.
Writs of Mandamus, application for,	5	9
Writs of Habeas Corpus, ditto,	14	12
Certiorari, Rules Nisi,	10	8
Information, Rules Nisi,	1	4
On Orders of Sessions and Special Cases,	—	—
Other Special Rules absolute,	65	82

In connexion with the moderate amount of business indicated by these figures, it is right to observe that the reforms introduced by Stat. 6 & 7 Vic., c. 20, in the practice of the Crown side of the Court of Queen's Bench in England, have not yet been extended to Ireland; and the power of framing rules, which the Judges of the Court of Queen's Bench in England have under the 16th section of that Statute, does not exist in Ireland.

The Court fees on the Crown side of the Court of Queen's Bench in Ireland, under Stat. 2 Wm. IV, c. 48, are higher than the corresponding Law Fund Duties at the Civil side of the Court, and than the fees on the corresponding proceedings on the Crown side of the Court of Queen's Bench in England.

In connexion with the absence in both years of any proceedings on Orders of Sessions and Special Cases, it is observable that the provisions of Stat. 12 & 13 Vic., c. 45, sec. 11, do not extend to Ireland, which enable an appeal from the Quarter Sessions to be stated in the form of a Special Case, and which enable the parties to agree that a Judgment in conformity with the decision of the Superior Court, and for such costs as that Court may adjudge, may be entered by either party at the next Sessions or at the next but one after the decision is given.

The business of the Crown side of the Court of Queen's Bench in Ireland, peculiar to the Irish Court, as compared with the business in the preceding year, is as follows :—

	1864.	1863.

Of the reduction of £10,071 in the Fiscal Presentments, £6,785 took place in those for the County of Dublin and £3,286 in those for the County of the City of Dublin.

There was a reduction in claims for Malicious Injuries from 31 to 11.

OF COMMON LAW.

Writ and Seal
Office.
(Table 5, p. 132).

The issue of Writs for the three superior Courts of Common Law from a Consolidated Writ and Seal Office was established in 1850 by the Process and Practice Act (Stat. 13 & 14 Vic., c. 18), and the Writs of Summons and Plaint are issued in rotation, 25 for each of the three Courts, under the provisions of the Irish Common Law Procedure Act, 1853, s. 15.

The plaintiff is by the provisions of the same Act prevented from issuing his writ until he has prepared his first pleading. As the summons and plaint corresponds to the English writ and declaration consolidated, the use of writs to the same extent as in England and Wales is thus prevented.

Writs.

The writs issued are compared with those in the preceding year in the following summary:—

WRITS.	1864.	1863.	Increase, 1864.	Decrease, 1864.
Summons and Plaint returnable to—
Queen's Bench,	5,248	5,571	—	323

Total,	16,895	17,858	—	963

Amount of Writs.

The amounts for which the writs were issued appears from the numbers of each class as follows:—

	1864.	1863.	Increase, 1864.	Decrease, 1864.
For sums not over £20,	5,381	5,457	—	76
Over £20 and not over £40,	3,807	4,390	—	583
Over £40 and not over £100,	3,749	3,931	—	182
Over £100,	2,594	2,585	9	—
Writs in which no sum specified,	217	308	—	91

These figures show a decrease in the number of writs as compared with the preceding year, especially in writs for sums between £20 and £40, which indicates a diminution in the pressure for debt.

Jurisdiction.

The jurisdiction of the three Superior Courts of Common Law corresponded very closely with the jurisdiction of the similar Courts in England from the introduction into Ireland of the Common Law of England in the reign of King John until the year 1828. Up to that year the differences in the practice and procedure between the Superior Courts of Common Law of the two countries were inconsiderable. But in the progress of law reform since then, various Acts to reform the practice and procedure having been passed for the two countries in different years, considerable differences have been introduced, which are fully detailed in the First Report of the English and Irish Law and Chancery Commission made in 1863.

Assimilation to the extent recommended by the Commissioners has not been made the subject of legislation, and the existence of numerous minute differences consequently creates an impediment in the way of any useful comparison of the Statistics of the corresponding Courts in the two countries.

The proceedings in the Superior Courts of Common Law in Ireland as compared with the preceding year are shown in the following summary :—

In Ireland there is not, as in England, a fifth Judge in each Court to sit out for Chamber Business. One of the four Judges consequently sits for each Court for ex-parte motions before the sitting of the Court in Banco. Out of term a puisne Judge sits in rotation to hear motions for the three Superior Courts of Common Law.

Proceedings before a single Judge.
(Tables Q. B. 6 ; C. P. 5 ; Ex. 4, pp. 125, 127, & 129).

The following table of business before a single Judge indicates little change between the two years, and shows a close approximation to equality of business in the three Superior Courts of Common Law, the object which the Act establishing the rotation of Writs was intended to produce. The number of Side Bar rules in the different Courts also indicates an equality of business in the three Courts.

SUPERIOR COURTS

The business before a single Judge, and in the Rules Office, as compared with the preceding year, may be judged of by the following summary:—

There appears from the preceding table to have been a considerable increase in the business before the full Court in Banco in the three Superior Courts of Common Law upon the amount of business in 1863.

Besides the business common to the three Superior Courts at the Plea side, they have each small branches of distinct business. Thus, the Court of Queen's Bench has the registration of Bills of Sale, under the Bills of Sale Act (17 & 18 Vic., c. 36); the Court of Common Pleas has the Acknowledgments of Deeds by Married Women, under the Irish Act for the Abolition of Fines and Recoveries (Stat. 4 & 5 Wm. IV., c. 92); and the Court of Exchequer has its ancient jurisdiction in Revenue cases, from which it derives its name.

The business in these matters as compared with the preceding year, is as follows :—

SPECIAL JURISDICTIONS OF QUEEN'S BENCH, COMMON PLEAS, AND EXCHEQUER.	1864.	1863.	Increase, 1864.	Decrease, 1864.

Revenue, &c.,
Cases.
(Tables Q. B. 5; C.
P. 4; Ex. 5,
pp. 124, 126, 129).

The great reduction in the number of Bills of Sale, as compared with the number in 1863, indicates a considerable diminution of the pressure of creditors; which is also indicated by the decrease in the number of writs issued, already noticed.

The number of acknowledgments by married women was greater than in 1863, as was also the number of special commissions granted to take their acknowledgments in the Colonies or abroad.

The rule recently adopted by the Court of Common Pleas in England, by which the signature of the Judge or Magistrate in the Colonies is received in evidence without proof, in like manner as at the Registry Offices, under Statute 16 & 17 Vic., c. 78, s. 6, has not yet been extended to Ireland.

In Revenue cases there is a remarkable decrease from 100 in 1863 to 40 in 1864.

There is in Ireland, as in England, an Office for the Registration of Judgments common to the three Superior Courts of Common Law. In England the Office is superintended by the Senior Master of the Court of Common Pleas. In Ireland there is a separate officer called the Registrar of Judgments.

Registration of

(Table 6, p. 132).

The number of judgments registered in the Registration of Judgments Office, as compared with the preceding year, is as follows :—

If the number of judgments registered be compared with the number entered up in the three Superior Courts of Common Law, it appears that, whilst 5,544 judgments were entered up, 4,272 were registered in the Registration of Judgments Office. When the Judgment Mortgage Act was passed it was expected by the framers of that Act that the amount of business in the Registration of Judgments Office would be diminished by its operation; but this expectation was founded upon the consideration of judgments only as charges on land, and the provisions of the Irish Bankruptcy Act of 1849, continued by the Act of 1857, requiring judgments to be registered within twenty-one days after being entered up, to secure priority in bankruptcy, were overlooked.

There is in Ireland one Common Law Taxing Office for the three Superior Courts, with two Taxing Officers.

In addition to the regular jurisdiction of the Consolidated Nisi Prius Court, the proceedings at which have been included in the summary already given of the Nisi Prius business of the three Superior Courts, it has an appeal jurisdiction from the Courts of the Recorder of the City of Dublin and of the Chairman of the County of Dublin.

SUPERIOR COURTS

The number of these appeals or rehearings in 1864 and 1863 was as follows :—

CIRCUIT BUSINESS.

Appeals, Traverses, and Claims for Malicious Injuries
(Table 11, p. 135).

The Nisi Prius proceedings on circuit have been included in the summaries of the business of the three Superior Courts.

In Ireland the Judges on circuit have several branches of jurisdiction not exercised by the Judges on circuit in England, viz., appeals of the nature of rehearings from the decisions of the Chairmen of Counties or Irish County Court Judges, and Recorders; the fiating of the presentments of the Grand Juries of the local tax in Ireland called Grand Jury Cess; the hearing of traverses and objections to presentments, and claims for malicious injuries, and also the hearing of railway traverses under the Irish Railway Act, 1851 (14 & 15 Vic., c. 70).

The following summary shows the proceedings under these heads :—

CIRCUIT BUSINESS.	1864.	1863.	Increase, 1864.	Decrease, 1864.
Appeals from Chairmen of Counties entered,	361	385	—	24
„ Recorders entered,	12	15 *	—	3
Traverses of Presentments,	60	136	—	76
Railway Traverses,	22	31	—	9
Claims for Malicious Injuries,	348	273	75	—
Objections to such claims,	59	58	1	—
Appeals against rejection of such claims, .	7	36	—	29

The traverses and claims for malicious injuries for the County and City of Dublin are disposed of by the Court of Queen's Bench, and have been already noticed.*

The increase of 75 in the number of claims for malicious injuries on circuit, over the number for 1863, more than counterbalances the reduction of 20 in the claims for malicious injuries in the County and City of Dublin.

The presentments fiated on circuit were 55,373 in number, and in the aggregate for the sum of £1,021,032 18s. 7½*d.* If the 523 presentments of the Grand Jury of the County of Dublin for £35,609 7s. 10*d.* be added, the total number of presentments by Grand Juries in Ireland amounts to 55,896, and the total amount of Grand Jury cess imposed in 1864 amounts to £1,056,642 6s. 5½*d.*

The presentments for the County of the City of Dublin are made by the Town Council of Dublin, and fiated partly before a Judge of the Queen's Bench, as already noticed,* and partly before the Recorder of Dublin. Those for the City of Cork are made by the Town Council of Cork, and are fiated before the Recorder of Cork, but no return of proceedings before the Recorders of either Dublin or Cork has been received for 1864.

The Courts of the Chairmen of Counties in Ireland correspond to the English County Courts, and have a much earlier origin, having been originally founded by an Act of the Irish Parliament (stat. 36 Geo. III., c. 25), so far back as 1796.

The returns received from these courts are not complete either for 1864 or 1863. The returns have generally been made by the Deputies of the Clerks of the Peace, these officers being allowed to discharge their duties by deputy. The very complete returns as to the County Courts in England are made by the Treasurers, additional officers to the Registrars, who correspond to the Clerks of the Peace in Ireland.

Total,	52,524	80,315	—	27,791	8,964	10,455	—	1,491

It appears from this summary that in thirty-one courts, including those for the two ridings of Cork, and in the courts of the three Recorders of Cork, Londonderry, and Galway, the number of decrees was 52,524, being 27,791 less than the number in 1863; and the number of dismisses was 8,964, being 1,491 less than the number in 1863.

The proceedings in the Courts of the Chairmen of Counties, under the “Tenure and Improvement of Land (Ireland) Act of 1860,” so far as returned in 1863, were 3 in number, viz., 1 claim for tenants' improvements, 1 for sanctioning an improvement lease, and 1 for sanctioning a building lease. In 1864 there were 3 cases returned, viz., 1 for sanctioning an improvement lease, and 2 for sanctioning a building lease. There was no case for tenants' improvements in 1864.

The Recorder of Dublin exercises a jurisdiction for the County of the City of Dublin similar to that of the Chairmen of Counties, and has also a jurisdiction of appeal from the Court of the Lord Mayor of the City of Dublin, and from the Court of Conscience in Dublin, but no return has been received as to the business before the Recorder of Dublin in 1864.

The returns as to executions consequent on proceedings before the Chairmen of Counties and Recorders are for 1864, as they were for 1863, very defective. Under the provisions of the “Civil Bill Courts Procedure Amendment Act, Ireland, 1864,” decrees are, after the 1st March, 1865, to be executed by the Sheriffs or their Bailiffs, so that satisfactory returns may be expected for future years.

The number of local courts in Ireland is very limited since the abolition of the manor courts in 1859 by Stat. 22 Vic., c. 14. The local courts still existing are the Lord Mayor's Court in Dublin, and the Courts of Conscience, where these jurisdictions were preserved by the Irish Municipal Corporation Reform Act in 1840. Returns have been received from six of these courts in both 1864 and 1863, and the following summary shows the comparative business in both years.

LOCAL COURTS.	Number of Sum- monses issued.		Increase, 1864.	Decrease, 1864.	Number of Causes heard.		Increase, 1864.	Decrease, 1864.

Wexford do.,	226	307	—	81	126	181	—	55

In addition to these there was a return from Limerick Court of Conscience for 1864, showing 2,211 summonses and 848 causes heard; and from Clonmel for 1863, showing 193 summonses and 142 causes heard.

HIGH COURT OF CHANCERY.

(Tables 1-13,
pp. 139-143.)

The High Court of Chancery in Ireland was founded so far back as the reign of King John, on the model of the Court of Chancery in England, and until the year 1828 the practice and procedure of the two courts were very similar.

The different measures of Chancery reform which have been introduced in recent years in the two countries have led to considerable differences in the practice and procedure in the two courts, which are fully detailed in the First Report of the English and Irish Law and Chancery Commission made in 1863.

In consequence of these differences it has been found necessary to frame forms of return suited to the Irish court, which differ considerably from the forms used in the English statistics.

Very complete returns have been received from the officers of the court.

Bills and Informations.

The great change introduced by the Irish Chancery Regulation Act of 1850 is shown by the entire absence of bills and informations in 1863, and by the fact of only one bill or information being filed in 1864.

Cause Petitions
under 15th section of Act of 1850.

This change is further shown by the number of cause petitions set down under the 15th section of the Act of 1850, which amounted to 354.

Business in Court before Lord Chancellor, Master of Rolls, and Masters.

The following summary gives a comparative view of the Court business in Chancery for the years 1864 and 1863 :—

COURT BUSINESS IN CHANCERY.	1864.	1863.	Increase, 1864.	Decrease, 1864.
BEFORE LORD CHANCELLOR.
General cause petitions heard,	153	159	—	6

Bills, informations, and special cases heard,	2	1	1	—

BEFORE MASTER OF THE ROLLS.
General cause petitions heard,	34	51	—	17
Petitions heard,	343	388	—	45
Orders made on motions without petitions,	687	770	—	83
Appeals from Masters' decisions set down,	25	15	10	—

Cause petitions under 15th section of the Irish Chancery Regulation Act, 1850, heard,	287	292	—	5
Total,	2,091	2,323	—	232

It appears from this summary that there was a decrease in the Court business, as compared with 1863, the only branch showing a considerable increase being appeals from the Masters, heard before the Master of the Rolls.

HIGH COURT OF CHANCERY.

The business in the office of the Registrars of the Court of Chancery, as distinguished from the court business, is shown for 1864 and 1863 by the following summary:—

Registrars' Office
(Table 1, p. 139).

REGISTRARS' OFFICE.	1864.	1863.	Increase, 1864.	Decrease, 1864.

The proceedings in the office of the Lord Chancellor's Secretary are shown by the following summary:—

Lord Chancellor's

(Table 2, p. 139).

LORD CHANCELLOR'S SECRETARY'S OFFICE.	1864.	1863.	Increase, 1864.	Decrease, 1864.

For hearing,	497	490	7	—
Total orders,	912	906	6	—
Warrants as to Magistrates' Commissions,	128	160	—	32

It appears from the above summary that there was a slight increase in the business in petitions and orders thereon, and a diminution in magistrates' warrants.

The return for 1864 contains some information with respect to minors not given in the return for 1863. It shows that the number of minor matters or families of minors under the protection of the court was 362, whilst the number of individual minors who are wards of court was 728.

In the office of the Secretary to the Master of the Rolls the number of petitions was 329, as compared with 388 in 1863, showing a decrease of 59.

Office of Secretary to Master of the Rolls,
Crown and Hanaper Office
(Table 3, p. 140).

In the Crown and Hanaper Office there was an increase in the proceedings from 899 in 1863 to 912 in 1864; in searches and certificates from 51 to 101; and in commissions appointing Masters Extraordinary from 1 to 15. There was also an increase in the number of commissions of lunacy from 4 to 7, and in the entering of rules and orders on foot of proceedings at the petty bag side of the court from 19 to 22. There was a large decrease in the number of commissions for the appointment or superseding of Justices of the Peace from 171 to 132, and in the number of dedimuses to swear in Justices of the Peace from 208 to 167.

HIGH COURT OF CHANCERY.Masters' Offices
(Table 4, p. 140).

The business in the offices of the Four Masters in Chancery, in addition to the hearing of cause petitions under the 15th section of the Irish Chancery Regulation Act of 1850, is indicated by the following summary :—

MASTERS' OFFICES.	Total.	Three Masters.	Receiver Master.
Charges,	482	475	7
Discharges,	400	379	21
Accounts passed in minor matters,	136	49	87
" " in lunacy matters,	66	50	16
" " by other Receivers,	427	156	271
Other accounts,	14	14	—
Orders on special motions,	229	166	63
Orders on motions of counsel,	1,043	929	114
Sales of estates under order of Court,	17	17	—
Statements of facts as to management of property,	293	132	161

The returns also show the number of summonses on references in minor matters, lunacy matters, general cause petitions, &c. As the returns do not seem to have been made on the same principle, a summary is not given of them, but it may be stated that they indicate a great amount of reference business in the Masters' Offices.

The effect of the Landed Estates Court in putting an end to sales under the Court of Chancery is shown by the small number of such sales returned, being only 17 in number.

The number of accounts of Receivers, other than in minor and lunacy matters, 427, notwithstanding the statutory restrictions on the appointment of Receivers, indicates that there is a large quantity of property still under the management of the Court of Chancery. This is further indicated by the 293 statements of facts as to the management of such property. The receipts in the accounts filed in the Court of Chancery amounted to £880,083 6s. 11d.

The operation of the rule, for some time in force, of referring receiver cases to the Receiver Master is shown by the number of accounts in his office, 374, as compared with 89, the average number in the offices of each of the other three Masters.

The fees collected in the Masters' offices amounted for the year ending 30th October, 1864, to £1,752 9s. 1d., but this does not include the Chancery Fund duties in lieu of fees, which are imposed chiefly on business in the Masters' offices, and the produce of which is carried to the Consolidated Fund.

Examiner's
Office
(Table 5, p. 140).

One of the differences of practice and procedure between the Courts of Chancery in Ireland and in England is the very small number of witnesses examined before the Examiner in Ireland. Thus, there were only 24 witnesses examined in 1863, and only 27 in 1864, and the fees amounted to only £36 9s. in the former year, and £52 4s. 2d. in the latter.

Companies
Winding-up Acts
(Table 6, p. 141).

Under the Joint Stock Companies Winding-up Acts there was, it appears, only one case in the Court, namely, the Tipperary Bank, which has been under the Act since 17th March, 1856. There is, in this case, £17,421 7s. 5d. available for distribution.

Rolls Office
(Table 7, p. 141).

In the Pleadings department of the Office of the Deputy Keeper of the Rolls the business, as compared with 1863, was as follows :—

ROLLS OFFICE—PLEADINGS DEPARTMENT.	1864.	1863.	Increase, 1864.	Decrease, 1864.

Interrogatories and answers thereto,	4	2	2	—
Amendments,	71	72	—	1
Suggestions,	23	20	3	—

It appears from this summary that there was a large decrease of business in 1864. In the Record department amongst the documents enrolled there were 151 disentailing deeds as compared with 161 in 1863.

In the office of the Clerk of Appearances and Writs the number of appearances entered was 594, as compared with 739 in 1863. The following are the numbers of the principal writs issued:—

There is a department of this office peculiar to the Irish Court of Chancery, called “The Notice Department,” through which all notices are served, instead of service being proved by affidavit. The number of persons served through this department was 21,573, and in 1863, 24,897, showing a decrease of 3,324.

In the Affidavit Office the number of affidavits filed was 5,175, as compared with 5,280 in 1863, being a decrease of 105.

Affidavit office
(Table 9, p. 141).

In the Recognizance Office the number of recognizances filed was 103, as compared with 132 in 1863, showing a diminution of 29, or 22 per cent.

Recognizance
Office
(Table 10, p. 142).
Chancery Taxing
Office
(Table 11, p. 142).

The returns as to taxation of costs in Chancery are more complete than for 1863, the return of the third Taxing Master having been obtained. The following is a summary of the business transacted:—

Number of orders and references,	1,340
Number of bills taxed,	1,682
Number of items,	204,661
Number of certificates,	1,682
£ s. d.
Amount of Chancery Fund on summons and certificate,	2,535 18 0
Amount of costs,	105,640 18 1

The jurisdiction in lunacy under the Queen’s Sign Manual has almost invariably been intrusted to the Lord Chancellor, or Keeper of the Great Seal in Ireland. The business to be transacted not being sufficient to support an entirely distinct department, it devolves, to a large extent, on the ordinary officers of the Court of Chancery, the references and passing of accounts being before one of the Masters in Chancery, and included in the business of the Masters already noticed.

Lunacy Office
(Table 12, p. 142).

The petitions again are lodged in the office of the Secretary of the Lord Chancellor, and are returned in the business of his office, whilst the inquisitions are issued from and returned to the Clerk of the Crown and Hanaper, and are included in the business of that office.

The jurisdiction was originally the same in Ireland and in England, but the new practice and procedure, introduced in England by the Lunacy Regulation Acts of 1853 and 1862, have not been extended to Ireland.

The number of orders for commissions of lunacy was 7 in 1864, and 6 in 1863, and the number of Lunatics under the care of the Court was 130 in 1864, and 128 in 1863.

In connexion with the small number of lunatics protected by the Court out of the entire number in Ireland, which may be estimated at 16,500,* the difference of jurisdiction between Ireland and England is to be borne in mind. A lunatic cannot be found so in Ireland except by inquisition at a considerable expense, to remunerate Commissioners, Jury, and Sheriff; whilst in England, under the Lunacy Regulation Act of 1853, the Lord Chancellor can dispense with a jury, and authorize a finding under the general commission of the Masters.

* There were in January, 1865, 553 lunatics paid for in private licensed houses, 4,729 in public asylums, 188 maintained by Government, 452 in gaols, and 2,563 in workhouses, making 8,485 publicly treated as insane. The police returns for 1862 estimate that there were besides 8,200 persons reputed insane at large, making in all 16,685.—Vide 14th Report on Lunatic Asylums, Ireland, 1865, p. 7.

HIGH COURT OF

Lunacy Office.

The chief business in the Lunacy office is as follows:—

LUNACY OFFICE.	1864.	1863.	Increase, 1864.	Decrease, 1864.

(Table 13, p. 143.)

The return of the Accountant-General shows the payments into the Court of Chancery during the year ended 1st October, and the balance on that day in the books of the office.

These figures indicate a large increase in the amount of property transferred to the Court of Chancery within the year.

LANDED ESTATES COURT.
(Table, p. 143.)

The Landed Estates Court possesses several jurisdictions peculiar to Ireland. The first of these is the selling of estates with a Parliamentary title, for which the Incumbered Estates Court was first established in 1849, for a limited time, and after several renewals of its jurisdiction, the perpetual jurisdiction of the Landed Estates Court was established in 1858.

The value and rental of the estates sold are indicated by the following summary:—

	1864.	1863.	Increase, 1864.
Amount of purchase-money,	£1,342,629	£1,278,361	£64,268
Net rental of estates sold,	£83,300	£69,151	£14,149
Number of sales,	344	296	48

The petitions for sales relate chiefly, as might be expected, to incumbered estates, the proportion being as follows:—

	Incumbered Estates.	Unincumbered.	Settled.
Petitions for sales, 1864,	429	43	1
„ „ 1863,	456	50	5
Decrease in 1864,	27	7	4

In the other branches of jurisdiction with respect to estates, the proceedings are as follows:—

LANDED ESTATES COURT.	Declaration of Title.	Partitions.	Exchanges.	Intermixed Lands.	Apportion- ments of Rent.
1864,	13	11	4	5	2
1863,	9	11	2	—	2
Increase in 1864,	4	—	2	5	—

Under the Tenure and Improvement of Land (Ireland) Act, 1860, the Landed Estates Court exercises two jurisdictions—1st. For sanctioning improvements by limited owners, and giving them a charge by way of annuity; and 2nd. For sanctioning building leases, and leases not within the exact terms of the act or settlement of the particular estate.

There were 4 building leases sanctioned in 1864, and 1 in 1863; and there were no orders charging estates for limited owners' improvements in 1864, and only 1 in 1863.

The jurisdiction of the Court of Probate is similar to that of the Court of Probate in England.

The following is a summary of the leading heads of business of the Court and Principal Registry :—

COURT OF PROBATE—PRINCIPAL REGISTRY.	1864.	1863.	Increase, 1864.	Decrease, 1864.
Administrations with wills annexed, and probates,	1,038	1,040	—	2
Administrations without wills,	599	607	—	8
Causes,	103	139	—	36
Trials by special jury,	18	14	4	—
Trials by common jury,	17	7	10	—

Total amount of fees received,	8,197	8,259	—	62
Total amount of taxed costs,	15,171	10,210	4,961	—

In the District Registries of the Court of Probate the chief business in 1864 and 1863 was as follows :—

COURT OF PROBATE—DISTRICT REGISTRIES.	1864.	1863.	Increase, 1864.	Decrease, 1864.
Granted in Common Form :
Probates,	819	796	23	—

Granted under direction of Judge :
Probates,	4	1	3	—

Total Amount of Fees received,	4,970 5 11	4,480 10 9	489 15 2	—

It appears from these summaries that the 1,637 probates and administrations granted in the Principal Registry, when added to the 1,465 granted in the District Registries, give a total of 3,102, showing an increase of 46 on the entire number granted in 1863. The number of causes in court (103) shows a decrease of 36 on the preceding year, whilst the number of causes tried (48) shows an increase of 11.

The Accountant-General of the Court of Chancery in Ireland is also Accountant-General of the Court of Probate. It appears, however, that there was only 1 account open on the 1st October, 1864, and only £223 8s. 2d. stock, to the credit of the account.

It appears that whilst there was a slight falling off in the Probates and Administrations granted in the Court and Principal Registry in Dublin, it was more than counter-balanced by a considerable increase in the number granted in the District Registries.

ECCLESIASTICAL COURTS.

The Ecclesiastical Courts and Registries (Ireland) Act, 1864 (27 & 28 Vic. c. 54), had not come into operation within the period included in the returns for these Courts.

After that Statute has come into operation there will be only 12 United Diocesan Courts instead of the 27 included in the returns. The new Courts will be—

Armagh and Clogher.
Dublin, Glendalough, and Kildare.
Meath.
Derry and Raphoe.
Down and Connor and Dromore.
Kilmore, Elphin, and Ardagh.

Tuam, Killala, and Achonry.
Killaloe, Clonfert, Kilmacduagh, and Kilfenora.
Ossory, Ferns, and Leighlin.
Waterford, Lismore, Cashel, and Emly.
Cork, Cloyne, and Ross.
Limerick, Ardfert, and Aghadoe.

By that Act great changes are introduced in the practice and procedure of the Ecclesiastical Courts.

Jurisdiction in Causes other than Matrimonial
(Table 1, p. 144).

The entire business in causes other than divorce and matrimonial causes, of the 2 Metropolitan Courts, 27 Consistorial Courts, and one exempt jurisdiction, was as follows:

ECCLESIASTICAL JURISDICTION IN OTHER THAN MATRIMONIAL CAUSES.	1864.	1863.	Increase, 1864.	Decrease, 1864.
Suits in Matters of :
Dilapidations,	7	6	1	—
Offertory Alms, &c.,	—	1	—	1
Pew Rights,	—	2	—	2
Sequestration for Debt,	7	17	—	10
Total,	14	26	—	12
Suits for Faculties :
Altering, Restoring, or Rebuilding Churches, &c.,	31	31	—	—
For Consecration of Cemetery,	3	1	2	—
For removing a Body,	2	6	—	4
For other objects,	2	—	2	—
Total,	38	38	—	—
Total Amount of Court Fees,	£166	£185	—	£19

The amount of business under these heads appears very small. It is right, however, to notice that in the 2 Courts of Arches and 28 Diocesan Consistory Courts in England and Wales in 1863, the number of suits (exclusive of Faculties) was only 22, and the number of suits for Faculties only 82, and the fees only £300.

Divorce jurisdiction
(Table 2, p. 145).

In Ireland there is no Temporal Court for divorce cases as in England. The Ecclesiastical Courts still retain a jurisdiction in divorce and matrimonial causes similar to the jurisdiction in England and Wales before the establishment of the Divorce Court. The number of divorce and matrimonial causes in all the Ecclesiastical Courts was 5 in 1864, and 5 with 2 appeals in 1863.

HIGH COURT OF ADMIRALTY.

The history of the High Court of Admiralty in Ireland is given in the Report of the High Court of Admiralty in Ireland Commission, made in 1864.

It appears that "the jurisdiction of the Court of Admiralty had its origin in Ireland as in England, in the authority of the Admiral, of whom the Judge was the deputy." There were distinct Admirals for Ireland as early as 1414.

The present constitution of the High Court of Admiralty in Ireland depends upon an Act of the Irish Parliament, passed in the Session 1783-84 (23 & 24 Geo. III., c. 14), and upon the 8th Article of the Union (39 & 40 Geo. III., c. 67.)

Up to 1829 the jurisdiction of the Court of Admiralty in Ireland and in England in civil and maritime causes was in all essential respects the same; but the reforms introduced into England by various Acts since that time have not been extended to Ireland.

Returns were made by the Registrar and Marshal as to the business of the Court in 1863, and published in the Judicial Statistics for 1863. No return has been made by the Registrar and Marshal of the business in 1864, but the forms of return required from these officers are given. An account of the business for five years ended 31st December, 1863, is given in the Report of the Commission already referred to.

HIGH COURT OF ADMIRALTY.
(Forms of Return,
pp. 145, 146).

The jurisdiction in Bankruptcy and Insolvency in Ireland is different from the jurisdiction in England, being regulated by the Irish Bankrupt and Insolvent Act, 1857, passed prior to the Bankruptcy Act of 1861, for England and Wales.

BANKRUPTCY AND INSOLVENCY.

The proceedings in Bankruptcy and in Insolvency are shown by the following summaries:—

Insolvency
(Table 2, p. 147).

It appears from these summaries that the number of petitions for adjudication was 180, being 31 less than in 1863; the number of trader-debtor summonses was 134, being 28 less than in 1863; and the number of petitions in Insolvency was 650, being 159 less than in 1863.

The Taxation of Costs in Bankruptcy and in Insolvency was as follows:—

TAXATION OF COSTS.	Amount as furnished.	Deductions on Taxation.	Amount as certified.

The Accountant-General of the Court of Chancery in Ireland was appointed Accountant-General in Bankruptcy and Insolvency under the Irish Bankrupt and Insolvent Act, 1857 (Stat. 20 & 21 Vic., c. 60, s. 407). But it appears by his returns for 1863 and 1864 that in neither year was any account open, nor were any funds of the Suitors of the Court standing to his credit.

BANKRUPTCY AND

There was standing to the credit of the Chief Clerk in Insolvency the following sums, as appears from his return :—

	Cash.			Stock.

(Form of Return,
p. 147).

The return from the Chief Registrar showing the state of Bankruptcies, Arrangement Cases, and Insolvencies, in the charge of each Official Assignee, has not been made for 1864. The return under this head for 1863 was only an abstract of the very voluminous returns which are made under the provisions of the Bankruptcy Act, 1857, s. 68, and the form required of the Registrar is given.

If the statutory forms of return required to be made by the Official Assignees were simplified, an abstract of the business could be included in the Judicial Statistics in future years.

The Chief Registrar in Bankruptcy has furnished a return showing the number of cases in Bankruptcy under arrangement and in Insolvency which were wound up in 1864.

(Table 4, p. 148).

The following summary shows the contrast between the statistics on this subject for 1864 and 1863 :—

BANKRUPTCIES, ARRANGEMENT CASES, AND INSOLVENCIES FINALLY WOUND UP.	1864.	1863.	Increase, 1864.	Decrease, 1864.

SUPREME COURTS OF APPEAL.

House of Lords
(Table 1, p. 148).

Returns have been received from the different Supreme Courts of Appeal.

There were no appeals from the Exchequer Chamber in Ireland presented to the House of Lords in either 1863 or 1864. Two appeals stood over from 1863, one of these was withdrawn, and in the other the decision of the Exchequer Chamber in 1863 was affirmed; and there was no appeal pending from the Exchequer Chamber on the 31st December, 1864.

From the Court of Chancery in Ireland 4 appeals were presented in 1863, and 4 in 1864. One decision was reversed with declaration in 1863, and 2 were in part reversed in 1864, and 5 cases are returned as remaining for hearing at the end of 1864.

Privy Council,
Ireland
(Table 2, p. 148).

The Privy Council in Ireland has original jurisdiction in some cases under the Church Temporalities Act, and also to hear applications for the prohibition of burials in grounds where their continuance is alleged to be injurious. It has appellate jurisdiction in cases of tithe composition, and of improvement or dilapidation of ecclesiastical residences. The return shows no appeal before the Privy Council in 1864 or in 1863.

The proceedings of the Chancery Appeal Court in 1864 and 1863 are shown in the following table :—

SUPREME COURTS
OF APPEAL.

Chancery Appeal
Court
(Table 3, p. 148).

In the Court of Error Exchequer Chamber the number of errors and notices of appeal lodged was 11, nearly equally from the three Courts, viz. :—3 from the Queen's Bench, 4 from the Common Pleas, and 4 from the Exchequer. There were 5 remanets at the end of 1863, which were increased to 8 remanets in 1864, so that only 8 cases were disposed of. Of these, in 3 cases the decision of the Court below was affirmed, in 3 it was reversed, in 1 case a venire de novo was awarded, and 1 case was struck out.

Exchequer
Chamber
(Table 4, p. 149).

The proceedings in the Exchequer Chamber upon registry appeals under the Irish Parliamentary Voters' Act, 13 & 14 Vic., c. 69, were as follows:—

In the High Court of Delegates appeals from the Ecclesiastical Courts and from the High Court of Admiralty are heard.

High Court of Delegates
(Table 6, p. 149).

The 3 appeals entered were all from the High Court of Admiralty, and of these 1 was dismissed for want of prosecution, 1 was affirmed, and 1 was reversed.

The following is a summary of some of the principal results of the Irish Judicial Statistics for 1864:—

CONCLUSION.

1. There was a very moderate amount of business at the Crown side of the Court of Queen's Bench, but the reforms introduced by Stat. 6 & 7 Vic., c. 20, in the practice of the Crown side of the Court of Queen's Bench in England have not yet been extended to Ireland, the power of framing rules which the Judges of the Court of Queen's Bench in England have under that statute does not exist in Ireland, and the Fees on the Crown side of the Court in Ireland are higher than the corresponding Fees in England.

Queen's Bench
Crown side
(Rep. p. 99).

2. The number of claims for malicious injuries in the County and City of Dublin before the Court of Queen's Bench was 11, being 20 less than in 1863.

3. In the Superior Courts of Common Law, the number of writs issued was 16,895, being 963 less than in 1863; and the number of executions was 5,325, being 538 less than in 1863.

Superior Courts of Common Law
(Rep. p. 100).

4. The number of case judgments was 4,327, exceeding the number in 1863 by 132; whilst the number of cognovit judgments was 1,217, being 244 less than in 1863.

5. The entire amount recovered on judgments was as follows:—£31,679 on postea, £265,636 on judgment by default, and £526,319 on cognovit judgments.

6. There was a considerable increase of business as compared with 1863 before the full Court in Banco in the three Superior Courts of Common Law. The business before a single Judge and the number of side bar rules shows an equality of business in the three Courts, and indicates little change between the years 1863 and 1864.

7. The bills of sale registered were 357, being 135 less than in 1863. The acknowledgments of deeds by married women filed were 515 being 17 more than in 1863; and the revenue cases were 40, being 60 less than in 1863.

8. The number of judgments registered was 4,272, being 732 less than in 1863; the number of recognizances registered was 83, being 50 less than in 1863; and the number of Crown bonds was only 13, being 107 less than in 1863.

9. The number of bills of costs certified in the Common Law Taxing Office was 2,336, the amount claimed was £61,322 15s., and the amount allowed was £47,734 19s. 4d.

10. The causes for trial at Nisi Prius were 973, distributed as follows:—366 on Circuit, 156 in the Consolidated Nisi Prius Court, 102 in the Queen's Bench, 154 in the Common Pleas, 150 in the Exchequer, and 45 before extra Judges at After-sittings.

Circuit Business
(Rep. p. 106).

11. The number of appeals from Chairmen of Counties and Recorders entered for hearing on circuit was 373; and the traverses of presentments were 60 in number, being 76 less than in 1863.

12. The claims for malicious injuries on circuit were 348 in number, being an increase of 75 on the number of such claims for 1863, more than counterbalancing the reduction of 20 already noticed in the number of claims in the County and City of Dublin.

13. The number of presentments filed on circuit was 55,373, and the amount presented was £1,021,032 18s. 7½d., making with the presentments in the County of Dublin a total of 55,896 presentments, and the total cess levied by Grand Juries in the year £1,056,642.

Court of Chairmen of Counties and Recorders—Ibid.

14. In 31 Courts of Chairmen of Counties, including those for the two Ridings of Cork and in the Courts of the three Recorders of Cork, Londonderry, and Galway, there were 52,524 decrees, being 27,791 less than in 1863; and 8,964 dismisses, being 1,491 less than in 1863.

15. Under the "Tenure and Improvement of Land (Ireland) Act, 1860." there were returned only 3 cases in the Courts of the Chairmen of Counties, viz.:—1 for sanctioning an improvement lease, and 2 for sanctioning a building lease, and no case for tenants' improvements.

16. There is no return of the business before the Recorder of Dublin for 1864.

17. The returns as to Civil Bill executions are defective, but a new system has come into operation since the 1st March, 1865, under the "Civil Bill Courts Procedure Amendment Act, 1864," which will facilitate the collection of statistics in future years.

Local Courts
(Rep. p. 108).

18. The local Courts in Ireland are few in number since the abolition of the manor Courts. The returns show an increase of business in the Lord Mayor's Court at Dublin, and in the Court of Conscience at Drogheda, whilst there has been a diminution of business in the Courts of Conscience at Dublin, Kilkenny, Londonderry, and Wexford. A return was made for the first time from the Limerick Court of Conscience, and one was received from Clonmel in 1863 but none in 1864.

Chancery—Ibid.

19. There was a decrease in the Court business in Chancery as compared with 1863. In the business before the Lord Chancellor 153 general cause petitions were heard, being 6 less than in 1863; the orders made on motions without petitions were 133, being 18 less, and the cause petitions (15th section) set down were 354, being 69 less than in 1863. In the business before the Master of the Rolls the general cause petitions heard were 34, being 17 less; the petitions heard were 343, being 45 less; and the orders made on motions were 687, being 83 less than in 1863. The appeals from Masters' decisions were 25, and in contrast with the decrease on other heads showed an increase of 10. The general cause petitions heard before the four Masters were 287, showing a decrease of only 5.

20. The number of petitions lodged with the Lord Chancellor's Secretary were 928, and with the Master of the Rolls' Secretary 329, the former showing an increase of 5, and the latter a decrease of 59 upon the numbers in 1863.

CONCLUSION.

High Court of Chancery—con.

21. The number of accounts filed in the Office of the Registrars of the Court of Chancery were 571, being 62 less than in 1863; and the receipts upon such accounts were £880,083, being £68,523 more than in the accounts filed in 1863.

22. In the Crown and Hanaper Office there were 22 proceedings at the petty-bag side of the Court, and 167 dedimus to swear in Justices of the Peace.

23. In the Masters' Offices the accounts passed were 643 in number—136 in minor matters, 66 in lunacy matters, 427 other receivers, and 14 other accounts. Of these accounts 374 were passed before the Receiver-Master, and 269 before the other three Masters. There were 293 statements of facts as to the management of property, whilst the number of sales under order of the Court was only 17.

24. There were 24 witnesses examined before the Examiner in Chancery.

25. There was only 1 case under the Joint Stock Companies Winding-up Acts.

26. Amongst the deeds enrolled in the Rolls Office there were 151 disentailing deeds.

27. In the Writ and Appearance Office 594 appearances were entered, and 21,573 persons served.

28. In the Recognizance Office there were 103 recognizances filed.
